BOULDER NOT BOTHERED BY BRIDGE BATTLE; CRIBBAGE TILT AT RIVER

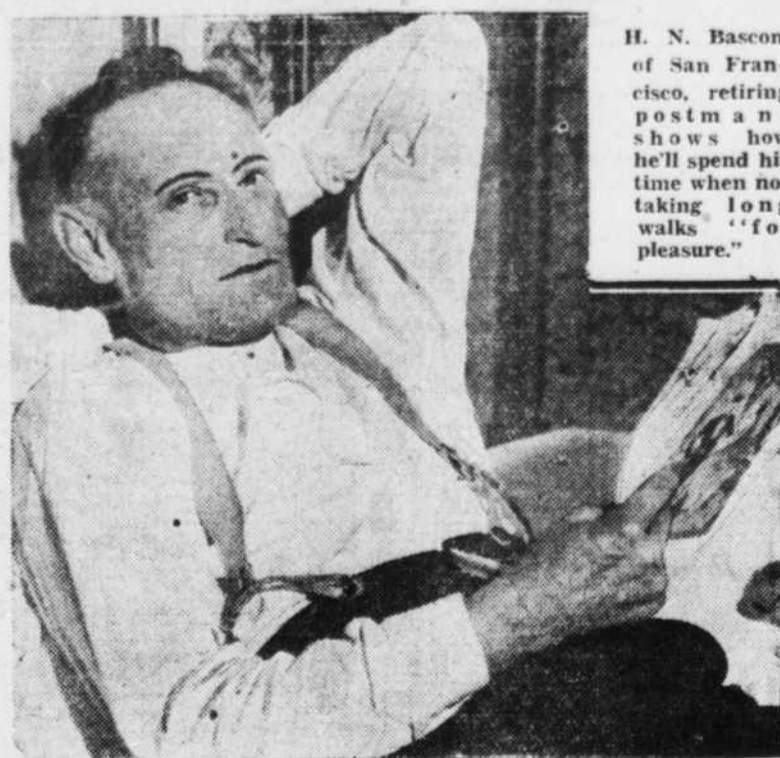

Repercussions of the Culbertson-Lenz bridge contest have been felt in Boulder City. Emulating the two Seattle poker addicts who staged a similar fracas to determine the superiority of Klondike vs. sea-going poker, Boulder City men last night staged a cribbage tournament. C. J. "Charlie" Seymour, exponent of the middle-western method, challenged all comers and was promptly defeated by W. R. "Hercules" Ellis, who played Pacific coast rules and T. M. Price who played a combination system.

half railroad style and half North Carolina style. The tournament was characterized by loud wrangling, and both referees and umpire's decisions were questioned by all contestants. Numerous kibitzers were present and several side bets were reported among the throng gathered. Price and Ellis, who defeated themselves champions of Clark county, have issued a formal challenge to anyone fancying their crib game. Many acceptances are expected.

DOG POISONER STARTS WORK AT RIVER CITY

A young black dog, quite well known about the neighborhood, wandered into the Evans camp Tuesday morning stricken with poison. The animal, suffering and in convulsions, was caught by O. W. Evans, proprietor of the "Lance" Cafe restaurant, and treated with quantities of hot milk and lard. It is believed by those who administered aid to the puppy, that it was too late to save its life. Many who saw the dog claimed that the poison was strychnine and expressed their belief that somebody, an enemy of "Evans," was dropping poisoned meat about the reservation.

CHICAGO WILL TRY TO MEET DEBTS

CHICAGO, Jan. 5. (U.P.)—Chicagoans have united at last to pull themselves by their own bootstraps from the political mire which has sucked in their dollars by the hundreds of millions and left their city bankrupt.

It took them 40 years to do it and it took a crisis almost unprecedented in the annals of American municipalities to get them started, but they are at work now in a campaign against mounting costs of government which makes the city's recent drive of extermination against her notorious gangsters seem almost trivial. "Editorial thunder," even more blackfaced than the type which screamed after the St. Valentine's day massacre and the famous murder of Jake Lingle, flared on the front pages of all the city newspapers. The editorials demanded that the state legislature reorganize immediately the antiquated taxing machinery which has lent itself to skulduggery so long that Cook county finds itself with a $650,000,000 debt and no money with which to pay it.

