A GESTURE OF FRIENDSHIP.

THE GOOD WILL, fait of some 75 of the business men and women of San Bernardino to Las Vegas last Saturday, was one of the most pleasing gestures of friendship Las Vegas has enjoyed recently.

The San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce party came to see for themselves what the present Las Vegas is like and what its future has to offer. Needless to say they were high in their praise for Las Vegas and staunch in their faith for its future.

But the most significant thing in the whole event was the mutual feeling of common interest between San Bernardino and Las Vegas. The two cities are somewhat similar in their natural resources. Both are parts of an inland empire, the interests and resources of which are not in entire harmony with those of the coast cities.

A feeling which has long been entertained in the minds of some, and which enlarged and intensified by our meetings with the good will party, is that closer business relations between the two cities would be of great benefit to both.

San Bernardino is expanding her financial, industrial and commercial enterprises. She seeks business support from Las Vegas in proportion as she is and in the future shall encourage and support Las Vegas enterprises.

There is no reason why, in point of service especially, the San Bernardino commercial houses cannot excel those of Los Angeles. It is worth while, we believe, for the business houses of Las Vegas to seek alliances with those of San Bernardino and thus assist in building up a community which is in close sympathy with us.

PLEASANT PARTY.

THE VISIT of the San Bernardino crowd Saturday made a pleasant event for Las Vegas.

Many of the visitors were old friends of some of us and there were numerous enjoyable reunions during the day.

It was a pleasant party, all too brief, but fully appreciated by the Las Vegas people. We invite you to come again soon, San Bernardino.

A NUTTY NATION.

THE WORLD SERIES begins today and we may properly assume that the whole nation will be nutty for the next week.

And, who knows, it may do a lot of good if people get their minds off their own troubles for a while.

MORE SIDEWALKS.

CEMENT SIDEWALKS form a comparatively cheap improvement which adds many times its cost to the value of property. This can be verified by thinking back over the sidewalk improvement of the past 20 years and noticing where property has been in greatest demand.

Fifth Street is one of the many streets which would profit much just now by sidewalking. The improvement could easily be brought about if some of the owners of abutting property will take the lead.

HOOVER AND MacDONALD.

HERBERT HOOVER and J. Ramsay MacDonald are both characters rather in contrast to the type of statesmen whom we read in history.

Both are commonplace and matter of fact in dealing with situations. Both have a way of stripping problems of the superfluous trimmings which so often obscure the real issues. Both are honest and sincere in their purpose.

It is not surprising then, that the two, heads of the two great English speaking nations of the world, seek the quiet of the mountains, talk things over for a few hours and bring the two governments into a harmonious agreement which promises a great step toward world peace.

It is probable that there are not two other heads of nations in the world who could accomplish what they have done without long drawn-out conferences attended by a multitude of officials and long controversies over unessential details.

The visit of Premier MacDonald to President Hoover is an event which will live in history as one of the turning points of civilization.

WORTHLESS MONEY.

WE SOMETIMES wonder just how far wealth has a value and at what point it ceases to be a blessing and becomes a curse. It depends of course on the strength of character of individuals.

Some men are able to retain their integrity, self respect and good name after becoming the possessors of millions. Others, and there are multitudes of this class, cannot stand prosperity, but are ruined by a few hundreds or a few thousands of dollars.

Take the Pantages cases, for example. What good is their thirty-five million dollar fortune to them just now. We venture to say that they would willingly sacrifice every dollar they have in the world could they go back a few years to the time before too much money brought them trouble and dishonor.

Las Vegas Musicians Are Forming Union

Las Vegas musicians have organized for formation of a union, having made application by sending for a charter from the American Federation of Labor.

There are now seventeen names on the pledge list, and twelve more have signified their interest in joining, according to Jazz Morrison, who was named temporary president at the first meeting of the group.

The teamsters and chauffeurs, who made application several weeks ago for a charter, expect to receive their A. F. of L. membership certificate in the near future.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Ryland Taylor was honored with a very delightful reception Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Ham. Mrs. Taylor has just recently arrived from Tonopah to make her home in Las Vegas, her husband being the new member in the firm of attorneys under the name of Ham & Taylor. Mrs. Ham was assisted in receiving her guests by Mesdames J. F. Heise, P. R. Milden, R. W. Martin, H. L. Blandine, F. W. Crain, C. E. Pembroke, J. W. Minette, J. B. Lightfoot and M. M. Minette. The ladies who called during the afternoon were: Mesdames O. K. Adeock, Harry Anderson, C. D. Brezce, Chas. Ball, Henrietta Brockman, Leo Bartell, Jake Beckley, Will Beckley, O. C. Bogas, C. C. Bover, W. R. Bracken, A. E. Cahlan, Margaret Conner, Earl Davison, Frances DeVinner, Charles Dimock, M. W. Davis, F. M. Ferguson, W. E. Ferron, F. Gusewelle, A. C. Grant, E. W. Griffith, Robt. Griffith, V. G. Ham, Harley A. Harmon, C. J. Hammond, A. S. Henderson, C. L. Horsey, A. A. Hummer, J. M. Heaton, O. A. Kimball, S. I. Lawson, H. P. Marble, Harry Miller, Richard Miller, W. E. Mundy, Isabella McChrystal, Leo McNamee, E. G. McGriff, Frank Newlin, W. E. Orr, J. S. Park, W. S. Park, — Parks, Harve Perry, Leo Roth, Blanche Reynolds, C. C. Romner, C. L. Rowley, J. D. Smith, W. N. Schuyler, Frank Stevens, C. P. Squires, R. Thomas, M. E. Ward, J. I. Walters, C. S. Wengert, Dave White, O. Wales, and Misses Frazier and McAllen. Later the honor guests and her husband, the ladies of the receiving line and their husbands were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ham at a delightful dinner at Mrs. Watts' dining room.

