

HOUSE RALLIES BEHIND HOOVER RELIEF PLANS, REJECTING SENATE ACTS

Senator Robinson Issues Relief Program Threat—Former Gov. Hagerman Charged With Selling Indian Land Leases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—The house rallied behind the administration and rejected, one after another, five proposals for the government to give $25,000,000 to the needy while the senate Democrats issued a six point relief program which they threatened to carry into an extra session after March 4 if necessary.

Four of the house proposals were modifications of the original senate provision to appropriate $25,000,000 for the American Red Cross use and were designed to meet objections raised after that agency had refused to administer the fund.

Democratic Leader Robinson, Arkansas, announced the relief program as follows:

Twenty-five million for relief; $15,000,000 for food loans; $3,000,000 for medical supplies; 20,000,000 bushels of the farm board's wheat for the hungry; $5,000,000 for organization of relief corporations, and reappropriation of $2,500,000 for flood relief in the southern states. All six are now pending in some form. Three are attached to appropriations bills which must be passed before March 4 if an extra session is to be avoided. In making his announcement Robinson said: "This statement is made in order that it may be well understood that the provisions referred to or acceptable substitutes therefor represent a minimum of emergency measures which in the opinion of advocates are required by existing conditions in order to avoid the necessity for an extra session of congress."

"It is not intended to prevent presentation of or insistence upon other measures."

While the house was debating relief, the senate passed the war department supply bill carrying authority to distribute twenty million bushels of the farm board wheat to the hungry.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada arrived in Washington to visit President Hoover and the Canadian legation. Hoover said he and Bennett had no formal matters under discussion.

The charge was made and emphatically denied before the senate Indian committee that Herbert Hagerman, former territorial governor of New Mexico, as an Indian commissioner in 1923, had favored interests alleged to be in intimate relations with him in disposing of Navajo Indian oil leases, at a hearing on elimination of Hagerman's salary from the interior department appropriation bill.

An accusation made recently by Senator Frazier, North Dakota, that some leases sold by Hagerman for a thousand dollars were later resold for a quarter of a million was repeated by John Collier, secretary of the American Indian Defense association. When Collier added in the allegation that purchasers were on intimate relations with Hagerman, the latter rose in vigorous protest, saying Collier made an "imputation on my honesty that I cannot stand for."

ENGLISHMAN WINS OVER KALAMAZOO

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Jack Kid Berg of England won by an impressive margin over Herman Peerlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., in a ten round bout here tonight. The fight was featured by a great deal of whirlwind action but also by an almost complete lack of solid punching.

BOULDER CITY MEASURE IS REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—The house public lands committee today reported favorably to the house the Arentz bill providing for establishment of a town site, to be known as Boulder City, at the Hoover Dam.

The measure authorizes leasing of lands there, the proceeds to be used for improvements to the city, such as water works, schools, sidewalks, streets and a public auditorium.

New Camera Exposes Farm Insect Pests

J. G. Pratt, photographer for the federal bureau of entomology, here is shown with his new camera. His processes enable him to take pictures that expose detailed activity of insects. His camera photographed the rice weevil shown at left.

By FRANK I. WELLER (Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—A new camera requiring only a few seconds' exposure has brought to light a ruthless, cruel and cunning insect world in which even the most beautiful rose may house a hundred horrors.

The process, developed by J. G. Pratt, a photographer for the bureau of entomology, does not involve photomicrography which long has been in use in making enlarged photographs directly from the microscope.

It utilizes reflected light as in ordinary photography, the lighting device being so powerful that even with extreme magnifications only a few seconds' exposure is required.

It has been possible for years to make effective photographs of small objects up to 15 or more times their natural size by the use of long bellows and special lenses.

Much greater enlargement than this, however, has resulted in distortion, loss of detail and has required very long exposures.

On this account small objects which have required considerable magnification for study and illustration purposes have been drawn largely by artists using binoculars or other microscopes.

By reason of improvements made by Pratt this tedious procedure no longer is necessary.

He has made it possible to photograph such small insects as grain weevils and aphids up to 60 diameters without distortion or loss of detail.

The camera is particularly effective in making photographs of such microscopic objects as the eggs of insects, pollen and spores which can be photographed satisfactorily up to 300 diameters.

So much faster than older processes, the new camera can record the activity of living insects.

Photographic studies of the invisible insect world usually have been made with dead objects.

