Bunkerville and Overton Plan Speedball Game

By J. DONAL EARLE

OVERTON, Nov. 6.—Coach S. P. Fish of the local high school is setting his speedball charges through their paces in anticipation of the coming contest next Friday with Virgin. This will be the initial athletic contest of the season played between the two traditional rivals. The game will be played on the home court Friday and a return game will be played at Bunkerville Armistice Day, Monday. It is not known definitely as yet which positions each man will play but Lloyd Mills, Keith Perkins, Lewis Conger, Clyde Perkins, J. Donald Earle, Hagan Lyon, Delbert Tobiasson, Wesley Cooper, Bruce Lyman, Morris Perkins and John Lytle will probably start the game.

They soundly trounced the seconds Monday by rolling up a score of 10-2. The first string line changed positions Tuesday and scored another 10 points and held their opponents scoreless.

A pep rally will be held in the gym Friday to insure a victory in the contest. The band under the direction of Prof. A. E. Johnson will be out doing their best to forward victory.

A group of scouts and scout leaders under the direction of Grant B. Snow will spend the week-end in Zion Canyon attending a scout leadership convention.

The sophomores are putting forth all their best efforts to make their annual sophomore hop to be given the coming Friday evening a huge success. Unique decoration and refreshments will feature the event. Cake and hot chocolate will be served for refreshments. All are cordially invited to attend.

ON THE SIDELINES

By BRIAN BELL

When major league baseball clubs assemble at their spring training camps in 1930, seven new managers will be in command. Several of them are experienced leaders of major league outfits, simply changing clubs and in some cases league as well.

Jewel Ens, the Pittsburgh manager, finished the 1929 season in charge of the Pirates, but he was only a coach at the start of the season.

Bill McKeechie, the new chief of the Boston Braves, will try to lead his third National league club out of the wilderness. He won pennants for Pittsburgh and St. Louis. He will find the task more difficult at Boston, but has four years in which to complete the effort.

Donnie Bush has changed leagues as well as clubs, going back to the American, where he played for Detroit and managed Washington. Chicago White Sox fans have received the little fellow with enthusiasm.

Bill Killefer, another two-league man although he did not manage a club in the National but had the chance, has been promoted from coach to the driver's seat and at least one other assistant may be given full authority.

Clubs which will have new managers are: National—Braves, Cardinals, Reds, Pirates, American—Yankees, White Sox, Browns.

Connie Mack and Philadelphia Athletics are synonymous terms. Walter Johnson will try again at Washington. Stanley Harris is established at Detroit and Roger Peckinpaugh at Cleveland and Bill Carrigan may remain as long as he wishes at Boston.

John J. McGraw to the Giants stands in almost the same position as that occupied by Mack at Philadelphia. Joe McCarthy has no worries at Chicago. Bert Shotton is the idol of the Phillies and there seems no way to get Wilbert Robinson out of Brooklyn.

Fifty per cent of the directors do not like "Uncle Robbie" but the others are for him and in the meantime he is the president and manager, until a successor is named.

In spite of a long drawn out season, which was uninteresting to the point of dullness at the close of the baseball year, little red ink will be used in posting the clubs' books at the close of the year.

Sunday baseball helped the Boston. The Phillies had a great year and the Cardinals drew well in spite of their fall from their high baseball estate. The Cards made a record for attendance for two series of the road. Cincinnati was a loser but the Reds are now under new management and have fresh money in the treasury.

Trade winds may blow briskly during the winter. At the world series, managers and presidents conferred frequently, dropping hints here and there, to be recalled later when the baseball bosses are back in their offices.

The annual minor league meeting, to be held this year at Chattanooga, will give an opportunity to add more fuel to the flame and something should happen when the two leagues gather in winter session.

NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By DEMING SEYMOUR

NEW YORK — Gloria Swanson is at the Plaza.

In the parlor of her second floor suite is commotion and confusion. Half a dozen interviewers of both sexes sit around, smoking and sipping tea or ginger ale. A caricaturist leans against a bookcase making deft lines in pencil on his drawing pad whenever Miss Swanson pauses for a moment in her hastenings from room to room.

The parlor is in the disorder that results from having people trooping in and out all day. The doorbell and two telephones are ringing. Miss Swanson rises from the deep down cushions of the red divan to go into an adjoining room and answer a telephone call from Los Angeles.

A bell boy brings in another tray of bottled ginger ale, and slices the bottles onto a table already laden with a vase of dahlias, opened boxes of nuts and chocolates, several phonograph records, the evening papers, a tray of cookies and pastry.

Parlor Bedlam

Gloria, having talked to Los Angeles, comes back to her interviewers.

"Something artistic?" says she, picking up the conversation where she dropped it. "If I had all the money in the world I might experiment, but—well, why don't you do something artistic instead of writing for a newspaper?"

The maid interrupts again—Buffalo calling on the phone in the other room. Miss Swanson is gone again.

One of the reporters sits, with a bored look, in the window seat, munching cookies and looking out at the swans in Central Park lake. Miss Swanson returns only to be summoned once more to the phone.

"Yes, Jeanne," she says, "I'm taking an apartment on Sixty-third street next week for a few days so I can rest, and when I heard that my old cook was in town I thought maybe you would come over and cook for me."

The interviewers again—"Yes, the picture will open in New York about October 20. It did get a fine reception in England—I was very happy. Yes, I made several phonograph records, before I sailed, of songs I

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. G. G. Walter and Mr. and Mrs. Weiking and daughter, left Wednesday morning for their home in Oakland. It is expected Mrs. Walter is contemplating returning in the near future to be with Mr. Walter, who is engaged in government work here.

Charles Wolcott, who has been here for the several weeks past making necessary plans for opening of a bungalow court, left yesterday for Los Angeles, where he is associated with his father in business. He will return in the near future, he stated.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lawson arrived in Las Vegas Tuesday night after having visited for a week with their son, Allyn Lawson, in Reno.

Her secretary puts a record on the phonograph. Miss Swanson is again wanted on the telephone. Some of the interviewers leave, and some more arrive.

Is this the life of ease a motion picture actress leads?

Merry-Go-Round

Gloria Swanson is at the Plaza. The phonograph company wants to know which of the records she made are her first choices. Mr. V. calling Can she attend a dinner party Thursday evening? Miss Q., the movie columnist, wants a private interview tomorrow morning—will 10 o'clock do? Los Angeles on the phone again can she be in Buffalo September 30? When can you discuss that plot with me, Miss Swanson?

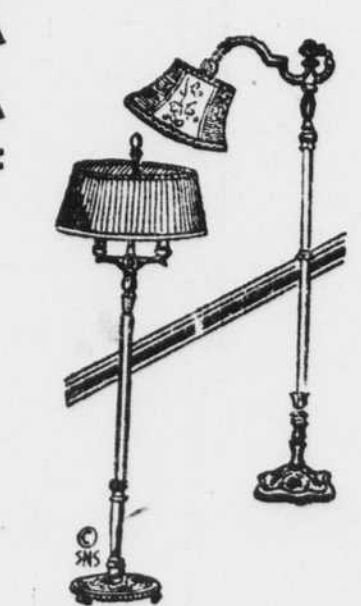

Her time is, for a few days, New York's. The press to be pleased. Business and social callers to be greeted. No time now to think of the husband in Paris whom she isn't likely to see again for six months, or the two children in Beverly Hills whom she hasn't seen now since July.

"I was asking, Miss Swanson,"—the interviewer again—"whether you have ever thought of doing something artistic?"
