

LOSE FIGHT ON TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY RULE

called the conference, announced Walsh described the plank as demanding repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and immediate modification of the Volstead act. It will be presented to the resolutions sub-committee tomorrow, Walsh said.

All members of the resolutions committee attending the conference concurred in the plank, Walsh declared. He said he believed the proposed plank would have the support of "at least half" of the states. "If a plank less wet than the one we propose is adopted by the platform committee," Walsh said, "we will carry our fight for the plank to the floor of the convention."

Walsh indicated he probably would lead the convention floor battle if it materializes.

PROPOSED PLANK
The proposed plank was modeled from one submitted to the resolutions committee last Saturday by Michael Igoe of the Illinois delegation. Walsh said that a few minor revisions would be made in its wording, and that it would be made known tomorrow.

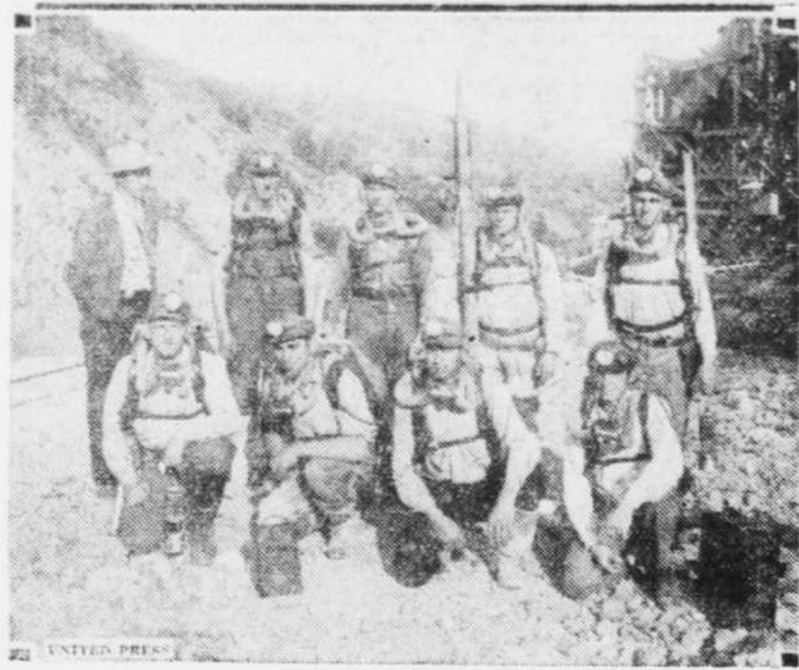

GERMAN PLAN IS REJECTED

LAUSANNE, June 27. (U.P.)—France rejected the German proposal for "amusement" of reparations payments tonight, but negotiations will be resumed Wednesday in an effort to reach a compromise.
"The German project for amusement of reparations is inadmissible for France," Premier Edouard Herriot told the press after a long conference with German Chancellor Franz von Papen and others.

SPECIALIZE IN HEROISM

Trained to dash through smoke, flame and gas to perform unsung deeds of heroism, the first aid crew of Mecho camp, Hitch Hetchy water project, proved itself the best of all such crews in California during a recent contest. Members of the crew, standing, left to right: S. M. Jarrett, instructor; Frank Holmes, Irving Walterite, Albert Kervonen and Charles Bishop; front row: Richard Black, George Van Over, H. G. Wentworth and Clement Stratton. The picture shows them with their gas masks and oxygen breathing apparatus.

SCREEN LIFE IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—When and if I write that play, the valet—if any—it will be named Jenner. Because the only valet I know is named Jenner and he is my idea of a perfect valet.
And, apparently, George Arliss is of the same opinion. Jenner has been in the Arliss service for more than a quarter of a century. He has grown stout and grey since he joined the actor when he was playing opposite Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske. Jenner, George Jenner, has been a marked figure in Hollywood since that day three years ago when he walked out into the middle of the first Arliss talking picture set, in front of the cameras and under the microphone, and announced to an astonished cast and crew that it was "4:30—time for Mr. Arliss to go home."
Arliss smiled and went home—and he has continued to do so whenever Jenner, watch in hand, has said it was time to do so.

FIXTURE ON THE SET

Jenner has become a fixture by now and no one worries about him. It is understood that he has only the interests of the actor at heart and that, in a round-about way he has the interest of the picture at heart, too.
Jenner studies each new Arliss script with all the attention of director, actor and technician rolled into one.
He pays slight attention to the

LIKES BEANS

"I like butter beans," said Guy Kibbee, helping himself to my untouched dish, having disposed of his own order. "They bring back memories."
The corpulent Mr. Kibbee's reddish face broke into that easy smile you must be acquainted with by this time. Such a smile would win you if his fondness for such everyday food as butter beans hadn't.
The events of which the beans reminded Guy Kibbee brought to mind

MARYPROCTOR DIES; LOSES $36,000

By the irony of fate, a judgment rendered for Mary Proctor against the driver of the car in which she was permanently injured December 15 last year in an accident, may be set aside as the result of her death in Los Angeles June 23. It was learned yesterday.

