DESERT PLANTS

Most people think of "the desert" as being devoid of plant life. Yet we who are familiar with the interior portions of this great southwest, know that its plant life is varied and wonderful.

Peculiar to the arid region, the so-called desert flowers and plants have a rare and delicate beauty not found in other regions.

At first glance the stranger might almost be convinced that there is no such thing as vegetation. Yet more careful and close observation will show that there are many varieties of perfectly charming and beautiful forms of plant life.

Not all desert plant life is modest Just now we may observe many fine blooms on the bristling cacci, gorgeously brilliant in reds, yellows and shades of green. In fact some of the cacti are just ted his identity. about as loud and garish as color can make them.
