CHICAGO, Dec. 2. (U.R)-Like a Chief Spikes Rumor cat tired of playing with a tempting mouse, winter finally clamped ts icy paw on the Middle West tonight, and threatened to keep it here for the rest of the week. Succeeding cold waves for the past several days brought death and notice today by Pres. Sam Creadon suffering, only to pass on in whirl; of the St. Louis Cardinals of his of snow. This newest of cold waves. intention to exercise an option to nowever, came forth from the froz- renew his lease on Sportsmen's cy streets or snow banked roads. Hunters in the Michigan woods suffered severe hardships, and it was feared a party of nine, reporte missing on a launch on the Taquaenenau river near Sault Ste. Marie had perished. The storm there had been so severe searching parties

More than 20 automobiles filled with hunters were stalled by 15 foot snow drifts at Eckerman, Mich. Relief workers toiled in cities taking fuel and clothing to families on the point of freezing in tenements, while police stations and rescue centers were crowded with homeless men and women.

Storm warning were sent to all points on the Great Lakes, where blizzards had been raging for day; in many areas. Only a few craft braved the waves, and those without the protection of cargo insurance. Regular insurance on lake cargoes expired yesterday.

The Rocky mountain region dur out from under the thirteenth and during November, or nearly one for heavies, snowfall of the season. The storm was general through-Mexico, with snow a foot deep in three commercial buildings and for Washington.

Highways leading out of Denver were blocked by huge snowdrifts.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Dec. 2. (U.P.)-A succession of gales and snowstorms off the coast of Newfoundland lett a known toll of live dead today, with several schooners overdue and unreported. Five men who set out in a pilot boat to place pilot aboard a steamer lying off the narrows from here, were drowned when their craft overturned. The steamer Hofenstein accomplished two rescues during the height of the storm. The first was that of the crew of the schooner K., bound for Westville, which lost its canvas and was sinking 180 miles east of St. Johns.

Later, the Hofelstein rescued the rew of nine men from the schooner Catherine B., 150 miles east of here. Three other schooners were overdue and had not reported for 24 Marine authorities feared garage, $200. the gale might have caused several more disasters with additional loss
