LILY DAMITA AND RUGGLES IN NEW EL PORTAL SHOW

The gay talkie of marital complications "This Is The Night," which was the outstanding picture success in Los Angeles last week at the Paramount theater, bringing to that theater the biggest box office business since "Scarface" is El Portal theater's feature attraction at today's matinee and evening performances.

The cast of fun-makers is headed by Chas. Ruggles, well remembered for his comedy parts with Chevalier, Roland Young, Thelma Todd, Lily Damita and Cary Grant, the new "he-man" newcomer to the screen.

The story has to do with a bachelor bride on a synthetic honeymoon—pursued by three persistent suitors. It is naughty, tuneful, romantic and funny—comedy-romance filled with volcanic fun. Los Angeles reviewers class it as one of the films not to be missed.

El Portal's program also includes a Chic Sales comedy, latest MGM News and special numbers on the Wurliizer organ by Miss Carolyn Selby.

Mr. and Mrs. Lath Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wolf of San Bernardino are spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Yates.

C. Wilson, Harvey Dondoro, and Leonard Sledge.

In the afternoon the Misses Rawson were entertained by Miss Virginia Garside, a Gamma Phi sorority sister, at the Garside ranch, north of town. A delightful swim in the Garsides' swimming pool was an enjoyable feature of the afternoon.

If O. T. Buck will call at the theater box office, he will receive a free ticket, good for today only at El Portal theater.
