High-Priced Yearlings Turf's Real Gamble

Is War, like Broadway Limited, to prove another one of the high-priced sons of Man o' War to flop? Purchased as a yearling for $45,000 by Mrs. Margaret Amery, Maryland sportsman, War this season as a three-year-old has a chance to show whether he is worth any part of the money. He has been nominated for the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

BALTIMORE, April 27 (AP)—Horse racing is easily as much of a gamble to the horse owner as it is to the thousands who place $2 bets with the pari-mutuels or the book-makers. Man o' War, wonder horse of the American turf a few years ago, has made another record as a sire of winners, but some of his sons and daughters have failed to earn interest on the huge sums paid for them.

Dock Light, four-year-old chestnut gelding son of Man o' War and Milky Way, finished third the other day at Bowie to two selling platers. Anybody who wanted him could claim him at $2,250, a fraction of his cost.

Mrs. Margaret Amery, owner of the Sagamore Stable, paid $45,000 for War, a full brother to Dock Light, when War was a yearling. Last season as a two-year-old, War won once out of three starts. This season's campaign will tell whether he was worth any major part of that $45,000. War has been nominated for the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby.

War's failure last year ranked him with Follow Thru, a son of Epimard, which brought $36,000; Ilium, a son of the famous English sire, Buchan, which brought $26,500; and Barrido which sold for $15,000.

New Broom, bought for $75,000, the highest price ever paid anywhere for a yearling, never won a race. He still is the property of the Eastland Stable and there has been talk of converting him into a polo pony.

Huskie On, for which W. R. Cox paid $70,000, never even got to the post. He was a son of another famous English sire, Hurry On.

And there was Broadway Limited, another son of Man o' War which sold at Saratoga as a yearling for $65,000. He failed utterly as a two-year-old, and gelded, fell dead as a three-year-old.

Ilium and Barrido, owned by William Ziegler Jr., like War, still have to be really tried. Ilium has been nominated for the Preakness and Derby, but failed to show he was of stake calibre in early workouts this year. Barrido showed keen early speed but soon tired.

Not all the expensive yearlings

MAKES STRIKE ON COMSTOCK CLAIMS

VIRGINIA CITY, April 27 (AP)—That their faith in the future of the Comstock district has been well placed is the opinion expressed today by J. M. Leonard, manager of the Comstock Tunnel & Draining company, with the announcement that an orebody of considerable proportions, carrying values in gold and silver of about $20 per ton has been opened in the old Crown Point holdings in the Gold Hill district at a depth of about 275 feet from the surface.

WORKED TWO YEARS Leonard and associates, who now own about two-thirds of the mining claims on the Comstock lode, have been carrying on exploration work for two years and concentrated their efforts in the Crown Point property a year or so ago. Driving a tunnel and a winze they opened up the orebody, which was apparently overlooked entirely during the early day operations in the camp and Leonard says now that he believes the showing is such that it will warrant the erection of a mill.

SUNDAY RAINS SOAK DESERT

The rain storm of Sunday, which was a steady but gentle downpour lasting most of the day, proved a real benefit to the country in general. Precipitation amounted to 70 inches, and practically all the moisture soaked into the ground.

Damage to highways was practically nil. In a few spots, the shoulders washed slightly, but otherwise, results were entirely beneficial.

At Jean and Erie, and in the mountains to the south and west, the rain continued for the greater part of yesterday afternoon, but last evening showed indications of clearing.

LICENSES FOR SPORTSMEN RUN HIGH

There were 17,781 Nevada sportsmen who purchased licenses to fish and hunt game, including deer tag permits, within this state for the year 1930, at a total cost of $33,465, according to figures compiled by William S. Keig, assistant secretary of the state fish and game commission, from data supplied by the various county clerks, says the Journal.

The figures show that fishermen exceed the hunters by 316. Licenses issued to fishermen totaled 3,223, and the number of deer hunting tags 2,907. During 1929, licenses issued to sportsmen totaled 15,100, showing an increase during 1930 of 1,681. Receipts from the sale of these licenses in 1929 was $28,602, an increase for 1930 of $4,863.

454 DEER KILLED Deer hunting increased in popularity during 1930, according to the figures, deer tags being issued to 2,907 hunters, compared with 2,683 in 1929, an increase of 224. The records show that 454 deer were killed in the state during the 1930 open season, compared with 411 in 1929.

The sale of fishing licenses in Nevada in 1930 totaled $11,911; hunting, $18,647; deer tags, $2,907. Under the state law the state fish and game commission received two-fifths of the resident hunting license money, which is apportioned to the state fish and game preservation fund. The board also received the deer tag license money.

RETAIN LICENSES This year, under an amendment passed by the last legislature, Elko and White Pine counties will retain all of the resident hunting license money for the support of the county hatcheries, but will not be entitled to receive fish from the state.

Washoe county leads all counties in the sale of licenses, with White Pine second, and Elko third. The following table shows the receipts by counties from fishing, hunting and deer tag licenses:

Churchill	$1,987.00
Clark	1,746.00
Douglas	1,619.50