Mrs. John T. Walters, Mrs. R. B. Peche, Mrs. C. L. Dimock and Mrs. Dave White are planning a bridge luncheon for Thursday evening. The affair will be at the Union Pacific dining room.

Mrs. C. P. Ball is entertaining the members of the Inter Se club at luncheon today.

County Board Will Meet Tomorrow

The county commissioners will meet tomorrow. It has been announced. Matters pertaining to out of the city school districts will be taken up, among other things, it is predicted.

Mr. Jones, manager of the Tonopah Penny Store, was in this city Saturday enroute to Las Angeles.

New School District Opened Near Pioche

A new school district was established Saturday in Lincoln county at Connet by Miss Amy Hanson, deputy state superintendent of schools, who spent several days there late last week attending meetings of the county commissioners in the interests of the school district.

There will be about a dozen pupils in the new school, which will be opened some time next week, according to Miss Hanson.

The community is supported by a new mine which recently has started flourishing there. Miss Hanson returned from Pioche Sunday.

Shipping Mishap Is Disappointing

A missent shipment of flowers caused previous disappointment to Mrs. Potthoff, manager of the Las Vegas Florist in the Tower Market.

She had sent a special order for flowers to supply her orders for the numerous opening day events here last Saturday. The flowers were started all right, but took the train to Las Vegas, New Mexico, instead of Nevada.

Disappointed, but not defeated, Mrs. Potthoff Saturday morning scoured the country to secure enough brilliant blossoms to meet the demands and the floral displays turned out very creditable after all.

And the wonder of it all was that there were so many flowers to be found locally.

Council Collecting Paving Cost Data

Price estimates for various types of paving work will be before the city commissioners when they meet again Thursday to continue discussion of the new paving district.

No definite action has taken at the last meeting because of lack of complete data, and the desire of many property owners in the district for a different grade of pavement from that recently installed has prompted the investigation of other types more similar to that on Fremont Street.

Buhanans Absent Temporarily in L. A.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Buchanan are leaving for Los Angeles today on account of the illness of Mrs. Buchanan.

Dr. and Mrs. Short are taking over the Buchanan Res. home while they are gone.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

Eleven "veterans" of other world series in that they have been eligible for participation although not all have played will be active or inactive members of the cast of the 1929 show. The Cubs have seven, and the Athletics four.

Eddie Collins, the veteran of veterans, has been in 34 games in six series, four with the Athletics and two with the White Sox, but his part in this one will not be impressive from a playing standpoint.

The other Athletics with world series "experience" are George Burns, who played for Cleveland; Jack Quinn, Yankee pitcher; and Mule Haas, who sat on the Pittsburgh bench. Only Haas is certain to go to bat at Chicago, and Philadelphia.

Arthur Nehf, Cub left-hander who probably will not start a game in this series, has been in ten world series games while wearing the uniform of the New York Giants. Hack Wilson played in seven games for the same club. Kiki Cuyler went the same distance for the Pirates and Rogers Hornsby was in seven games for the St. Louis Cardinals. Norman McMillan played briefly for the Yankees while Mike Cavenor performed even briefer service for the Pirates. Mike Gonzalez was eligible for service as a Giant but was not called on to do any catching.

Tom Zachary, an old man in baseball at 32, struck a great blow for the dignity of the elder statesmen in the game when he turned in 12 consecutive pitching victories for the Yankees without the stigma of defeat becoming attached to his pitching record.

Zachary comes from North Carolina where they sing of Tar Heels, Ben and Tar Heels Bred, and when they die they are Tar Heels dead. He was a sensation as a pitcher at Guilford College, a Quaker institution with many traditions. He entered the army for service in the world war on leaving college and pitched two games for the Philadelphia Athletics under the name of Zack Walton, winning both, during leaves of absence from camp. Officially his first professional engagement was with Washington where he did yeoman service for six years, before being traded to St. Louis. The Browns asked waivers on his services in 1927 and he seemed about to slip to the minors at Washington said "no" just in time to get him back. Washington however, decided to dispense with its services to a minor league club in 1928 but when waivers were asked he Yankees stepped in to claim him and he reported August 23, in time to lead a still crafty left arm of the champions in the hectic closing days of the race.

Just before the world series opened last year, Zachary was asked how he felt. "Oh," he replied, "I'm as good as I ever was. Not that that's saying much." It was enough for him to win a game from the St. Louis Cardinals a few days later.

Zach's departure for the minors seems a long way off, if at all, pitchers who win 12 games without suffering defeat are not being sent away from the American league, no this year.