BRIAND ILL, ANXIETY FELT

PARIS, Jan. 5. (U.P.)—Anxiety was aroused tonight by the illness of Aristide Briand, the 69-year-old French foreign minister and one of the leading figures of the League of Nations. An official announcement at the Quai D'Orsay said Briand was fatigued as a result of a five-day milk diet which his physician ordered. There were many rumors, however, that the veteran foreign minister had suffered a heart attack on Monday and another today and that his condition was critical. The foreign office definitely denied that Briand's illness was critical.

DENIES NAVAL ACTS UNUSUAL

MANILA, P. I., Wednesday, Jan. 6. (U.P.)—Naval officers here said today that no unusual movements of the United States Navy's Asiatic fleet had been ordered because of the Manchurian conflict. The entire fleet is anchored here except those ships that patrol Chinese waters each winter. Those in command said they did not anticipate any general movement of the fleet to China. American ships now stationed in Chinese waters include one destroyer in each of the ports of Shanghai, Nanking, Foochow and Amoy, seven gunboats on the Yangtze river, two at Canton and one near Tientsin. The last movement ordered was dispatch of a destroyer to Foochow in connection with the capture of Harriet Halverstadt, Methodist missionary, who was released several days ago.

SPINE BREAKS, MINER LIVES

COLORADO SPRINGS, Jan. 5. (U.P.)—John Fleming, Cripple Creek miner, who has been compelled to hold his head in one position since Dec. 29 to avoid death was brought to Colorado Springs tonight. Fleming was working in a mine shaft near Cripple Creek last Tuesday. He was preparing to explode 17 shots of dynamite when he slipped and fell into the shaft. After he had fallen 12 feet, projecting timbers checked, but did not stop his descent, and he fell the remaining 90 feet to the bottom of the shaft. He landed head first, but a derby hat he was wearing remained on his head during the fall and saved him from a fractured skull, but his spinal column was broken and only the spinal cord and flesh connected his head with his body. Despite his injuries, Fleming was still conscious after the fall and had the presence of mind to crawl out a side drift in the shaft just as the dynamite shots exploded over his head, otherwise he would have been buried alive. Fleming will be taken to Denver tomorrow morning, where specialists will attempt to save his life by providing a brace for his neck.

JOBLESS ARMY ALARMS TOWN

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Jan. 5. (U.P.)—Arrival here tonight of 11,000 unemployed marchers enroute to Washington, D. C., brought calls for state police assistance from the town's small police force. The marchers, led by the Rev. Father James Cox of Old St. Patrick's church, Pittsburgh, over-ran the town, flocked through the streets, besieged eating places in quest of food, for which they were willing to pay, and filled every available lodging to overflowing. All was quiet on their arrival, but police feared trouble. District Attorney Charles Brewster called Harrisburg and a detail of state troopers was dispatched over the 90-mile route from the capital, a route the marchers will traverse tomorrow. Most of the 11,000, traveling in 980 automobiles and trucks of every make, description and model, camped for the night at the Huntingdon county fair grounds. They are prepared to sleep in the open.

FOR YOUR INSPECTION

The Merchant and manufacturer who advertise, actually are placing their merchandise before you for inspection. They invite your most critical attention and an uncompromising comparison. And their advertisements, so to speak, say to their products: "We have introduced you to the public—now stand on your own merits."

If the manufacturer and merchant did not have confidence in their wares, they would hesitate to call attention to them. For advertising rigidly tests the maker, the seller and the merchandise. Business so tested, and found not wanting, is prosperous.

In the long run, you can depend on the man who advertises, as well as on his product. That is one reason why people have found that it pays to read advertisements.

It is through advertising that the excellent things of the world are brought to the attention of those who are seeking for the best and most economical way to spend their money.
