BUDGET BALANCING HITS LUXURIES FIRST; BUT NEAR NECESSITIES MAY FEEL PINCH

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—Congress has barred the phantom figure of Uncle Sam, tax collector, from the pantry, the easy chair and the clothes closet but he will probably ride in the family car, listen in on the radio and peer into milady's make-up box.

In the tax schedule recommended by the ways and means committee as a substitute for the defeated manufacturers' sales tax and rushed through the house there are several family budget items considered in the strictly luxury class, some of the quasi-necessary type and a very few generally regarded as real necessities.

NEAR-NECESSITIES INCLUDED

Rated as luxuries, although many of the millions of users have come to consider some of them as necessities, are cosmetics, furs, jewelry, sporting goods and cameras, yachts and motor boats, candy, chewing gum and beverages.

In the quasi-luxury class are such things as radios and phonographs, tickets to amusement places, mechanical refrigerators, safety deposit boxes and passenger automobiles.

The automobile industry, many car owners and probably a majority of congressmen believe that the motor car has become a necessity.

Race manufacturers also have told congress that the radio is just as much a necessity as a refrigerator or a washing machine, while the theater owners insist they provide the public with an educational and recreational necessity.

BALANCING HELD VITAL

Members of congress say they are opposed in principle to the assessment of these excise taxes, but contend that the budget must be balanced at all cost at the earliest possible moment.

Of particular concern to the feminine members of the average household are levies of 10 per cent on cosmetics, furs and jewelry and a 5 per cent tax on candy.

Since taxes of this kind are usually passed on to the consumer, mother or Mary probably would pay $1.10 for a jar of cold cream or a bottle of perfume that now costs them $1, or more likely the amount they could get for a dollar would be reduced to take care of the levy.

PRICE BOOSTS INDICATED

The $75 fur scarf would cost $82.50, the $200 diamond ring $220 and the 85-cent box of candy about 90 cents. Dad would find his golf equipment bill boosted 10 per cent and a $6 tennis racket would cost Johnny $6.60.

If the manufacturers' sales tax had been adopted, the average person who drives a $500 car, members

Faced with the problem of raising approximately $1,245,000,000 in order to balance his budget, Uncle Sam is considering the tax schedule suggested by the ways and means committee. Roughly the amounts estimated collectible from the various sources are indicated, along with a considerable item embracing economies.

Members of congress say, would have been the rate of one cent for each 10 cents or fraction. For example, a theater ticket with a base price of $2 would cost $2.20. Movie admission tickets selling for 45 cents or less would be exempt.

POSTAL INCREASE IMPORTANT

One of the largest sources of revenue would be the increase in the postal rates on letters from 2 to 3 cents. The recommended levy on matches. The levy on them is four cents per thousand, which probably would result in making the boxes smaller or in raising the price of 5 per cent.

The safety deposit box tax would be 10 per cent and that on the sale of stocks one-fourth of one per cent but not less than 4 cents a share.

MUSICIANS BALL AT VENETIAN IS HAILED AS HIT

The Venetian has twice played hos; to the musicians and their families, a preference being shown for the dance floor in the building by entertainers, professional dancers and patrons.

MILLS TO OPEN TAX BILL FIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—Secretary of Treasury Ogden Mills will appear tomorrow before the senate finance committee to open formally the senate fight on the billion dollar tax bill. Debate may be prolonged but no radical changes are expected in the measure that passed the house last week.

Mills will oppose the increased tax on stock dividends, in which many Republicans will support him. He may also oppose the increased stock market tax, which is being criticized by many regular Republicans in the senate, though overwhelmingly voted by the house.
