

THANKS DUE LEVINSKY, HAMAS FOR PULLING GAME OUT FROM DOLDRUMS OF FAN DEPRESSION

Interest Again Shown In Heavyweight Battlers

By LEO H. PETERSEN
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (U.P.)—Business in the heavyweight boxing industry, the barometer of the fight game, is picking up.

Thanks to King Levinsky, the former Chicago fish peddler, and young Steve Hamas, who won fame as a football player at Penn State, the 1932 season shows promise of pulling the heavyweight program out of the doldrums in which it has sagged since Gene Tunney retired.

The rapid rise of Levinsky into the front ranks and the promise shown by Hamas when he knocked out Tommy Loughran, have added interest to the industry which boomed for a time earlier in the week when it appeared certain that Max Schmeling would defend his championship against Mickey Walker.

Although the proposed title contest fell through, it is likely the German battler will defend his crown somewhere in the United States this year. But even if he doesn't, Hamas and Levinsky may develop into the box office attractions the game needs to start back on the upgrade.

Another stimulating boost is the apparently sincere comeback attempt of Jack Dempsey, probably the most colorful champion the industry ever has known. If Dempsey's legs will stand the strain against the top notchers in the division, gate receipts should show a decided increase.

There is still a gloomy side of the picture. Levinsky and Hamas sounded taps for Tommy Loughran, one of the truly great boxers of all time. The defeats probably cost the one time monarch of the light-heavyweights the last of his box office appeal.

There is also this matter of the New York boxing commission's threat to stage a contest between Walker and Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight crown. The commission, it seems, has forgotten that Schmeling is champion. The German may not be up to the standard of former titleholders, but boxing fans feel he will do until somebody better comes along.

If each boxing commission insists on a champion of its own, it is almost certain the game will not prosper. But if the various bodies can get together on one champion and play him through thick and thin, business should pick up.

And when the heavyweight business is good, the entire game usually feels the effect and swings into line.

DAZZY VANCE IS HOLD-OUT

HOMOSASSA, Fla., Jan. 16. (U.P.)—Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, speedball pitcher, told the United Press today he would return unsigned the 1932 salary contract offered him by the Brooklyn Robins.

"It looks like the depression is still on," Vance said when he received the document this morning. "There will have to be some dickering about the terms before I sign."

Vance refused to divulge the salary offered him, but said it was "about the same cut as was given Bill Terry."

Terry, heavy-hitting first baseman of the New York Giants, was asked to accept a salary reduction of 40 per cent. He declined the offer and asked that he be traded.

Vance, who was an in-and-outter in 1931, received $22,500 last year, the highest salary received by a National league pitcher.

"I had expected a reduction," said Vance, "but nothing like this, of course. I expect to go to Miami next Monday and probably will confer with Manager Max Carey if he is still there."

"I am sure we can come to some agreement. The club management can go up a lot easier than players can come down on contract terms."

BOMB PACKAGE ONLY TABLETS FROM HOUSTON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. (U.P.)—Claudius H. Huston, former chairman of the Republican national committee, came forward today as the sender of the mysterious "bomb" which threw several government departments into a flurry of excitement yesterday.

After gingerly handling from one end of the capitol to the other, the "bomb" proved to be a harmless package containing tablets of concentrated heat.

Huston, in a facetious telegram to Assistant Secretary of Commerce Julius Klein, explained that an inventor friend had devised a new form of concentrated heat. Huston sent the package to Klein for advice on the product's marketability.

The bomb scare was exploded only after six rifle bullets were fired into the package at the navy research laboratory at the end of a day of cautious investigation.

More than 5,350 range horses were rounded up in Nevada this year and sold for chicken feed in California.

If Mrs. S. L. Friedman will call at the box office of El Portal theater she will receive free a ticket good for today's performance.

NO GAME RESULTS AVAILABLE WHEN LINES GO DOWN

All efforts to get the score of the Tonopah-Las Vegas basketball game, played last night in the Nye county capital, were in vain when it was found that Western Union wires were closed and telephone company lines were down or out of commission.

As a last resort The Age tried to arrange short wave radio transmission with Tonopah, but the amateur operator of a Tonopah station failed to respond to his call letters.

MORRISON IN GOLF LEAD AGAIN

AGUA CALIENTE, Baja California, Jan. 16. (U.P.)—Fred Morrison, long hitting professional from Culver City, Cal., was back again tonight in a favored position to win the $5,000 first prize in the $15,000 Agua Caliente open golf tournament.

He got there by playing an almost flawless 18 holes this afternoon to score a 68, four under par, for a total of 211 at the end of 54 holes.

With the final 18 holes to be played tomorrow, Morrison, not well known in national competition, had a two-stroke lead over his nearest competitor, Harry Cooper, of Chicago.

Cooper added a 70 to his earlier rounds of 71 and 72 for undisputed possession of second place.

Gene Sarazen, of New York, was in third place with 214 and behind him were Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente, and Olin Dutra, Brentwood, Cal., with 216s.

MEL OTT TO SIGN PAPERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (U.P.)—The New York Giants announced today that Mel Ott, outfielder, had agreed to accept the 1932 contract offered him by the club.

It had been reported previously that Ott was dissatisfied with the terms and would return the contract unsigned. Giant officials declined to make public the terms of the contract.

At the same time, it was announced that Carl Hubbell, star left-hander, had returned his signed contract, leaving Bill Terry the lone Giant holdout.

Club officials denied reports that Terry would be traded to the Chicago Cubs. Reports were current yesterday that a trade involving Terry and Pat Malone, pitcher of the Cubs, was in progress.

SKATERS FIND ICE BUT SNOW FAILS

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Jan. 16. (U.P.)—A sudden cold spell made skating possible but the ski and bob-sled teams here for the Olympic winter games today looked in vain for snow.

The sudden change in temperature last night brought a small amount of snow but not enough to fill the needs of those participants who are awaiting its arrival.

Maximum temperature at 8 a. m. today was 36, while at 11 it had dropped to 23.
