

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By OTTO E. STRUM (United Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, April 11. (U.P.) — A jump of more than 3 cents a bushel in the price of wheat put a temporary stop to selling on the stock exchange today, but when leading stocks had recovered slightly from their lows the market reverted to recent type and closed lower.

Mindful that a rising wheat market had blazed the trail out of several business depressions in the past, shorts covered some of their commitments when the wires from Chicago buzzed with stories of booming wheat—the result of a real crop scare in the southwest.

Prior to this development the market had given ground steadily from the opening on until many of the leaders were selling at the lowest prices since the outbreak of the World War. Trading was somewhat lighter than in recent sessions, but the steady stream of selling told an eloquent story of the country's present financial state of mind.

Wall street hung on every word of Richard Whitney's testimony before the senate finance committee, but the popular president of the stock exchange didn't start anybody bidding for stocks. Some of the satisfaction felt at his elimination of indiscriminate talk of bear-raids was offset by the fact that a lot of people were disappointed that the much-touted investigation would be confined, for the present at least, to Whitney's testimony.

Steel dropped to 33 today, the lowest since the war. Later the market's proverbial leader rallied to 34%, but slid off again to close at 33%, off 1%. Similar action took place in other leaders, including General Motors, Du Pont, American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Auburn and Union Carbide. Closing prices of these stocks were anywhere from 1 to 3 points lower.

Consolidated Gas took a lot of punishment in leading another wide decline in the hard-pressed utility group and closed at 50%, off 2%, after having sold as low as 49%.

Rails were sold pretty heavily and new lows were made by New York Central, Atchafalaya, Union Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio. Oils moved in a comparatively narrow range. Stocks of harvester, mail order and other companies whose profits depend on purchasing power down on the farm enjoyed a temporary spurt with wheat, but reacted again before the close. Among these were Sears, Roebuck, Montgomery Ward and International Harvester.

Some special issues were singled out for heavy selling. These included National Biscuit and Congress Cigar preferred issues. There was nothing in the business news over the week-end or today to lend any cheer and furnish the grounds for a rally and this, after all, was the main reason why the late upturn was just another flash in the pan. Skies over the bond market were just as cloudy and even the popular United States government issues lacked their usual recent support and went down with the lower grade securities. Cotton was spurred by the rise in wheat and retrieved all of an earlier loss of about 50 cents a bale, closing slightly higher.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AT BOULDER DEDICATED WITH FULL RITES

The Right Reverend Thomas K. Gorman, bishop of the diocese of Reno, dedicated the new Catholic church in Boulder City amid the full splendor of the rites of the Roman Catholic church Sunday.

Dedication of the new church to the Spirit of St. Andrew took place at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and was attended by many business and social leaders from Las Vegas, Boulder City and Searchlight.

The eloquence of the Reverend Bishop Gorman as he addressed the largest group of Catholic church dignitaries of Nevada and California ever gathered in one place in southern Nevada, will live in the memory of all those present for many years to come.

Father Hogan welcomed the guests at the dinner following the ceremony.

Walker Young, construction engineer of Hoover dam, congratulated the Catholics upon the dispatch with which they completed their church building and stressed the value of the church in maintaining the stability which the government desires on the Hoover dam project.

Slms Ely, Boulder City manager, expressed pleasure in the fact that the community will have the strong, uplifting influence of Father Hogan.

Frank McGrath spoke in behalf of the Catholic laity, thanking the Mission society for making construction of the church possible by its financial support. He spoke of the wonderful support Father Hogan received to his letters sent out for the purpose of getting attendance of men for organization of the Holy Names society, 38 men being present at the first meeting and 43 at the second.

Father O'Grady spoke of the early efforts he and Father Hogan made toward founding the Boulder City church, from the time the town was desert wasteland.

Father Lambe expressed the great interest of the visiting churchmen in the new church and also the Hoover dam project.

Monsignor Hines spoke of the wonderful fellowship in Boulder City. He remarked that the Lord showed wisdom in selecting for Nevada a young bishop, and for Boulder City a young priest with great zeal.

Bishop Gorman thanked the government for its assistance in establishing the Boulder City church, congratulating the local Catholics upon formation of their Holy Names society, thanked Father Hogan, in whose parish Boulder City is located, for his work in the new community.

The Boulder City church was constructed under the direction of Father Cuthbert E. Hogan, at a cost of $6,500, and ranks as the first church built in the federal domain where, according to reports, Father Hogan has an enrollment of more than 300 members.

Better Times are Coming!

Don't be Discouraged!

Don't lose the will to win . . . don't join the pessimists who see naught but disaster ahead— During a previous depression, the government had to issue paper "Clearing House Certificates" as a substitute for money. Conditions were just as bad, only we have forgotten. Prosperity has always followed bad times—this is one of the laws of business cycles. Now is the time to substitute the word "Reconstruction" for "depression." Don't be discouraged. Lend a hand to reestablish confidence. America will see this through and emerge victorious. Better times are coming."
