

LAS VEGAS AGE

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 24, 1932 PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING EXCEPT MONDAY BY CHARLES P. SQUIRES, Editor and Publisher, at the AGE BUILDING 411 Fremont Street, Las Vegas, Nevada, and entered in the Postoffice at Las Vegas as Second Class Matter.

SAVE FIFTY THOUSAND IT IS ESTIMATED that there will be a saving of at least fifty thousand dollars in building the necessary jail and court house addition this year over what it would be if postponed to, say, 1935.

Building has reached such a point that there is an inducement for all to do their building without delay! It stands to reason that as soon as there is a substantial revival in building operations, which already is showing signs of beginning, the cost of building will begin to mount again.

While there is an urgent need for providing additional employment for our people, it appears that to do this bit of building right now is the proper thing.

We should not forget that this depression is simply an unpleasant incident in the march of the nation to greater and greater heights of prosperity. As in the depressions of 1873, 1894, 1907, 1921 and many others which history records, the revival which is getting under way will swing the pendulum of prosperity far up on the right side.

We should have a sufficiently clear perspective of events so that we will not lose sight of the fact that there is a constant increase in population and wealth in the United States and that such recessions in the tide of prosperity as we have just been through are incidental and temporary halts in the advance.

WHY NOT SIDEWALKS? PERHAPS the cost deters some property owners from beginning a movement to surface streets in the residential districts. At this time when money is scarce and hard to get there is some excuse for hesitation in the matter of street paving, however much needed.

But there is no good reason why there should not be sidewalks. And there is every reason why we should have walks all over town. A member of the Chamber of Commerce rose in indignation yesterday and asked why it is that we build a $350,000 school plant and provide no walks whereby the children can get to and from school without wading in the mud.

The thought was expressed that now it has stopped raining we do not need walks. And of course, while it is raining, we can't build them. So there we are.

Concrete walks can hardly be called an expense because they add immediately so much to the value of property, that a property owner cannot afford to be without them.

And it is not a matter of opposition that prevents the building of sidewalks on many streets where needed. It is lack of a leader to take the problem up with his neighbors and plan the thing out for presentation to the board of city commissioners.

CIVIC GROUP THEATRE JOB BACKS VET PAY STARTS TODAY

Acting on the recommendation of the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring immediate payment of the remainder of the balance due on adjusted service certificates to ex-service men at the close of the World war in place of pensions and bonuses.

C. OF C. REPORT ON CONVENTIONS FOR L. V. MADE

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday sent a formal invitation to the Republican and Democratic state central committees to hold their May conventions in this city. K. O. Knudson made the report of the committee having the matter in charge and reported that questionnaires returned indicated that there is a large majority of state delegates in favor of coming to Las Vegas for one of the conventions.

Andy Rafael reorted in favor of holding the annual meeting of the chamber at the time the Pasadena boys band is here, March 19.

A. E. Thomson, for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sent a communication asking that the chamber approve the bill before congress for the payment of the full bonus due ex-service men. There are in Nevada 2978 veterans who are holders of certificates, he said in his letter.

On motion it was voted that the chamber ask the passage of the bill, which comes up in congress March 1.

A variety of subjects came up for discussion at the meeting yesterday noon.

James Cashman reported that he is making arrangements to get in touch with Kingman people and cooperate with them when they make their trip to Hoover Dam March 21 and 22.

A. R. Thomson, reporting on the Las Vegas-Deer creek road, stated that in his opinion there is little chance of getting any substantial improvement made this year.

He stated that he had a conference with State Highway Engineer Durkee and District Highway Engineer Boyer on the matter, and that there is some hope of getting a program of improvement started in 1933.

Secretary Wilson of the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce announced that the annual meeting of the western division of the United States Chamber of Commerce will be held in San Francisco May 16 to 20, and urged that a delegation be sent to the meeting.

A. E. Thomson called attention to the meeting at American Legion hall to consider the unemployment question.

Walter R. Bracken, referring to the proposal to build a new jail addition to the court house, stated that it is not the policy of the Union Pacific to object to any community betterment. He would like to discuss the matter more fully with the committee, he said.

President Jas. H. Down announced that he had appointed Walter Bracken and C. P. Squires as additional members of the court house committee, of which Ryland Taylor is chairman.

The chamber of commerce ordered a resolution of thanks and appreciation sent to Salt Lake Lodge No. 85, B. P. O. E. and Las Vegas Lodge No. 1488, to Walker R. Young, Frank Crowe and other officials of Six Companies and all others who assisted in making the Washington's birthday celebration a success.

President Down gave it as his opinion that the affair had been very helpful to the city.

MANHATTAN MIRRORS

By the United Press NEW YORK, Feb. 23. (UP)—Donald Brian, the most graceful "Prince Danilo" who ever danced to the Merry Widow waltz, has opened a revival of the old musical comedy at the Erlanger theater. The incident sent inquisitive theatergoers on the trail for Ethel Jackson, the most glorious "Sonia" of that production.

Miss Jackson used to ride to the theater in her own brougham, with her coachman on the box and a hundred cheering men-about-town to make a lane for her at the stage entrance. She was found today, in a little one-room apartment.

"For me," she said, "The Merry Widow is laid away in lavender. I left musical comedy ages ago, and returned to straight drama—a safe drama. I don't want to do anything to spoil the illusion of my first Sonia. I want her to remain perpetually a golden and elusive memory."

As for Brian, that lean-limbed youngster who was a stage hero in 1897 is nominated as the Fanny Ward of male actors. He looks exactly as he did 35 years ago. And dances almost as well.

The naughtiness of two-year-old Victoria, the fastest flapper in the New York zoo, is just now providing annoying hours for her keepers. They want to do their best by the little 850-pound rhinoceros, but she doesn't like her surroundings, and she makes her feelings clear every time the keepers approach.

It takes two to feed Victoria. One has to attract her raging attention elsewhere, while the other shovels into her cage 50 pounds of hay, a tub of carrots, apples, cabbages, turnips and half a dozen loaves of bread.

Victoria is a new arrival at the zoo. She replaces the first Victoria, a majestic lady with two horns, who lived peacefully and contentedly within her restricted world for twenty-seven years.

Dr. W. Reid Blair, director of the zoo, is hopeful. "When Victoria gets accustomed to her surroundings," he said, "she'll stop her nonsense." The New York Singing Teachers association disapproves of crooning and crooners as heartily as Cardinal O'Connell of Boston.

But the singing teachers content themselves with calling the soft-memphose type of larynx agitation merely "distorted and devalitized," whereas the cardinal, it will be remembered, called crooning "ribald and revolting." The association complimented Cardinal O'Connell.

Developing from Italian slang, the word "Bacigalupo" is rapidly joining such expressions as "I'll be sein' ya" in New York's changing patois. Search for the originator of the word, which means almost anything from "baloney" to "applesauce," leads to No. 26 Mulberry street, where there is an ancient funeral parlor. In the early days, a Signor Bacigalupo, with the aid of one of his horses and a rickety hack, conducted an undertaking establishment. A saying became current with his race—"Bacigalupo will get you at last." Today, they have cut off the final "o," and so it's "Bacigalupo" to you.
