

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

By MRS. AGNES LYNE
A LESSON FROM SAMOA

Margaret Mead, writing of the education of native children on the island of Samoa, gives a description of family life which should be interesting to all parents.

The children of Samoa are brought up in intimate contact with a large indefinite family group, consisting not only father and mother and many brothers and sisters, but also grandmothers, aunts, uncles and innumerable cousins as well.

As the Samoan baby is even old enough to walk he is given over to be cared for by an older brother or sister.

More than 100 nurses are six months old. It is their duty to keep the babies safe and out of mischief and to hush their crying.

If the babies disturb their elders it is the nurse who takes the brunt of the punishment. The babies are kept quiet largely through bribes and indulgence and they would probably become very badly spoiled if it were not for the fact that as soon as they are old enough they in turn become the nurses of the family's current babies.

So every Samoan child gets his turn of freedom and indulgence, of discipline and responsibility while he is subjected to the influence of no violent emotional attachments for any one individual.

His educators are many and he suffers from no difficulty in leaving his childhood behind him.

Samoa's technique of child care no doubt leaves much to be desired, but embodies certain essentials for all children everywhere, and should give food for thought.

Radio Audience Sees Three Faces In Broadcast of Sight-Sound Play

Cast of the sight-sound drama broadcast by WMAQ and its television station, W9XAP, to reduce unwanted noise. The cast shows Irene Wicker.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (AP) — Studio technicians have discovered that they like engineers, face a whole new set of problems and difficulties in the development of television.

The production of a play before the microphones of WMAQ and the phototeleviser eye of its companion television station W9XAP proved to studio workers that production of a sight-sound drama is more, much more, than merely pointing a television camera at some actors and starting transmission.

Matters of costume and make-up, the proper lighting of the studio to obtain a clear image, and elimination of all unwanted sound must be perfected, it was quickly discovered.

Three figures were televised in "The Maker of Dreams," but lighting and coloring defects frequently blurred details. Closeups were the best features, but here, too, eyes, hair and dark shades in costumes were obstacles to clear vision.

The Chicago Daily News received comments from about 100 owners of television sets. It was estimated that in all 2,000 persons at 500 receivers watched the broadcast-televised drama.

Sound extraneous to the drama was eliminated by clothing the actors, Irene Wicker, Douglas Hope and Vinton Haworth, in soft cotton garments. Hope and Haworth were in socking feet, and Miss Wicker wore light sandals.

No watches were permitted in the studio, and all were cautioned by Haworth to breathe slowly. So sensitive was the microphone used that it picked up the click of a door lock 20 feet away.

Faces of the actors were made up in a heavy white and gray, with lips and eyes outlined in reddish-brown. The costumes were brown and white.

To switch from long to close shots, engineers of W9XAP designed a relay system operated by remote control from three different locations, one of which was at the side of the bank of phototeleviser cells at the closeup position.

Paint lines in the images, at first puzzling to the studio technicians, were finally classed as disturbances from another station operating upon the same wavelength, but using a scanning system different from that of W9XAP.

Carolina Woman LOST 47 LBS.

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1930.

"P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that last 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Las Vegas Pharmacy and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

YOUR BRAIN and YOUR HEALTH

By DR. LELAND B. ALFORD HEADACHES

"I am writing you for advice. I have been reading your articles and thought you might help me.

"Here's my problem: My age is twenty-one. Since I was nine years old I have been having severe headaches every two weeks.

"The headache seems to start at the base of my skull on the right side and extends upward to my right temple and eye. With the headache I become ill and vomit.

"The headache lasts 18 or 20 hours, but the effects last longer."

This is a very good description of migraine or the familiar sick headache.

Migraine is assuredly one of the most puzzling of disorders. The source of the pain is unknown. One theory is that it is due to spasm of blood vessels in the head and another that it is an affection of nerve cells.

As to treatment, in no other condition is detailed attention to the general health more fruitful. Fresh air, exercise, regular living, hours of sleep must be considered. The diet should be easily digestible, often largely vegetable. Water in liberal amounts is desirable.

Migrainous individuals are high strung and excitable. They should avoid excitement, overwork and strains. Eyes, teeth and tonsils should be examined.

In the way of medicines morphine should be avoided. Tonics sometimes help. Bromides and salicylates are recommended. Some physicians believe that nitroglycerine in small doses taken over long periods is one of the best remedies, and I myself have had good results with it. All medicines must be taken under guidance of a physician.

Dream of Pigtail Days Comes True As U. S. Claims Tallulah Bankhead

Tallulah Bankhead, London stage favorite, at the age of five (left) when she had first decided she would become an actress, and as she appears now on her return to America to go into the talkies.

JASPER, Ala., Jan. 21. (AP) — A fiery blond miss, with pigtails flying, rushed in unceremoniously to announce that she was going to be an actress.

Tallulah Bankhead was speaking—the same young woman who has just returned from London stardom to make her first talking picture.

But there was no applause at this "personal appearance" of nearly 20 years ago. Her audience consisted only of her grandparents, the late United States Senator and Mrs. John Hollis Bankhead, and an aunt with whom she spent most of her childhood. They disapproved thoroughly of her announcement.

That little lass with a turned-up nose was certain, though, that a career lay before her. For months she had practiced to bow gracefully. With that accomplished she was ready for the road to stardom.

With a cousin who shared her ambition Tallulah continued to "play-act." After the bow came dancing. "When they became weary they sat over imaginary cups of tea and discussed their 'careers'."

This mining community, however, was not given to dramatics, its theatricals being confined to the annual senior play at the high school. Her first opportunity to study came when she was sent to a Washington convent.

The "brass" Senator Bankhead, her uncle, chuckles when he recalls how Tallulah began her career.

The family had put its foot down on her stage plans, but she was a jump ahead of them. She sent a photograph to a movie magazine sponsoring a beauty contest.

"Tallulah was 16," the senator said, "when the opportunity came in 1912."

"She had been selected as the winner, but alas—she had failed to send her address with the photograph."

"So she did not learn of her good fortune until she saw her picture in the magazine on a Washington newsstand. All her 'stage presence' vanished as she rushed home to break the news."

There was a storm of protest, but it was finally agreed that an aunt of the late Mrs. Arthur G. Lund, would chaperon her. And thus began a career which brought to her the greatest honors that the London stage offers.

Miss Bankhead's mother died when Tallulah was three weeks ago. The actress has just turned 20.
