FUNNY ROMANCE ENDS AT ALTAR FOR HANNA GIRL

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., March 9. (U.P.)—A romance that appeared to Ruth Hanna McCormick to be "screamingly funny" a year ago led her to an improvised altar in her Broadmoor home where she was married to Albert Gallatin Simms today.

When Mrs. McCormick visited Simms' sister, Mrs. William Eels, in Albuquerque a year ago she was asked about reports that she intended to marry Simms.

"Reports of any romance are screamingly funny," she responded. "It wasn't long afterward however that Mrs. McCormick got up at dawn and motored miles to meet the doughty westerner at 6:30 a. m., as he stepped from a train at Streater, Ill.