Warned that a delicate operation she was about to undergo in an attempt to regain some use of her limbs might possibly result in her death, she made a will leaving her total estate to her mother.
The judgment was awarded her but a few days before her death, and amounted to a total of $36,733.50, $34,071.43 being for future earnings lost through her permanent disability. Since her death, however, her estate may lose this amount, due to the fact that her death may be considered cause for a new trial of the issue. The defendant, Claborna Dilday, is protected only by a $5,000 personal liability insurance policy, and is expected to reopen the case through his attorneys, Stevens, Henderson and Marshall. Miss Proctor was represented by Harry Austin, of the law firm of Duffill and Austin, of Las Vegas.

others, interesting highlights in the life of an actor who waited complacently many years for his big chance.

Kibbee has brought to the movies the experience of years on end as a "small time" trouper who followed the inevitable route from "juvenile" to "characters."

HELPING THE UNDERTAKER

He will go down in theatrical history as portrayer of one of the best parts ever written: the jolly undertaker's salesman, peddler of "underground novelties" in "The Torch Song." That role made him famous. Kibbee, not long ago, spent two unsuccessful years in Hollywood. He says he would have done anything, but no director wanted him. (Now they fight for him.)

He spent all the money he'd saved and so went back to New York to look for a show. Not a Broadway show—since he'd never been in one—just a company going on a tour. How he and Mrs. Kibbee, in a dilapidated auto, managed to get to New York—and "The Torch Song"—from Hollywood with a scarcity of dollars is almost an epic in itself. Although he is "in the dough" and his future is assured, Kibbee is no happier now than ever.

"I used to make pretty good money, but it was just enough for a comfortable living," said Kibbee. "Two or three years of these pic-

"A lot of money doesn't make people any happier. At least it doesn't me. You don't see any lines of worry in my face, do you?"

BEANS AND NOSTALGIA

One finally got back to the bean incident.
When he was six years old his father published a newspaper in Roswell, New Mexico. Times were bad in the newspaper, as well as in other businesses one year, and the Kibbee family's meals were mostly made of butter beans, raised on their farm.

"They tasted good then and they still do," he commented. "I get homesick for New Mexico whenever I see them."

LIONS HOLD DINNER DANCE

The Lions' dinner dance and installation of officers held at the Kiva club last night was a successful affair, or in the words of those present, a roaring success.

Dr. E. H. Rowland, of Santa Ana, Calif., district, was the principal speaker of the evening. His address, in which he extolled the merits of Lionism, were interesting, enlightening and very well received.

Dr. Rowland helped officially at the institution of the Las Vegas Lions' club one year ago and stressed the point that he was happy to have the privilege of installing the club's new officers for the coming year.

The climax of his address was reached when Dr. Rowland brought out the fact that although the Lions is the youngest of the major service clubs, it now has the distinction of being the largest service group in the United States.

The new officers installed last night were Dr. R. R. Meyers, president; Harley Harmon, first vice-president; Ira Goldring, second vice-president; H. N. Gambill, third vice-president; Dr. Walter Pico, secretary and treasurer; Art Harris, tail twister; Roger Foley, lion tamer; and Irving Golden, Mike Silver and Leo Roth, directors.

Following this, the Lions and their guests were entertained by Larry Farnum and his vivacious partner, Evelyn Baird, who were most ably assisted by a clever dancing team. A song was sung by Manager Robinson of the Kiva club, who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Weiner and to round out the program one of the waiters played several selections on a harmonica.

Clark Higgins and his melody makers from Boulder City furnished the dance music.

WILL PARDON NEW YORK MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27. (U.P.)—William Collins, Brooklyn, N. Y., man who escaped from a California penitentiary 19 years ago, has worked out his own salvation and will be pardoned, Governor James Rolph Jr., announced today.

"Prisons are supposed to reform men," the governor declared. "Collins for 19 years has been an exemplary citizen. What could be gained by returning him to finish his sentence?"

Collins was identified as wanted in California after his arrest in Brooklyn after a street fight.

TO GRILL MAN IN DEATH CASE

LOS ANGELES, June 27. (U.P.)—A man who said he was Norman O. Loos was questioned by police late today for questioning in the slaying of 17-year-old Ethel Collicott at Des Moines, Iowa, March 18, 1924.

Officers said Loos admitted he was the man named in a Des Moines police circular but denied the murder or any knowledge of it. Iowa authorities were notified, and meanwhile police began investigating reports that Loos had been employed as an operative by some city or county department here.

Do you inhale?

"Like a stepchild" .. a question generally avoided. Why?

DO you inhale? Why has this question been treated "like a stepchild" in cigarette advertising?

It's a subject vital to you—for you do inhale—we all do—every smoker inhales—every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? A simple question. But silence on the subject—may be full of meaning.

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Lucky Strike's famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do! Then this vital message is for you!
