OTHER CLUBS PRESENT AT ROTARY

ians are anxious to cooperate with the other clubs for the upbuilding of the community. He took for his theme, "Citizenship," stating that citizens cannot be prepared for community service usefulness without the cooperation of church, home, school, and the service clubs.

Nye Wilson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke for that organization. He stressed three things that we can do to help the community just now:

1. Employ more home-town fellows.
2. Trade at home and keep here a large part of the $3,000 a day being sent out of Las Vegas.
3. Discourage "rackets" of various kinds designed to get something for nothing, especially the various advertising schemes being promoted by outsiders.

In closing, Mr. Wilson urged a larger attendance upon the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce, where every Tuesday noon matters of importance to the community are taken up.

Among the guests were Prof. F. E. Minner of Overton, accompanied by Martin Eaton, the lad which Rotary took under its wing after he suffered the loss of both feet several years ago. A. L. Wengert and Jos. Hammig, both of Las Vegas.

Visiting Rotarians included Frank Garside, Tonopah; G. W. Harmon, Fillmore, Cal.; Hal Bellinger, Fallon, Cal.; Albert Kirkpatrick, Provo, Utah; and L. P. Cowles, dealer in surgical supplies, San Bernardino, Cal.

The big chimney on the railroad eating house took a tumble Tuesday when that gentle (?) zephyr struck Las Vegas and there were bricks scattered all over the west yard of the building. B & B men are busy now getting the chimney back in shape.

E. J. West, 1st division passenger engineer, started out on the bumping business Wednesday and started things going by bumping our peaceable friend, Engineer Earl Nungesser, who in turn walloped Engineer Bennett, causing Bennett to take a swing at Engineer Swartzfigure. How about a little world court, gentlemen?

Tuesday's wind played quite a little havoc with the U. P. tennis court, breaking off four of five of the fence posts supporting the electric lights. President Lightfoot had the same repaired so tennis members can now get in the game.

Several wooden windows high up in the south side of the U. P. back shop were blown out Tuesday and fell to the floor below. B & B men, making an inspection, fixed up the ones that were loosened but did not fall.

MOAPA VALLEY NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Ashley Rice of Las Vegas returned to her home Tuesday following a visit here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Sprague.

Miss Neva Jones was hostess to a delightful dinner, with the Moapa valley high school basketball team as special guests, in honor of their splendid work in winning the first league game of the season last week-end, and of five previous victories. Golden Tueller is their coach and the following students are on the team: Harlan Lyon, Dale Gentry, Ewart Johnson, Earl Leavitt, Wesley Cooper, Verle Hickman and Ray Johnson.

Glen Lee, and Robert Marshall went in to Las Vegas on business Tuesday.

As we recall that old saying, "It's an ill wind—" Guess in the interest of Safety First had better cut out that wind stuff, and report that Mrs. J. H. Lightfoot leaves tonight for a few days' visit to relatives in Los Angeles. And recall that "absence, etc."
