TRANSAMERICA OFFICES TO BE BACK ON COAST

By FRED G. WILLIAMS (United Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, Feb. 19. (U.P.)—Transamerica corporation headquarters, like its management, will be returned to the Pacific coast where it was built up by the picturesque banker, Amadeo Peter Giannini. This information was given out at the New York offices today by the newly elected president, John M. Grant, right hand man of Giannini who ousted the Wall street crowd and assumed control of the company at the annual stockholders' meeting last Monday. The present lease on the Wall street quarters runs for another month. After that, the office here will be cut to the absolute minimum, Grant said, and the executive department moved to California. Meanwhile drastic economies were to be introduced and kept in force until the stock is placed on a dividend basis, according to Grant.

Stage Set For Elk Washington Fete

(Continued from Page One) 50 candidates will receive the degree. At 9:30, the dance will begin at Elks' hall. U. S. OFFERS BABY BONDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. (U.P.)—The treasury announced today that "baby bonds" to be sold to the public as part of President Hoover's anti-inflation campaign will be in denominations of $50, $100 and $500. They will mature in one year and bear not less than 1 1/2 per cent interest. The total amount of these bonds officially known as treasury certificates was not announced. They will be offered through the banks on or about March 7.

L.D.S. CHURCH PARLEY IS SET

As an additional step toward the erection of a new L. D. S. chapel in Las Vegas, Fred Alward, Ira Earl and Fred Mineer, with Bishop Bryan Bunker, will consult with officials of the church in Salt Lake City Sunday. The group left for the Utah capital Friday night.

APARTMENT FIRE PUT OUT QUICKLY

An overheated water heater at the rear of the Blakely apartments, Sixth and Carson streets, resulted in the calling of the local department shortly after ten o'clock last night. Neighbors discovered the blaze shortly after it started and the flames were extinguished before they could gain any headway. Damage inflicted was negligible.

S. L. FRIEDMAN BUYS UNDERPRICE SHOP AT AUCTION

The entire merchandise stock of the Underprice store, located on south Main street, which was purchased at constable's auction yesterday by S. L. Friedman, will be offered to the public at a closing out sale next week, the well known clothier announced. Purchased at a figure far below the cost price, this merchandise, which consists of a large stock of wearing apparel, will be passed on to the public at unusually low prices, Friedman said. Every item of the Underprice stock will be sold on the premises and Mr. Friedman will make further announcements through the columns of The Age.

NIPPON GIVEN SETBACK AS PLAN GOES AWRY

(Continued from Page One) Soochow creek opposite the international settlement defense lines held by the United States marines. They did no damage. Asked whether the U. S. marines would correct their range, Lieutenant A. T. Mason said, "Let's wait and see whether we get any more." The international settlement was as near normal at the state of emergency would permit. Women were visiting dressmaking establishments, businessmen were at their offices.

MARINES PERILED

SHANGHAI, Saturday, Feb. 20. (U.P.)—A shell fired during the height of the Japanese offensive today completely wrecked the headquarters of a United States marine detail guarding the Tung-yin cotton mill within the boundaries of the international settlement. The marines had just vacated the room to change guards and none was injured. "I guess we won't use that room

Observations

(Continued from Page One) in the farming business is hitting right back at the machines. Farmers have stopped, partially at least, buying farm machinery and have started a movement back to the mule. Horses and mules consume no gasoline, but they eat part of the farm products which they help raise and turn it into fertilizer to enrich the land, which the tractor cannot do. However, things seem to work in a circle. If enough farmers should start driving horses and riding buggies, Henry Ford would have a hard time of it. working its Chenju auxiliaries in Chinese territory near Shanghai. Great Northern restored communication by operating from Hongkong to Woosung, and relaying 15 miles from Woosung to Shanghai. GUERRILLAS ATTACK TOKYO, Japan, Saturday, Feb. 20. (U.P.)—One Japanese soldier was killed in street fighting at Tunhua, Manchuria, today, reports received here said. Five hundred guerrillas who had earlier attacked a Japanese crew surveying for the Kirin-Tunhua railway attacked the Japanese garrison at Tunhua. The Japanese civilian population took refuge in the railway station while the battle raged.
