By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
LAMB PATTIES FOR DINNER

- Lamb Patties, Broiled
- Creamed Potatoes
- Buttered Green Beans
- Bread Plum Jelly
- Apricot Salad
- Rhubarb Pudding
- Coffee

- Lamb Patties (Serving 6)
  - 1 1/2 pound ground lamb shoulder
  - 1 teaspoon chopped onions
  - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon paprika
  - 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
  - 6 strips bacon
- Mix lamb and seasonings. Shape into cakes 2-3 inch thick. Pasten in place with toothpicks. Broil 20 minutes and turn to allow even cooking.

- Apricot Salad
- 1 package orange gelatin mixture
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup apricot juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 cup canned apricots
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Pour water over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool and add rest of the ingredients. Mix well. Pour to thickness of 1 1/2 inches in shallow pan. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold and cut in squares. Serve on lettuce and surround with creamy dressing.

- Creamy Dressing
- 3 egg yolks
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 tablespoons sour cream

Beat yolks and add dry ingredients. Add vinegar and water. Cook in double boiler until creamy. Stir frequently. Add cream, beat and chill.

- Rhubarb Pudding
- 4 cups diced rhubarb
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix rhubarb and cup of sugar and pour into bottom of buttered baking dish. Mix rest of ingredients and beat two minutes. Pour over rhubarb. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Turn upside down. Serve warm or cold.

It is still possible to live as cheaply as our ancestors lived. All you have to do is go to the mountain country, get yourself a one or two-room cabin, and heat it with an old iron stove or a fireplace, eat salt meat in the winter and vegetables grown in the backyard in the summer. Of course you can't have an automobile or a radio, or even a bathtub, but neither could your ancestors.

Aimee To Build Temple in China

SHANGHAI, China, April 2. (AP)—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, California evangelist and the exponent of the "four square gospel," has decided to build a temple for her followers here.

Until the arrival of Mrs. McPherson for a brief visit recently it was not generally known that there was a Four Square Gospel church in Shanghai. But while she was here Mrs. McPherson appeared before her followers and they decided to support her plan for a tabernacle in Shanghai seating 2,000 persons.

Although she said she was suffering from a nervous breakdown Mrs. McPherson found time to conduct negotiations for the purchase of a site. The present Four Square Gospel church is capable of seating but 300.

It was in China that Mrs. McPherson, with her late first husband, Robert Semple, began her missionary work which later led to her spectacular evangelistic career.

N. Y. Woman Lost 14 Pounds of Fat

ONE 85 CENT BOTTLE OF KRUSCHEN SALTS DID IT

"I am starting on my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and am real pleased with results. I take it for reducing and so far have lost 14 pounds and I think it is doing wonders for me. I do not feel so tired evenings when I get home from work."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Las Vegas Pharmacy or any drugstore in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat.

Before the bottle is empty surplus fat is leaving you—indolence changes to activity—you'll feel younger—eyes will brighten—step grows spry. Millions know this—you ought to know it. Kruschen Salts is the ideal treatment for constipation, indigestion, headaches, nervousness and acidity.

Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it—if not, joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. Adv.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

By RONALD W. WAGGONER (United Press Staff Correspondent) HOLLYWOOD, April 2. (AP)—Story conferences have been story conferences ever since the first movie studio came to Hollywood, but every once in a while one crops up of more than usual interest.

The movie public generally is aware that the board of censors, a rather intangible body that frightens the producers and the directors, recently decreed that cuts in the animated cartoons should be entirely removed from the dairy business.

The pen and ink boys, who draw Mickey Mouse, Oswald the Rabbit, and the other talking cartoon characters, were in a very sad state of mind for some time afterward.

Walter Lantz, creator of Oswald, called a story conference to determine just what steps should be taken. Hundreds of sketches were submitted and paper littered the floor.

Finally Lantz hit upon an idea. He sketched Madame Cow in a Mother Hubbard frock. Her part in the picture was to run down a railroad track.

But Bossy found difficulty running in a Mother Hubbard and the artists became tired of drawing the bulky dress.

Finally, when the comic strip was about half finished, Lantz threw up his hands and moaned: "What will we do?"

"Oh, let a train hit her," said one of his disgusted assistants.

Then—just about the time the assistant was prepared to laugh at his own remark—Lantz surprised the group.

"Sell idea," he declared. "Change the script. Draw a train. We'll end the whole thing in the next scene."

And the cow, a hapless sacrifice to fashion, was just a bit top slow in leaping from the track in the next scene.

Charming and practical is this design in typical English cottage style, easily constructed and compact in layout.

The center gable and ragged chimney are two features of interest; interesting also is the slight overhang of the second story dividing the design into two parallel bands which give it a feeling of lowness.

