

ROTH WINS DECISION IN BATTLE WITH FARRELL AS SUB FOR JOE WILLIAMS

By BOB SHERIDAN
The wind-up between Johnny Roth and substitute Warren Farrell in the American Legion fight card in Las Vegas last night almost wound up in a free-for-all. Farrell started out good and for three rounds made Roth look bad. A right swing in the fourth round dropped Farrell for the count of nine. He came back fighting mad and in the mixup walked into another looping right that floored him again.

He bounced up at the bell, dizzy, but walked to his corner, where his seconds worked feverishly to clear away the old sob-wabs.

Coming out for the sixth, Warren worked that left hand overtime, but Roth kept crowding him and slaming away with rights and lefts. They were in the midst of a furious exchange of punches when the final bell rang. At this moment Farrell's seconds jumped through the ropes and stormed Referee Hogan, denouncing him for not forcing Roth to take a neutral corner, when Farrell took a count in the fifth. Roth was given the decision, and the crowd seemed satisfied.

In a bedlam of boos and cheers, Mickey Wallace had his hand raised in the semi-final. Again Hogan called the fight as he saw it. We gave Wallace three rounds, and Grey two, one being even. Mickey received a slight cut over his left eye, but it was not serious. A rematch between the two would settle the question, the fans at present being almost equally divided as to who won.

Dick Schwartz, as we predicted, did lower the boom, in the second round, and Chick Weaver called it an evening. Weaver looked promising, but could not weather the barrage of gloves thrown by Dick. Weaver sure took plenty and a man with less guts would have stopped long before he did.

Ernie Smith of Las Vegas lost on a technical knockout to Harry Simmons, when Referee Al Shannon stopped the bout to save Smith further punishment; nice work on Shannon's part, and helps the game.

A miniature colored boy, not over 12 years old, furnished the comedy of the night, when he boxed young Farrell, brother of Warren, to a draw. They were about the same age and weight and labored mightily during the four 2-minute rounds. Coming as it did at the opening of the show, it put the crowd in good humor for the balance of the card.

Stecher Jensen of Boulder City and Fred Hueston opened the show with what was to be one hour of wrestling, one fall to decide the issue. After eight minutes of tugging and mauling, Jensen applied a hammerlock and half-nelson. Once more Referee Shannon stepped in and prevented what might have meant a broken arm, by calling Jensen winner.

It was a big happy crowd. Time-keeper Deadrich, with a new hammer, and the bouts run off on time. Postmaster Ryerse announced from the ring that the Legion's big annual cabaret show will be held at the Meadows next Saturday night. He promised a bigger and better show than ever.

FANS RIDING ON CHANCES OF A'S

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, April 8. (U.P.)—It being an old sports tradition to ride with the champions until they fall, a large majority of the baseball fans are stringing along with the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals to repeat in the National and American leagues, respectively.

The Athletics will start the same team that won the pennant in '29, '30, and '31. The only change in the team's roster is among the extra players. In standing pat on his 1931 line-up, Manager Mack did the sensible thing. For after all, there is not much to improve on a club that won 107 games, the second best performance in the history of the league.

The Athletics will depend upon the big five for success. The big five, as you well know, is composed of Pitchers Grove and Earnshaw, Catcher Cochrane, Outfielder Simmons, and First Baseman Jimmy Foss.

Grove may not have another such year as he did in 1931 when he won 31 games while losing but four, but he is almost a dead cinch to win 25. The outfield will be the same, Simmons, Haas and Miller. The last named is slowing up fast, but if he is forced from the lineup, Mack has two exceptional reserves in Coleman and Cramer. Coleman hit like a wild man in the spring games and is likely to see quite a bit of pinch-hitting work.

The infield will be the same as faced the Cards in the last world series, with Foss on first; Bishop, second; Dib Williams, short, and Dykes, third. Mack is well fixed for infield reserves with Oscar Roetger, Bokey and McNair.

Cochrane, while not in the best of health, is still the best catcher in baseball. He'll be assisted by Heving and Madjeski.

The Athletics can slump a little and still be a mighty tough bunch to whip.

The Cardinals also will send out the same old starting lineup. The only major change made during the winter was the disposal of Burreigh Grimes. When he got rid of Burreigh, Manager Street counted on Tex Carleton and Dizzy Dean, a couple of rookie pitchers, to make up for his absence.

MAY ORGANIZE 4-CITY BALL LEAGUE

Tom Williams and Bert Smith, veteran players on the Las Vegas baseball team are forming tentative plans for the forming of a semi-professional desert baseball league.

The cities of Las Vegas, Boulder City, Needles, and Kingman would be incorporated into the league and would play on a regular schedule throughout the summer.

Williams and Smith will have ample support from local fans as well as civic organizations in the four cities. The recent opening of the new roadway to Kingman and Needles and the modern, hard-surfaced Boulder City highway is expected to make more feasible the organizing of the league as transportation costs between these points will be materially reduced.

The Las Vegas nine meets the Boulder City team Sunday to play the third game of the current season, an interesting contest is expected as the count is now even, each team having won one game.

POISON ON GRASS CAUSE OF WONDER HORSE'S DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8. (U.P.)—Phar Lap, great Australian horse that died suddenly at Menlo Park, possibly was poisoned by spray.

W. W. Vincent, chief of the western district of the food and drug administration, so declared today after R. U. Bonnar, chemist for the bureau, had analyzed grass from patches where Phar Lap was known to have grazed.

Arsenic spray possibly blew on the grass while being applied to oak trees, Vincent said. He declared small quantities were found on the grass.