The rice weevil, crawling before the lens, has been photographed in the marital vigor that made him a nuisance as early as 196 B. C. and against which carbon disulphide, alone of 300 chemical repellents, has had any effect.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Will Beckley was hostess to members of the Auction Bridge club and a few guests at luncheon Wednesday afternoon. Prizes for high scores were won by Mrs. R. W. Martin and Mrs. A. W. Ham. Those present were Mesdames Jake Beckley, W. N. Schuyler, R. W. Martin, J. H. Lightfoot, C. E. Pembroke, O. W. Yates, W. R. Bracken, J. M. Heaton, W. R. Young, H. J. Brennan, C. L. Dimock, J. T. Watters, A. W. Ham, C. C. Rinnow and Harry Anderson.

The luncheon given by Mrs. S. J. Lawson Tuesday afternoon was a most delightful one. Pink sweet peas and dainty place cards formed the decorations at the small tables. Prizes were awarded Mrs. W. R. Bracken and Mrs. Still.

Guests included Mesdames W. R. Bracken, F. R. Mildren, A. W. Ham, J. T. Watters, O. C. Boggs, W. E. Ferron, R. W. Martin, still, Leo Ruth, J. H. Lightfoot, O. W. Yates, C. C. Boyer, W. N. Schuyler, Will Beckley, E. W. Cragin and Leo A. McNamee.

Mrs. W. N. Schuyler will entertain this afternoon with a bridge luncheon honoring Mrs. N. E. Williams of San Dimas.

Mrs. A. E. Cahlan was hostess to members of the Girls' Letter club Thursday evening. The evening was enjoyed with games, after which supper was served.

Fear Is Felt For English Princess

LONDON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Considerable anxiety was felt today for Princess Beatrice, aunt of King George and mother of the queen of Spain, who is ill at Kensington palace.

The princess held a brief conversation with the queen of Spain, who came from Madrid to be with her mother, last night. The cheering effect of the queen's arrival was mentioned in the night doctors' bulletin.

last ring bout here gave the plunging Williams a lead time of it.

Two other bouts round out the program.

The closing of the local Legion boxing management agency marked bouts for future shows is a little uncertain when one considers that great championship bouts between negro and white boxers have been staged in Nevada. Battling Nelson and Joe Gans fought forty-five rounds at Goldfield for the lightweight championship of the world in 1906; Jack Johnson and Jim Jeffries battled for the heavyweight championship of the world at Reno in 1910; Young Jack Thompson later to become welterweight champion of the world fought Frankie Flaxen ten rounds at Reno in 1924.

In all states of the union, where boxing is legalized and under supervision of boxing commissions, mixed bouts are permissible.

O'HANIGAN & STINSON TO TANGLE

Bitterly Fought Ten Rounds Predicted For Wednesday

One of the most bitterly hard fought middleweight ten round bouts of recent months is promised in the Wildman O'Hanigan-Benny Stinson battle which will be presented in the Legion stadium next Wednesday night. Recently they fought to a ten round draw at San Bernardino which was acclaimed by the Orange city boxing fans as one of the best ring bouts presented there in many moons.

The draw decision after the San Bernardino go was violently protested by both Stinson and O'Hanigan followers, each side claiming to have won the affair. This probably proves that the melee was a perfectly even contest—if you are acquainted with your boxers and managers.

AIMEE GOING TO INDIA TO ASSIST WOMEN IN DISOBEDIENCE CAMPAIGN

Noted Evangelist Discovered at Honolulu on Her Way to Study the Women's Movement in Gandhi Revolution

HONOLULU, Jan. 30. (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, noted Los Angeles evangelist, is en route to India where she intends to study the women's movement in connection with the disobedience campaign recently led by Mahatma Gandhi, she told the United Press here tonight.

Mrs. McPherson arrived here today on the liner President Wilson and sailed tonight on the same vessel for Hongkong.

She was found traveling under the name of "Mrs. Grant," and had intended to keep her plans secret for a time longer.

The evangelist said she hoped she could be of some assistance to the women of India.

"I will not enter their movement politically but religiously," she explained.

"I want to be in on the ground floor and get close to the women of India."

Mrs. McPherson said to be suffering a nervous breakdown, remained quiet during the voyage, although Roberta, her daughter, danced en route without revealing her identity.

Mrs. McPherson appeared to be thin and ill compared with her appearance several years ago which might account for the failure of friends passengers to recognize her.
