RIVER CREWS AGAIN GOING FULL BLAST; BARRIERS WILL PROTECT TUNNELS AGAINST FLASH FLOOD

New Bridge Now Spans Stream To Aid In Construction

With operations resumed during the past few days at all of the major tunnel portals, scenes of action resembling river activities before the recent high water, when approximately 3,700 men were employed, are again in evidence day and night.

INVERT REMOVED
Invert sections of lower three and four, and upper one, two and three tunnels are being removed while bench heading working is going on in upper four and lower number one tunnels.

Trimming operation and the scaling of loose muck and rock from tunnel and outer canyon walls is going on coincidental with other work.

Pile and truss work which was damaged or carried away by the recent flood waters on their mud rush through the narrow canyon have been replaced and a new bridge spans the river.

Preparations are being made of care for any flash floods such as the one just experienced. River banks are being raised with muck which is being taken from all tunnels.

BUILD DAMS

Concrete dams are being built at tunnel mouths. Despite the fact they are comparatively small, they will be sufficiently strong to withstand the tremendous pressure of the river should it again rise to flood stage. In the event of a rise of water to a level higher than that already experienced, these arched dams can quickly be built higher.

Every effort is being made and diligent precaution is being taken to avoid a recurrence of flood waters entering the tunnels again.

This action can easily be understood when it is known that the last flood waters have caused a loss to the Six Companies of a large sum of money to say nothing of the time lost in removing silt deposits which in some places are two feet in depth.

MOAPA NEWS NOTES

Sponsored by the Ladies Relief society of Logandale, a program and dance was held on Thursday evening in celebration of the bicentennial of George Washington's birthday. A one-act play, "The Return of George and Martha," was given with the following cast: George Washington, Dee Whipple; Martha Washington, Margaret Wells; Modern homemakers, Mr. and Mrs. Mads Jorgensen, Jr. A local orchestra in charge of Dee Whipple furnished dance music. The ladies served punch and cake and gave away a beautiful quilt at the close of the party. Mr. Vernon Mills won the prize.

A meeting of the farm bureau was held in Overton Thursday. Among farm bureau projects for this year is a study of taxation and possible means of a tax reduction.

Mads Jorgensen and Miss Elaine Jorgensen spent Wednesday in Boulder City.

Today marks the close of the serving of a hot lunch at the school by the home economics class for the past three months. The lunch has been served at cost, and paid for by the parents of the children coming on the school bus. During the cold weather this service has been very much appreciated by the students.

Mrs. Elmer Bowman is ill with influenza.

Mrs. Effie Syphus and Mrs. Dinah Chaburn of the primary stake board at St. Thomas, attended the primary session here Wednesday afternoon.

Billie, the small son of Mrs. Jean A. Strasser, had the misfortune to get his arm in a power wringer on Thursday. He received serious bruises to his arm and shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owens spent a couple of days in Las Vegas last week-end.

TRAVAIL OF WAR PRODUCES 'LAND OF PEACE'

The new Republic of Ankuo came into being February 18 when the Executive Committee of the North-east formally declared its independence both of China and Japan, and adopted as its flag the five-barred banner of the old Manchu dynasty in China, with the rising sun of Japan superimposed. Henry Pu-Yi (left), former "boy emperor" of China and scion of the ancient Manchu rulers, was reported chosen as head of the new state, which embraces all of Manchuria and possibly parts of Inner Mongolia.

By Associated Press

Ankuo—"The Land of Peace"—takes its place on the world's maps as the child of war.

The ancient empire of the Manchus virtually has been reborn in the establishment of the independent state of Ankuo, to be ruled over nominally, at least, by the descendant of the powerful Manchu rulers who reached out in the seventeenth century to seize the Dragon Throne of China.

Ankuo, which declared its independence both of China and Japan in a formal declaration by the Executive Committee of the North-east February 18, embraces all of Manchuria, and its vague western boundaries may include also parts of Inner Mongolia.

It was from this homeland that the ancestors of Henry Pu-Yi, the westernized "Boy Emperor" of the old China, reached out to establish the powerful Manchu dynasty at Peking.

Their rule of China lasted four centuries—just long enough for Henry Pu-Yi to have a few years of homage as an infant occupant of the Dragon Throne.

Then the dynasty toppled in the revolution of 1911. Since then Henry Pu-Yi has been a throneless emperor, save for one abortive attempt to re-establish the empire.

With the birth of Ankuo, however, the way again was opened for him to occupy a throne in his ancestors' homeland.

The circumstances of the birth of the new state recall how Korea, the former "hermit kingdom" occupying the peninsula southeast of Manchuria, went through similar experiences following the 1894-5 war between Japan and China and the crashing conflict a decade later between Japan and Russia.

When Port Arthur went first under Russian control, Japan thought of Korea as a Muscovite "dagger pointed at her heart." So the ancient land, with a history dating back to the twelfth century, B. C., became a bone of contention between Tokyo and Peking. Its disposition was the immediate cause of the 1894-5 war.

The treaty that ended those hostilities embraced a Chinese recognition of the independence of Korea, and the Treaty of Portsmouth, which Theodore Roosevelt engineered between Hooseok and Tokyo, recognized Japan's paramount interest in the peninsula.

The Korean monarch gradually became only a puppet, and in 1910 the country was quietly annexed to Japan with the consent of its own government.

MAN HELD AFTER STATION ROBBED

Accused of having stolen two five dollar bills from the cash register of an Alameda Oil company service station, D. A. Smith, giving the Purple Seal as his address, was jailed last night on charges of petty larceny.
Smith's accuser is said to be the driver of a gasoline truck, who claims he saw the theft committed while the attendant was servicing Smith's car.
Smith denied the theft last night, but was held for further investigation. The $10 was not on Smith's person when he was booked at the station.

HELP START A GOLD BOOM

We Need It

The Eldorado Empire Mining Company is an Arizona Corporation with a Capital of 1,000,000 shares of a par value of ONE DOLLAR per share of which 970,000 shares are outstanding and 30,000 shares in the Treasury. The Company owns the "Black Hawk" patented Mine, which is now developed and ready to produce GOLD, but the mine lacks a mill and water to run it. However, I own a mill and water rights developed nearby, which I have arranged to rent to the Company. This mill can be set up within 90 days. The mine is located in the center of Eldorado Canyon, just 15 miles South of the Boulder Dam site, in Clark County, Nevada.

In order to bring this mine to the producing stage after the stockholders had done all they were able to do I loaned the Company $85,000 for which they gave me 6 per cent notes due June 8, 1934. There is now due an additional $10,000 in interest, making a total of $95,000 now due me. The Company has now given me permission (after I made at my expense in the mine probably the greatest strike ever made in Clark County) to set up my mill on the mine and take out in gold the $95,000 coming to me, after which the profits will go to pay dividends on the capital stock.

In order to carry through this program I must borrow at a time when money is tight. But my necessity is your opportunity. The following offer is so attractive that you cannot afford to pass it by: I own the Company's note for $10,000, for which I paid cash. This note is payable on or before June 8, 1934, with accumulated interest at 6 per cent per annum. I propose to put up this note for security and against it issue $10,000 of my own personal notes in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000, same to run to June 8, 1934, with interest at 6 per cent per annum. For every dollar you lend me on my note I will give you as a bonus one share of my personal stock in the Company. (If you bought this stock from the Company, you would pay the par value of One Dollar per share. Then we will erect my mill, take out the $10,000 in gold, with which we will repay your note with interest and you will own a block of stock in the Eldorado Empire Mine, that has cost you nothing.

C. E. L. GRESH,
