BOULDER CITY SCHOOLS

SENATOR ODDIE is making vigorous efforts to secure special authorization for funds for schools in Boulder City.

Through some quirk in the imagination of somebody at a government desk, it was decided that education was not a part of the Boulder dam project. That everything else in the nature of business and pleasure could be done except build and operate schools. So it takes a special act of congress.

While attempting to provide schools for next year at Boulder City, Senator Oddie is also seeking to secure repayment to the Las Vegas schools of the cost of caring for Boulder City school children the past year.

The unusual situation caused a severe drain on the resources of the Las Vegas schools which congress should promptly recognize by providing funds for repayment.

WHY NOT TAXES?

THE QUESTION of why privately owned property within the reservation should not be assessed and taxed for county and state purposes is again uppermost in the public mind of Las Vegas.

We were asked to wait until the courts had decided the question before asking relief from congress. Which means, assuming that the court rules such privately owned property may be taxed, that appeals and delays will be resorted to which will finally entirely defeat the object sought.

There is no good reason why those private interests within the reservation should not pay their full county and state taxes just as any other person is required to do.

Otherwise unfair competition is created. The ruling exempting reservation residents and their property from taxation is in no degree justified. And if that policy is carried out it will bring nothing to the United States treasury, but simply add to the profits which the contractors will make on the job.

If Six Companies, Inc., is required to pay taxes on their property, it will be doing them no injustice, because they included such taxes in their estimates and fully expected to pay them as part of the expense of doing the work.

The Age believes that it is time for our senators and representatives in congress to tackle this problem seriously with full determination to fight it through to a successful conclusion. To do otherwise will result only in injury to the people of Clark county, already heavily burdened by the additional expenses placed upon her by the Boulder dam project.

In carrying on in this matter, we may take comfort also that all such expenses are only temporary advances by the treasury and will ultimately be repaid through the power rates collected by the government.

SPRING, ROMANCE COME TO VEGAS

Las Vegas in the springtime looks good to romantic couples altar-bound, if one can believe the statements made by Dewey Lee Tietzen and his bride of yesterday afternoon, Jessymae Ballard.

Miss Ballard became Mrs. Tietzen yesterday in the office of Judge Frank M. Ryan, Las Vegas' marrying justice. Tietzen is from San Francisco, while his bride hails from Oakland 'cross the bay. Both said that they would spend their honeymoon on the coast but planned to return here to live.

If Mrs. F. V. Conolly will call at the Age office she will receive a free ticket, good for today only at El Portal theater.

HOPPE IN THE CHICAGO, Mar. 11. (U.P.)—Willie Hoppe moved into a tie for second place in the all-star, three-cushion billiard tournament today by defeating Allen Hall, the leader, 40 to 34, in 38 innings.

FRIDAY IN CONGRESS

HOUSE— W. A. Moody, president of the St. Louis livestock exchange, accused C. B. Henman, federal farm board member, of refusing to grant drought loans to dairymen not members of co-operative organizations.

J. C. Hunsaker, vice president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Co., told the commerce committee his company is ready to build and operate a fleet of trans-Atlantic zeppelins provided congress provides an air-mail subsidy.

Rep. Laguardia, Repn., N. Y., announced house liberals would oppose the proposed sales tax.

K. C. Li, Chinese importer and silver expert, told the silver subcommittee that China adopted the 16 to 1 ratio of gold and silver 2,600 years before it was advocated by Williams Jennings Bryan.

SENATE— Military affairs committee reported favorably the nomination of Secretary of State Stimson as brigadier general in the auxiliary reserve.

Passed house resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to investigate and report on the feasibility of a six hour day on railroads.

Defeated 34 to 32 an amendment to the interior department appropriation bill which would have authorized President Hoover to proceed with reorganization of executive agencies of the government.

F. E. Schmitt, editor of the Engineering News Record, predicted before a subcommittee that cities would cut their construction projects by a billion dollars in 1932.