The choice of materials enhances the attractiveness of the exterior. The lower portion is of white-washed brick with accents on the walls of the dining room wing.

The second story is covered with red-wood shingle tile, as is also the roof. These tiles should be a mixture of reds and browns chosen so as to produce a burnt sienna tone over the whole.

The chimney is of red brick and the doors, door and window trim would look well in dark weathered gray oak.

For the entrance walk it would be hard to find anything better than gray and brown flagging in harmony with the house.

The large living room with its cheerful fireplace and abundant light and ventilation is reached from the entrance hall, where the stairs are placed. The convenience of the kitchen location with respect to the entrance and the stairs is apparent.

The three bedrooms on the second floor are served by a bath reached through a small hall. Ventilation and lighting have not been neglected.

The house a sit stands should, if possible, face the north. With only minor changes such, for instance, as having the entrance about where the car closet now is, another position on the lot is possible. A car garage could easily be added to the living room without decreasing the interest of the design.

Just outside of LAS VEGAS IS MILLER'S RANCH. The U. P. R. R. to BOULDER DAM runs across one corner. Level sandy loam, ditched, checked, watered and fenced hog tight. Nine artesian wells flowing into three large reservoirs. Ideal for DAIRYING; MONEY may be made supplying LAS VEGAS and the DAM DISTRICT. OR SUBDIVIDERS may sell in small tracts for poultry ranches. WORKERS on BOULDER DAM should need and buy these desirable farms, and same may be sold LOCALLY to BUSINESS MEN and others seeking SUBURBAN ESTATES.

Than the old saying about one stone and two birds was Jack Reid's feat of killing 277 crows with a single shot. Reid, who lives in Oroville, sought to exterminate the pests by placing 47 sticks of dynamite camouflaged in willow bark among trees where the birds congregated. A single pressure of the trigger set off the explosives, and destroyed the flock.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

By MRS. AGNES LYNE HIS MOTIVES

The mother who takes seriously the business of being a parent is not content to deal superficially with her child's conduct. Where she does just this it is a sign that she is concerned more with her own convenience and pleasure in relation to her child than with the desire to have him grow up as a well-integrated human being.

A child is never a finished product. He is always in the process of becoming, and for this reason his motives, the reasons which he behind his conduct, are of the utmost importance. Severe disapproval of the unpeasant behavior caused by jealousy may effectively suppress it, but the child's problem remains.

No until every possible cause for jealousy has been removed should the child be expected to behave in a friendly way toward his rival or to give up the sulking or defiance with which he reacted to his jealous feelings.

Whenever through the pressure brought upon him by those whose approval he craves the child is compelled to behave unmercifully or to suppress unduly feelings of antagonism and rebellion, great harm may be done.

It is possible for a child to be a very model of obedience and attractive behavior and yet to be developing unhealthy attitudes in his inner life and in his work and play.

One cannot cut out a child's character as one cuts out cookies in any shape one desires. One must be content to let his inward growth gradually help him to learn desirable forms of behavior.

He cannot be made polite, unselfish, co-operative either through your commands or your disapproval. He can only learn to desire to become them through your understanding help.

Mrs. Will Hedley is enjoying a short trip to Los Angeles.

Pajama Vogue Brings Divided Skirts to Parisian Streets and Bridle Paths

By BARBARA BEAUFORT (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS. (AP)—Despite the talk of "femininity," "feminism" seems to be holding its own in the fashion world, with skirted trousers and trousered skirts seen more and more.

The women who have long been displaying pajamas on the beach are now playing tennis on the Riviera in divided skirts.

The new model has all the lines of the old divided skirt for riding horseback, except that it tops 12 inches from the ground. It is made of soft cellular silk and is worn with a sleeveless jacket that ends in a pert five inch frill at the waist. Both jacket and skirt are fastened with clip fasteners like those used on boots.

The pajama skirt with fitted blouse or loose coat is being worn more and more as a dinner costume. It is made of satin or heavy crepe de chine and it is so full that the wearers have to move before it reveals itself as a pajama.

Besides that, more than one walking costume of tailored wools is made with a brisk little vest of fur or broadcloth and a semi-fitted hip-length jacket.

BIRTHS
BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pembroke, Sunday evening, April 2, at the Las Vegas hospital, a son, weight 7 pounds 9 ounces. Both mother and son are reported doing splendidly, and Grandfather "Pern" Pembroke and Great-grandfather "Johnnie" Lightfoot, are consumed with pride. Mrs. Pembroke was formerly Miss Edna Pocock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pocock of Moapa, and she became the bride of Jack Pembroke the first of last July, when the young couple eluded their parents and eloped to Tinajuna. The Age extends congratulations to the four generations of this pioneer Las Vegas family.
