CONSTITUTION CHANGE

WITH ALL of this talk about prohibition, and some manner for overcoming the eighteenth amendment, it seems timely to give the way in which it could be accomplished, should the nation so decide.

The portion of Article V of the constitution which would apply to change the amendment is as follows:

"The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to the constitution, or on the application of the legislature of two-thirds of the several states, or by convention in three-fourths thereof, as by one or the other mode or ratification may be proposed by the congress."

The remainder of the article applies only prior to 1808 or is a safeguard against depriving any state of equal suffrage in the senate.

REACHING CRIME

SENATOR Glenn of Illinois had a happy inspiration the other day when he offered an amendment to the tax bill laying a hundred per cent tax upon all incomes obtained by crime.

The amendment was promptly adopted and doubtless will be written into the law.

That certainly is one way to end the "partnership" between the government and crime—by giving all the profits to one of the partners and sending the other to jail!

Hitherto law violators have been able to render themselves immune to prosecution so far as the government was concerned merely by declaring their income to the internal revenue bureau and paying the tax.

Al Capone got himself into trouble, not by the crimes through which he derived his income, but by failing to declare that income and to pay the tax on it.

If the Glenn amendment had been in the law a year ago Mr. Capone would not now be looking forward with complacency to a life of ease when he has served his prison sentence through the enjoyment of his ill-gotten gains.

Something new and startling in the Santini-Deane murder cases is that they do not, according to an unofficial source, "the source" also whispers "liquor" in the same connection.

How about the numerical method of picking race horses, in vogue here lately? You assign numbers to each horse in a race, and to each of his past performances.

Then there are the roulette systems... and I'll take vanilla.

AROUND THE TOWN

with The Age Staff

WRITERS on the loose! What with all the recent publicity on the bonus army, and their universal playing up of their "top kicks," it was with a thrill of pleasure we spied a real honest-to-goodness army sergeant, in uniform and everything, strolling down Fremont street, the other evening. He seemed lost.

Wildcat stagers have been the target for state highway police for so, these many months, and it was thought that they had been stopped. Now comes the dope on two of them operating here for the past several weeks, entering and leaving between days.

They operate as telegraph means of the full usage of telegraph facilities. When a load is ready to leave, the proper party is notified by wire and a car sneaks in and picks them up. And when a load is in-bound, a wire from the starting point gets the necessary okay.

The reason for the campaign against these drivers is the number of complaints against similar stagers. It seems that a wildcat loads up here, starts for Los Angeles or Salt Lake City, and stops at some intermediate point. There the driver says he wants to visit a friend for an hour or so, and that the passenger's stuff is left in the car. He drives away, and needless to say, the passengers never see their belongings again.

Spied an attractive woman seated on the U. P. station front yard yesterday, all dolled up in well-worn overalls, and calmly discussing freight schedules with two men similarly dressed. Which is a sign of something or other.

Then there was the man seated on the running board of a car at Second and Fremont street, holding a punched-out punchboard, and deep in the intricacies of the figures. Figuring the percentages?

Sign on a south Second street window. "Rabbits, Fryers—also pets." In this day and age, when would a pet rabbit change to a fryer?

Speaking of signs, how about the one on "The James Joseph Tunney Mining Co.?"

MINUTE INTERVIEWS

A. W. HAM, chairman, Clark county Republican central committee: "I think it is time that the city of Las Vegas and Clark county become sufficiently interested in the future of the community to realize that unless they make united effort either to collect their just share of taxes from all sources within our boundaries, or confine our protection, governmental and educational facilities to that portion in our boundaries paying taxes, we will have inroads upon our revenue that cannot be met."

How would you have enjoyed the feelings experienced by a local shoe store proprietor when he cashed $15 worth of six companies pay checks, and then remembered the bad check scare of a couple of days ago? He beat the stop watch getting to the bank... and was he relieved when they said the checks were okay!