Rail Splinters

The present "bumping" season was started by Engineer Hanna, who told Geo. Doyle out of a peaceful berth—with the result that, Doyle bumped "Lightweight" Tom Midren, who in turn lead "his right to bump" and put M. M. Jones out in the 2nd district freight. In other contests Canfield put E. O. Cook clear off the board, and on the way into Los Angeles—some bump! And our good friend, Fireman Healy, who was just looking on, got a hot one from Fireman Anderson. So it shows the "bumpers" are still active, but not the old day ones—not in Las Vegas anyway.

B. M. Prescott was in Las Vegas Friday for a little while. He has been busy and, desiring a little let up, he spent the day at Jean. Mr. Prescott tells us that "Bud" Barlet for several years chief clerk for master mechanic at this point, has purchased the right to sell Arrowhead water in Los Angeles. We always knew that "Bud" was a firm believer in the "water wagon" and is still continuing. Best of luck, old timer.

What's the matter with Hanna? Well, he's just alright. He bumped our friend Geo. Doyle and now he has bid in the 9 a. m. switch at Fremont the same having been vacated by S. B. Wenger. He has bid in the run on the through freight out of Las Vegas to Callente the same having been vacated by Fireman C. S. England.

Federal Boiler Inspector Snodgrass accompanied Engine House Foreman J. H. Sumner to the Hoover dam Thursday.

Sam Hanni, who was with the J. P. at this point for several years, is now working at the Hoover dam.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"Why, Helen, I haven't seen you in months! Let's go to a movie—I have so many things to tell you!"

MANHATTAN MIRRORS

BY THE UNITED PRESS NEW YORK, March 11 (U.P.)—Resentment over the location of the population center of New York in a Queens cemetery so stirred Charles H. Buckley (of the Broadway Buckleys) that all by himself he moved it to Times Square.

"I hereby return the center of population to Broadway, the heart of the world, where there is always room for a little more dirt," Mr. Buckley said with fine oratorical effect, as he dumped a beer-pail full of dirt into the Square in front of a newsstand at the most famous subway kiosk in the world.

Sometime during the night one of his emissaries, or perhaps Mr. Buckley himself, had visited the Calvary graveyard and therefrom removed the pail of soil.

At the age of 80, Ernest Ingersoll, noted naturalist, has turned his attention to dragons. "I never saw a dragon," the scientist explains, but that doesn't mean I'm not interested in them.

What he actually is interested in, outside of real paleontology, biology and similar sciences, is the fascinating story of how fire-breathing monsters were invented in pre-Babylonian days, spreading from Persia into the far east, where they became religious and decorative symbols.

And also how they came back to Europe to annoy the knights of the dim ages, who were continually forced to battle them. At least, that's what the knights told the girls they left back home.

The appearance of a venerable Chinese in Newark who calls himself Mock Duck recalled today the sad tale of the original Mock Duck, one time ruler of Chinatown, and how he lost the apple of his eye, little Ha Oi.

Powerful, boss over the Hop Sing's, wily leader of the most successful band of gambling racketeers of the day, Mock Duck adopted a little American girl and called her Ha Oi. The little girl was the idol not only of Mock Duck but of Mock Duck's fat wife. Clad in brilliant pajamas, her hair braided, she could be seen running up and down Mott and Pell and Doyers streets, happy as a lark. Every bit of Chinese luxury that Mock Duck could provide was given her.

Then the American courts stepped in, decided that Mock Duck was getting himself arrested too often, and that Chinatown was no environment for the child.

Mock Duck spent a fortune trying to have the case reversed. But in the end Ha Oi went back into white society under the name of Helen Smith. Mock Duck never saw her again, and later he himself disappeared.

Charles Lemaire, who designs the costumes worn by the girls Flo Ziegfeld glorifies, made the startling announcement today that "the day of the flashy dresser, on or off the stage, is over."

