

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

By MRS. AG...
RESPECT FOR BELONGINGS
 Every child should have a proper respect for his belongings. The carelessness which leads to destruction and the habit of losing things are expensive.

The first step in teaching a child to take proper care of his possessions is to give him a convenient place to keep them. He needs shelves for his toys and books, accessible hooks on which to hang his clothes, a place in the back entry or in the garage for his tricycle.

While he is little he should be given little responsibility for the care of his things. There is no need scolding a 3-year-old for losing his rubbers.

As he gets older he may be held more and more responsible for keeping his things together. Too many toys and unnecessary, fussy articles of clothing tend to make for carelessness in the child's attitude toward them.

His toys should be so well constructed that they do not readily break and become valueless in his eyes. When he takes proper care of his playthings, he should be rewarded by being given more with which to round out his play schemes.

If he has for some time enjoyed a set of farm animals and has carefully put them away in a box when he was through playing, he will appreciate the gift of a little milk wagon with horses with which to elaborate his farm play.

The old toys thus are cherished and the new ones appreciated.

When, through carelessness, a child has broken a toy or lost some article of clothing, it should not be replaced immediately. If a sufficient interval elapses, during which he misses them, he will be all the more ready to be careful of new ones when they are given to him.

TELEVISION GIRL BEFORE MIKE TELLS OF EXPERIENCES WHILE ON THE STAGE

NEW YORK, June 12. (AP)—Until television gets a little farther along Dorothy Knapp is to confine her ready efforts to the microphone alone.

This young lady, whose facial characteristics, the program directors of NBC believe, are particularly adapted for possible use in television programs, is doing a weekly stunt of her own for the sound audience via the WEAP chain.

Under the title of "Backstage with Dorothy Knapp" she is relating some of her experiences when she was a show girl on Broadway.

Ultimately, though, she is to do some television studio experimentation, and in preparation for that she already has stood before the television camera, which "picked up" her features and transmitted them into the proper kind of electrical impulses for transmission.

FORD'S HOTEL TO OPEN ON JULY 1

DETROIT, June 12. (AP)—The luxurious and ultra-modern hotel built by Henry Ford's Heals of the American hospitality extended to the traveler will soon be opened to the public.

The hotel is the Dearborn Inn—will 191 rooms, thirteen acres of ground, office, shop and dining room. It will be used for the first time July 1.

The hotel is just across the highway from Ford airport, and thirty minutes from downtown Detroit. It will be the scene of numerous parties and dinners which will precede the start of the seventh annual national air tour for the Edsel Ford scholarship trophy July 4.

All rooms are furnished in early American period furniture, some in mahogany and oak and others in mahogany. The modern touch, however, comes with the concealed radio tub-shower baths, reading lamps, running ice water and electric clocks.

Tennis courts and a golf course are to be added to the hotel property later.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS SENT TO POLICE

LYNN, Mass., June 12. (AP)—Soon after the new Lynn police headquarters was opened a mysterious truckload of books was delivered to fill the shelves of the library of the building.

Rugged policemen were astonished to discover that the shipment included a complete set of Girl Scout adventure books, Tom Swift Tales, the Boy Trapper series, and the Elsie Dismore books.

Through a fir log 58 inches in circumference in two minutes 45 seconds. Under terms of the contest he had to cut the log in two-thirds of the time required by Paul Miller, former Albany high school football player and experienced logger; Roy W. Hayes of Albany. McLaren won handsily.

SCREEN LIFE IN HOLLYWOOD

By HUBBARD KEAVY
HOLLYWOOD—When less than a year ago, Doris Kenyon's little world suddenly went to pieces, she was undecided which way to turn.

Milton Sillis did a tragic climax to a long series of misfortunes which included broken health, impaired fortune and a prolonged struggle to gain both back.

Since then his widow has learned that work is the greatest cure for sorrow. And work she has, in these last few months. She worked toward two goals. One was a successful comeback in pictures. Now she is on her way toward the second, a concert tour in Europe.

Her resolution was evident, say those who worked with her, the very minute she put on makeup to play a small role in the picture "Fame."

The verdict on her first performance was favorable. Miss Kenyon immediately was asked to take other parts and stay in pictures indefinitely.

However, there were concert dates to meet in Europe. Two years ago, when with her husband in the east while he was recovering from a breakdown that eventually caused his death, she continued her study of music, and related arts.

There was talk then of a concert tour, but plans for this were abandoned temporarily when Sillis was thrown into a hospital to rest here.

Now the plan has been revived.

SINGS IN 19 LANGUAGES
 Miss Kenyon expects to return here in September because she has offers to continue her picture work. Meanwhile she will have the thrill of singing in Paris, Berlin and Budapest.

Doris Kenyon made four pictures in as many months. Between them she studied 19 languages and actually will sing in ten of them during her tour.

BUSTER'S OWN BATH
 If you saw the picture, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," you saw Buster Keaton right at home. The first third of the film was made at Keaton's home in Beverly Hills. Even the bathroom part was his.

The studio was looking for a suitable location, and the description fitted Keaton's place. Keaton made his company pay the usual charge of $300 a day and it was used 12 days and gave the money to a charity.

THREE NATIONAL FORESTS NAMED

MARQUETTE, Mich., June 12. (AP)—Organization of three new national forests in the upper peninsula of Michigan, comprising approximately 250 acres each, is being rapidly completed by 200 men, according to E. W. Tinker, regional U. S. forester in eight states.

Highway plans are receiving the most attention, he said, so that the woods will be easily accessible in case of fire. Nearly 100 miles of telephone lines have been installed.

It is planned to plant 2,000 acres in the forests this fall with Norway pine seedlings.

ANOTHER $3 BILL FOUND

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 12. (AP)—A $3 bill which has been in the possession of Howard Stevens for 25 years was brought to light recently when he read about $3,000 being offered for one owned by Clem Ivy of Cincinnati, O., which was said to be the "real" one. Stevens is hoping he hasn't flooded the market and brought the price down.
