

Shaw Shows Deference to Prince Of Wales, Is Misunderstood, Hissed

Overton Juniors Win Race Trophy

By J. Donal Earl

OVERTON, Nov. 29.—The junior class was the proud receiver of the turkey offered to the class from which the winning contestant came in the cross country run when Morris Perkins jogged the 2½ mile stretch in close to 12 minutes to lead the field of 11 starters in the first annual cross country staged in the high school last Wednesday afternoon.

Morris copped fifth place in the cross country run at Dixie last year and was the only one who had had actual experience in this event. He took an early lead in the race and kept it throughout. He was followed closely by Theron Stevens, sophomore; Glen Allsop, frosh; and Ferris Bunker, frosh. Medals will be presented to the winners in this prize classic.

The Harvest Ball held in the gym Thanksgiving night was a huge success. The largest crowd for many a night was in attendance. The fete was under the direction of the M-Men and Junior Girl classes of the Overton Ward Mutual Improvement association. Many people from out of town who came to enjoy Thanksgiving dinners in the valley were in attendance.

LONDON, Nov. 29. (U.P.)—George Bernard Shaw did a rare thing last night. He admitted that he had met a more important person than himself.

But for all of the noted critic's attempts to be deferential to the Prince of Wales, he received only the hisses of an audience which misconstrued his motive.

The incident occurred during a charity boxing tournament. One of the tourney's sponsors, spotting Shaw in the audience, went to his side and asked him to present the prizes to the winners.

Shaw showed no willingness to accept the offer. Three members of the Prince of Wales' party apparently had joined in the request and while Shaw expostulated, the Prince cast several glances in the direction of the critic.

Shaw then refused emphatically, and the audience centered its attention on him. They saw the Prince looking anxiously toward the gathering around Shaw and drew their own conclusion—that Shaw had refused to meet the heir to Britain's throne. The hissing began and grew steadily in volume.

The arrival of a substitute finally detracted attention from the audience, and the show continued. Shaw later explained his action to newspapermen. He said:

"As the Prince was present it was hardly correct for me to present the prizes. Besides, the boxers wanted to receive the prizes from the Prince."

Thanksgiving Program Given Rotary Meeting

Program in Charge of Harry Blanding.—Rotary Golf Trophy Given by Dr. Park Won by Walt Houck.

Las Vegas Rotary club enjoyed a Thanksgiving program yesterday afternoon, the meeting having been set over from Thursday to Friday so as not to interfere with the turkey dinners.

As a preliminary to the regular program, the president, Dr. Park, presented the golf trophy to Walter Houck, winner of the tournament. The trophy is a handsome one surmounted by a statuette of a famous golf player in position at the end of a drive. The base is engraved on one side:

Pres. W. S. Park
For Annual Competition
Handicap Medal Play
On the reverse side is engraved:

1929—Walt Houck.
The trophy will become the property of any members of the club winning it two years in succession.

Harry Blanding was program chairman of the day and presented a program in which Miss Shirley sang several delightful numbers and Rev. C. S. Reynolds of the Methodist church gave an address in which he showed that all service clubs are based upon the principles and organization of the Christian religion promulgated 2000 years ago.