Mr. Lemaire explained that it is too difficult to live up to a vivid dress, and that the girl who stuns an audience by appearing at the head of a staircase in a sensational gown, turns out to be a washout by the time she has descended.

Incidentally, it was revealed that Fifth Avenue couturiers send their stylists to every Ziegfeld opening, to copy any new designs Mr. Lemaire may have thought up.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Age: March 10, 1932.

For several weeks I have had it forced upon my attention that the un-patrolled Las Vegas - Boulder City highway is particularly hazardous at night. Recently I have heard so many comments in Boulder City to the same effect that I feel I should bring it to your attention and ask you to exert what influence you can to make this road safer.

Reckless driving alone is not responsible for the many accidents, "one eyed cars" glaring headlights, and spotlights have been the cause of more than one crash. I have heard it said in Boulder City that there had been more fatalities on the Boulder-Vegas highway than in the canyon. I have also heard more than one man in this city say that until something was done to make the road safer at night, neither their wives nor children would be permitted to drive at night on the highway.

We hear much from Las Vegas business men seeking Boulder City business and trade. Perhaps they would get more if their prospective patrons were not afraid to make the drive.

Then, too, it does seem as though the county government owes its citizens some protection. Sincerely, A BOULDERITE.

Walter Roderick Porter vs. Almyra Basden Porter. Ham & Taylor, attorneys for plaintiff. Decree of divorce entered.

Elda Ban vs. Nicholas Ban. C. D. Breeze, attorney for plaintiff. Decree of divorce granted.

Hazel Bundesman vs. Charles Bundesman. Roland H. Wiley, attorney for plaintiff. Decree of divorce granted.

Boulder Lumber & Supply company vs. Thomas Harris, et al. J. R. Lewis, attorney for plaintiff. Decree of foreclosure of mechanics lien granted as prayed for.

A. C. Grant vs. W. M. Lawson. J. R. Lewis, attorney for plaintiff. Judgment entered for amount prayed for in complaint.

HELP START A GOLD BOOM We Need It . . . The Eldorado Empire Mining Company is an Arizona Corporation with a Capital of 1,000,000 shares of a par value of ONE DOLLAR per share of which 970,000 shares are outstanding and 30,000 shares in the Treasury. The Company owns the "Black Hawk" patented Mine, which is now developed and ready to produce GOLD, but the mine lacks a mill and water to run it. However, I own a mill and water rights developed nearby, which I have arranged to rent to the Company. This mill can be set up within 90 days. The mine is located in the center of Eldorado Canyon, just 15 miles South of the Boulder Dam site, in Clark County, Nevada. In order to bring this mine to the producing stage after the stockholders had done all they were able to do I loaned the Company $85,000 for which they gave me 4 per cent notes due June 8, 1934. There is now due an additional $10,000 in interest, making a total of $95,000 now due me. The Company has now given me permission (after I made at my expense in the mine probably the greatest strike ever made in Clark County) to set up my mill on the mine and take out in gold the $95,000 coming to me, after which the profits will go to pay dividends on the capital stock. In order to carry through this program I must borrow at a time when money is tight. But my necessity is your opportunity. The following offer is so attractive that you cannot afford to pass it by: I own the Company's note for $10,000, for which I paid cash. This note is payable on or before June 8, 1934, with accumulated interest at 6 per cent per annum. I propose to put up this note for security and against it issue $10,000 of my own personal notes in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000, same to run to June 8, 1934, with interest at 6 per cent per annum. For every dollar you lend me on my note I will give you as a bonus one share of my personal stock in the Company. (If you bought this stock from the Company, you would pay the par value of One Dollar per share. Then we will erect my mill, take out the $10,000 in gold, with which we will repay your note with interest and you will own a block of stock in the Eldorado Empire Mine, that has cost you nothing. C. E. L. GRESH, Box 368, Las Vegas, Nevada, or Eldorado Empire Mine in Eldorado Canyon. P. S.—Our next work opens the mine on the 400-foot inclined level where bonanza ore is possible.
