BRANCH BANK OPENED IN CARSON CITY MONDAY

The Carson City branch of the First National Bank in Reno opened at ten o'clock in the forenoon of Monday, July ninth, S. L. Butterfield, who is in charge as manager, stated.

The Carson Valley Bank building has been cleaned, inside and out; the books and records of the old bank have been removed from the premises, and the needed supplies for the new setup have been brought over from Reno and made available for use.

The former bank signs have been removed and new gold-lettered signs have been placed on door and windows.

Carson and vicinity have been without banking facilities since the last days in October, 1932, and the residents and business firms of the city will be more than pleased to again avail themselves of the conveniences of a going bank.

The First National Bank in Reno has earned an enviable reputation in the state's largest city and its officers and employees have high standing in the community and state. The position of the institution has been strengthened, if that is possible, by acquisition of the Transamerica corporation.

The new institution will no doubt receive generous patronage from the the people of Carson, which is recognized as a good banking town.

FIRE LADS PUT OUT BLAZING WOOD PILE

Flames, which Fire Chief Earl Bath said evidently were started by children playing with matches, yesterday afternoon ignited a wood pile at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlod Farnsworth on Murray street and necessitated a call for the fire department.

The blaze consumed a small tent housing a few tools and materials but quick action by the fire lads who made use of the booster tank, saved the nearby houses.

It is the second time within a short period of time that the department has been forced to combat flames engulfing the self-same wood pile and under similar circumstances. — Ely Times.

LABOR DISPUTE DISCUSSED

Allegations that the Union Paving company, which holds the contract for construction on the federal highways east of Sparks, is employing out-of-state men in preference to local residents were discussed at a special meeting of Sparks councilmen, the Sparks Lions club committee and George Souter, superintendent of the paving company. William Royle, state labor commissioner, and C. E. Prime of the relief employment office late Thursday. Reporting on findings of the investigating committee appointed by the Sparks Lions club some time ago, Clifford Joslin said the committee was convinced Sparks men were dealt with unfairly in job placements. He said that at least one-third of the men working on the highway are not even Nevada residents, whereas specialized labor should not exceed 25 percent of the employed. — Humboldt Star.
