

MAY USE GOLD IN DAM COINS

Twenty or twenty-five Hoover Dam commemorative coins may be cast in solid gold by the chamber of commerce who is selling the coins as replicas of the gold coin which was presented to President Hoover on Wednesday of this week.

HOUSE RAZED IN GOLD HUNT

ST. LOUIS, April 24. (UP)—Stone by stone a 100-year-old home is being torn down by workers seeking $10,000 in money and securities an aged recluse is believed to have hidden before his death.

The stone home was built on a high hill overlooking most of south St. Louis. To it J. C. Idecker brought his bride fifty years ago. He was a feudal lord over hundreds of acres contained in the farm on which the house was built.

LETTER WILL IS STUMBLING BLOCK

URBANA, Ill., April 24. (UP)—The county clerk here recently was confronted with the disposal of a unique will, in the form of a letter, which had been mailed to him by J. J. Moran, banker of Gifford, near here.

CO-EDS PRACTICE THROWING

CORVALLIS, Ore., April 24. (UP)—Physical education co-eds at Oregon State college are trying to improve their throwing technique by using a 12-inch playground ball instead of the customary nine-inch baseball.

54 FREE THROWS

DETROIT, April 24. (UP)—A basketball game in which 54 free throws were shot was played here recently between the Dr. Toole club and the Grand Trunk quintets. Dr. Toole was given 32 free shots and made 18 while Grand Trunk sunk 14 out of 22.

KESH, Ire., April 24. (UP)—Triplets were born here to Mrs. Michael James Gaffney who last year gave birth to twins.

WEALTHY HOBBO IS COLLECTOR OF RELICS FROM OLD DESERT CAMPS

RENO, April 24.—Albert Dressler, the "Millionaire Hobbo" of Berkeley, Cal., widely known throughout the west as a collector of historical relics, was a Reno visitor yesterday, but he and Mrs. Dressler left in a hurry on what he described as "big business."

Dressler has collected a number of articles from Nevada cities. "Now you can believe it or not," he said, "but the prize item this trip is a bathtub. It is a circular tin bathtub and it looks like a cross between an accordion and a lamp shade. Carson City residents who saw it at the auction when I was shipping it out thought it was some kind of a musical instrument. This tub is five feet in diameter. It has modern tub feet in some respects. For instance, there is a sort of foot-rest in it. And another thing, it's built in such a way that it would be difficult to splash water out of it. The drain pipe is fixed up with a peculiar funnel device."

LOCOMOTOR IS PUT IN USE ON ROADS

CHICAGO, April 23. (UP)—A new type of locomotive engine has been acquired by the Milwaukee railroad in its fight to maintain supremacy of steam for transportation purposes against the invasion of gasoline and electricity.

The invention was completed after ten years of experimenting and testing, according to J. T. Gillick, vice president of the railroad, and will be placed in use immediately on several lines. It has been named the Locomotor and in outward appearance resembles a modern steel baggage car. It is 61 feet long, weighs 127,000 pounds, and generates 500 horsepower. Steam is generated in a small compartment in the forward end of the car where the controls are located and engines are fastened under the car to leave floor space for baggage.

ROAD BULLETINS SENT FROM CITY

Ninety-one weekly highway reports were mailed last evening by the chamber of commerce who sends them to points in Nevada, California and Arizona. The information is kept up to date by C. C. Boyer, district state highway engineer in Las Vegas. Yesterday's report was number nine. The list has steadily grown from forty-four of the first issue. The report was designed to create tourist interest in and about Las Vegas and is evidently playing a good part if one can judge by the increasing interest in the bulletins.

WARNING ISSUED FOR POTATO MEN

Warning to farmers in Nevada, as well as elsewhere, that unless fewer acres are planted to potatoes this year than in the present plan, prices for the spuds next fall will be lower than for years, has been sent to the Nevada agricultural extension service by C. M. Teague, vice chairman of the federal farm board. "Nevada farmers should heed the board's advice," says Professor V. E. Scott, economist for the Nevada service, "and should be sure that land on which they plant potatoes can produce at very low cost, if they wish to make a profit."

ENGLISH GIRL SEEKING YANK FOR HER MATE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 24. (UP)—Wanted: an American husband for a good-looking, well educated English girl; and Mayor Rolland B. Marvin is designated to find him.

The following letter was received by Mayor Marvin: "Dear Sir:—I hope you will pardon me for taking the liberty of writing to you, but I thought you would be able to help me, in some way, to find a husband. I am not particular about his age. I am educated, 20, and good-looking, having blue eyes and brown hair. My height is five feet five inches and my weight 120 pounds. I play the piano and tennis. I am fond of reading, especially newspapers, and have no bad or expensive habits. All correspondence will be treated by me as confidential. I am, Yours faithfully, Winifred M. McCarthy, 179 Lincoln Road, Litherland, Liverpool, England."

Canibal Fish Are Found by Scientist

PORTLAND, Me., April 24. (UP)—Authority for this fish story is Professor William F. Clapp of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. While he was aboard the trawler Princeton, off Sable Island, making studies to determine what fish eat, he found a 42-inch goosefish which had swallowed a 32-inch codfish. He also found a codfish which had swallowed two squalls.

MANY LAKES

LINCOLN, Neb., April 24. (UP)—Nebraska was once thought of as the Great American Desert, or part of it. Despite the opinion then and now that this state is arid and Sahara-like, there are 1,200 natural lakes in the state. The sandhills of Nebraska, unique in formation, are fairly dotted with natural fresh water lakes.

Siam King Trusts Sight To Skill Of U. S. Doctor

NEW YORK, April 24. (UP)—King Traiphonk of Siam is relying on the skill of an American stranger to save his royal eyes from blindness.

JOHN M. WHEELER

The American-trained hands of Dr. John M. Wheeler, New York eye surgeon, will yield the knife which is to remove a cataract that threatens the king's sight. His Majesty's choice of surgeon indicates that he is impressed by the scientific progress made in this country.

Dr. Wheeler is a Vermonter, as tactfully modest as his fellow New Englander, Calvin Coolidge. A native of Burlington, he was entirely educated in the United States, a fact of which he is especially proud. Graduated from the University of Vermont in 1902 with a B. A. degree, he received his M. D. letters in 1905 and was made a master of science the next year. Then he came to New York City and Earle Infirmary for final training.

His special interest has always been eye surgery, and three years ago he state university honored him with a degree of doctor of ophthalmology for final training. As a great medical center of the great medical center of the city, he will be the king's hostess here. The royal eyes will go under the knife at Mrs. Reid's suburban estate.

Ophir Hall, May 9. Afterward he must remain three at least two months before continuing his travels. "The removal of a cataract is a very delicate operation," Dr. Wheeler said. "But in suitable cases an operation properly performed results well."
