PETROLLE COMPLETES GRIND FOR BATTLE WITH BATTALINO

Doesn't Think Much | CADDIES OUT OF Of Bat As Ring General

By STUART CAMERON

(United Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, Mar. 22. (U.P.)—With about as much emotion as a garageman displays pumping up a spare, Billy Petrolle today finished preparations for his 12-round bout with Christopher (Bat) Battalino.

The favorite in New York's most talked-of bout in months, Petrolle hiked to the Pioneer gym, stepped into ring clothes, worked four rounds, showered, dressed and went

He took out time enough to promise this writer a full set of thrills in the Thursday night meeting.

"All I hope is he comes in to me, Petrolle said. "You ought to know why that is. Remember how Mc-Larnin came in and how I set him back? Next time he stood off and boxed and he got the decision." Does Petrolle think he will knock out Battalino?

"I'm not saying I will, but don't be surprised if I do. One thing I him out if he comes in, comes in, and keeps coming in. But if he long range the going may be dif-
