

How's to Sleep in Police Station?

How's Chances for a Job? Gimme a Cigarette?

About That Time Chief Has Say

"What's chances of sleeping in a police station tonight?"

"Well, we don't allow anyone to sleep in the station. Sometimes we lock 'em up in jail for the night."

The visitor hesitates.

"Well,—" he steps inside and sets his satchel on the floor—"Right now in candidatin' around for a job."

"Well, we don't allow anyone to sleep in the station. Sometimes we lock 'em up in jail for the night."

"That'll be better'n freezin' out-side. How's for a cigaret, Chief?"

The chief looked at him in a frankly perplexed manner. "Would he? There was some doubt—"

He did. The guest accepted the cigaret and, having lighted it, hesitated a bit and then asked:

"How's to leave my satchel and coat here while I go out and look for a job?" He was removing the coat.

Here evidently was the chief's turn to hesitate. With a shrug he quizzed pointedly:

"Besides a hotel and an employment bureau and a confectionery and a checking station, what else do you want here?"

"Well, if it's going to be too much trouble, —"

Eight "vags" were put up in the city jail Sunday night.

Man Is Nabbed On Embezzlement Count After Twelve Years

HONOLULU, T. H. Dec. 2 (AP)—Accused by J. R. Bingham of Temple, as he was leaving the liner Acranal after docking here, A. B. Crouch, alias John Grey, was arrested today on a charge of embezzling $160,000 in 1917.

Bingham said he would leave here Saturday for Los Angeles with his prisoner, who had lived in New Zealand for eleven years. He will go direct to Texas, where legal proceedings against Crouch will start.

Burglars Drink Pop, But Leave Payment

LAMEST, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—Burglars who staged four robberies in this city apparently have a sense of humor.

After breaking into the safe of a local bottling company, where they found nothing, the yegmen, said down to enjoy a bottle of "pop" manufactured by the company. When the manager opened the place in the morning he found a lone nickel—left for him in payment for the drink.

What this country needs is some method of increasing the price of everything without adding to the cost of living.

Here is the cannery vessel "Otsego," formerly the German raider "Prinz Eitel Frederick," said to have sunk the first American ship in the World War, the "William P. Frye," in January, 1915. The car in the foreground is one of the new Chevrolet Sixes, which carried a party of motorists to the vessel, whose home port is Seattle. Inset is a photograph of the engine room of the "Otsego."

Bodies of Six Miners, Caught in Explosion, Are Lifted From Shaft

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Dec. 2 (AP)—The bodies of six coal miners were muffled today to the risk thousands daily face in their task of supplying the nation with fuel.

Fifteen other miners who were at work in the mine escaped injury.

At dusk yesterday the six lifeless forms were lifted from the shaft of Old Ben mine No. 8, near here, where at 2:30 a. m. an explosion in a worked off section brought their death.

The body of another miner still was in the mine today, and searching parties continued efforts today to locate it.

The dead: Dewey Baker, 28. Henry Isaacs, 45. E. E. Breadon, 40. Vetro Gerdmitt, 35. Thomas McDermott, mine examiner, 60.

James Tabor, night foreman, was said by officials to have been killed, although searching parties had been unable to recover his body at an early hour today.

Cause of the explosion was reported due to a coal gas pocket.

Mead Prepares To Build Dam

It is my belief that the proper office of the United States ends with the construction of dams and incidental structures for primarily federal purposes only, such as navigation control, flood relief, reclamation, etc.; leaving it to municipal or private initiative to develop and market the power under lease of rights to the falling water.

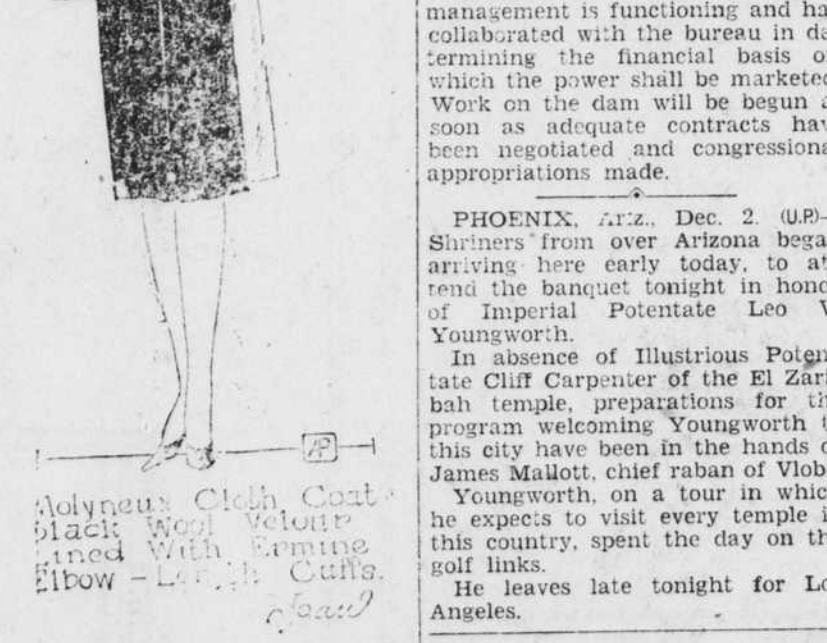

That policy is being followed in working out the many problems attendant on Boulder dam. Under the direction of the commissioner of reclamation, Doctor Mead, engineering plans are progressing in a satisfactory manner, with the assistance of an augmented field force. An advisory group of experts on electrical engineering and plant management is functioning and has collaborated with the bureau in determining the financial basis on which the power shall be marketed. Work on the dam will be begun as soon as adequate contracts have been negotiated and congressional appropriations made.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP)—Shiners from over Arizona began arriving here early today, to attend the banquet tonight in honor of Imperial Potentate Leo V. Youngworth.

