NO PARTIALITY "Well, Mr. Corrigan," he finally was asked, "if Mr. Halloran was called in this trial as a witness, is there anything in your acquaintance that would make you give more credence to his testimony than to that of any other witness?"

"I was afraid Grandfather would be Shocked.."

"HE'S rather a bossy old darling, and I didn't know how he'd like the idea of my smoking."

"The first time I lit a Chesterfield in front of him, he sniffed like an old war-horse... and I braced myself for trouble. But all he said was, 'That's good tobacco, Chickabiddy.'"

"But I still think that if he hadn't been so impressed by the quality of Chesterfield, the old dear might have been less agreeable. Human nature is like that!"

"Grandfather raised tobacco in his younger days, so he knows what's what. I don't, of course—but I do know that Chesterfields are milder. It's wonderful to be able to smoke whenever you want, with no fear you'll smoke too many.

"And it doesn't take a tobacco expert to prove that Chesterfield tobaccos are better. They taste better... that's proof enough. Never too sweet. No matter when I smoke them... or how many I smoke... they always taste exactly right."

"They must be absolutely pure... even to the paper which doesn't taste at all. In fact... as the ads say... 'They Satisfy!'"