In absence of illustrious Potentate Cliff Carpenter of the El Zari-bah temple, preparations for the program welcoming Youngworth to this city have been in the hands of James Malott, chief raban of Vloba.

Youngworth, on a tour in which he expects to visit every temple in this country, spent the day on the golf links.

He leaves late tonight for Los Angeles.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

Regardless of the performance, or lack of it by the Army varsity, the most decided upset in football has been put on by the Plebe team at the Point. The Army first year team of 1928 did not win a game. The 1929 outfit did not lose one. Each had one tie in the otherwise perfect record.

Games won and lost give no positive suggestion of the class of players to be expected when they begin to come eligible for varsity competition, and some good prospects on this year's Army squad were on the ill-fated team of last year, but nevertheless, Major Ralph Sasse, who will succeed Captain Lawrence Jones as coach, can look with more confidence to his replacements than was the case with "Biff" this season.

The undefeated Plebes uncovered a great backfield and it seems reasonable to suppose that the entire quartet may move in a body into the Army "A" squad next season. In Elliott Kilday, Fields and Letzelter the young men four years away from a commission in the army had a starwar crew.

The Army varsity of 1929 found the going extremely hard but with the good young plebes coming up to lend a hand and the youngsters of the 1929 regular team more ex-

Shellfish That Jump Are Seen

BREMEN, Wash., Dec. 2 (AP)—Jumping shellfish, "like a flock of butterflies," were among the submarine marvels seen by Charles W. Huddins, deep sea diver, while searching for the motor of an airplane that dived into Puget sound.

Patches of kelp growing like sagebrush sea cucumbers, yard long, devil fish, goodecks and horse clams also were seen.

The shellfish, he related, "were in great beds on the bottom and when I approached they rose to a height of from 15 to 20 feet by rapidly opening and closing their shells. They were like a flock of butterflies, they were so thick. Their shells were thin and beautifully marked, a delicate pink in color.

The sea cucumbers, in reality a sea animal similar to a slug, also presented a queer picture.

"Then there are devilfish, some of them 15 or more feet from tip to tip." He saw the eyes of two of the creatures in time to avoid them as they hid in bunches of kelp.

"The foot cod, with heads like hammers, followed me around like puppies. They have a great curiosity."

Huddins is as familiar with harbor bottoms as most people are with the main streets of their towns. He first went down when he had 14, on the coast of Maine. He also operated off the Aleutian islands in Alaska and to the Mexican coast at the south.

Statement by Florence Donely; Cooperation of Members Is Sought by Worker

With an invitation to all Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce members to attend the weekly luncheon on the chamber this noon, and to be acquainted with their new secretary, Florence Donely, who took over her duties yesterday with the local organization.

Mrs. Donely came to Las Vegas last August from Los Angeles, and she announced yesterday she plans to make Las Vegas her permanent home.

For the last eight summers she has attended summer school at Stanford, where the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the California State Association of Commercial Secretaries, conducts courses for chamber of commerce secretaries. Organizations from the eleven western states send their secretaries there to study, according to Mrs. Donely.

"The new secretary has a son, 22 in commerce work in Los Angeles. The remainder of her 'family' six states, consists of her mother and nephew, the latter being a freshman at U. C. L. A.

Mrs. Donely issued the following statement:

Riding Academy Is Opened Here

The Western Aiding Academy was opened here Sunday by C. O. Brand and Robert Symington.

The academy is located on the road to Lorenzi's resort, half a mile from North Main street.

The proprietors have procured the services of Carl Miller, riding instructor and lessons will be given, by appointment, in western riding.

Mr. Miller has been here since the Boulder dam rodeo, held here last July, at which he broke his leg while riding.

According to Mr. Brand, pack trips to Griffith's resort, Charleston mountains and the Boulder dam site will frequently be organized for moonlight rides. These trips will be under the direction of experienced guides. It is planned to stay open day and night, every day in the week, and there will be an attendant on duty at all times.

The horses kept by the academy are well broken and gentle and are especially suitable for the inexperienced person who is learning to ride, it is stated.

Train-Auto Crash To Be Investigated

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2 (AP)—An investigation into the crash between an automobile and a Santa Fe passenger train near Norwalk, in which six college students were killed, will be held tomorrow.

The party had been celebrating at the Baker ranch near Santa Fe Springs after the U. S. G. Washington State football game and were returning home early Sunday when the accident occurred. The car was driven by Charles E. Rike, 23, and it is believed he attempted to beat the speeding train to the crossing. Struck squarely by the locomotive, the automobile was cut in two and sent crashing into a signal post.

The dead, besides Rike, were W. J. De Ford, 23; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. McCann, Seattle, on their honeymoon; Mrs. Audna Shoemaker, Day, 23, and Arlene Herr, 21.

Mrs. McCann was formerly Mary Louise Field, University of Washington student. She married McCann only a few days ago.

Says He Was Framed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2—Investigation of charges by James W. Barbee, Long Beach attorney, that he was "framed" by police and arrested in a hotel room Saturday night with Margie Cummings, 22, a police informer, probably will be made by the county grand jury tomorrow.

NEVADA FARM PRODUCTS ARE EXHIBITED IN S. S.

Prize products of Nevada Agriculture displayed at the recent San Francisco national convention. The favorable comment and inquiries, according to members of the Nevada pyramid, which arranged for the installation of the exhibit.

Apples, potatoes, onions, honey wheat, and pinenuts comprised the display, which was viewed by thousands of visitors at the convention. Potatoes from this state brought the most inquiries.

Installed by M. R. Miller, of the staff of the Nevada agricultural experiment station, the display was in charge of E. H. Walker, manager of the Reno chamber of commerce. Descriptive booklets on Nevada's resources were distributed at the booth.
