70TH BIRTHDAY OF STATE WILL BE CELEBRATED

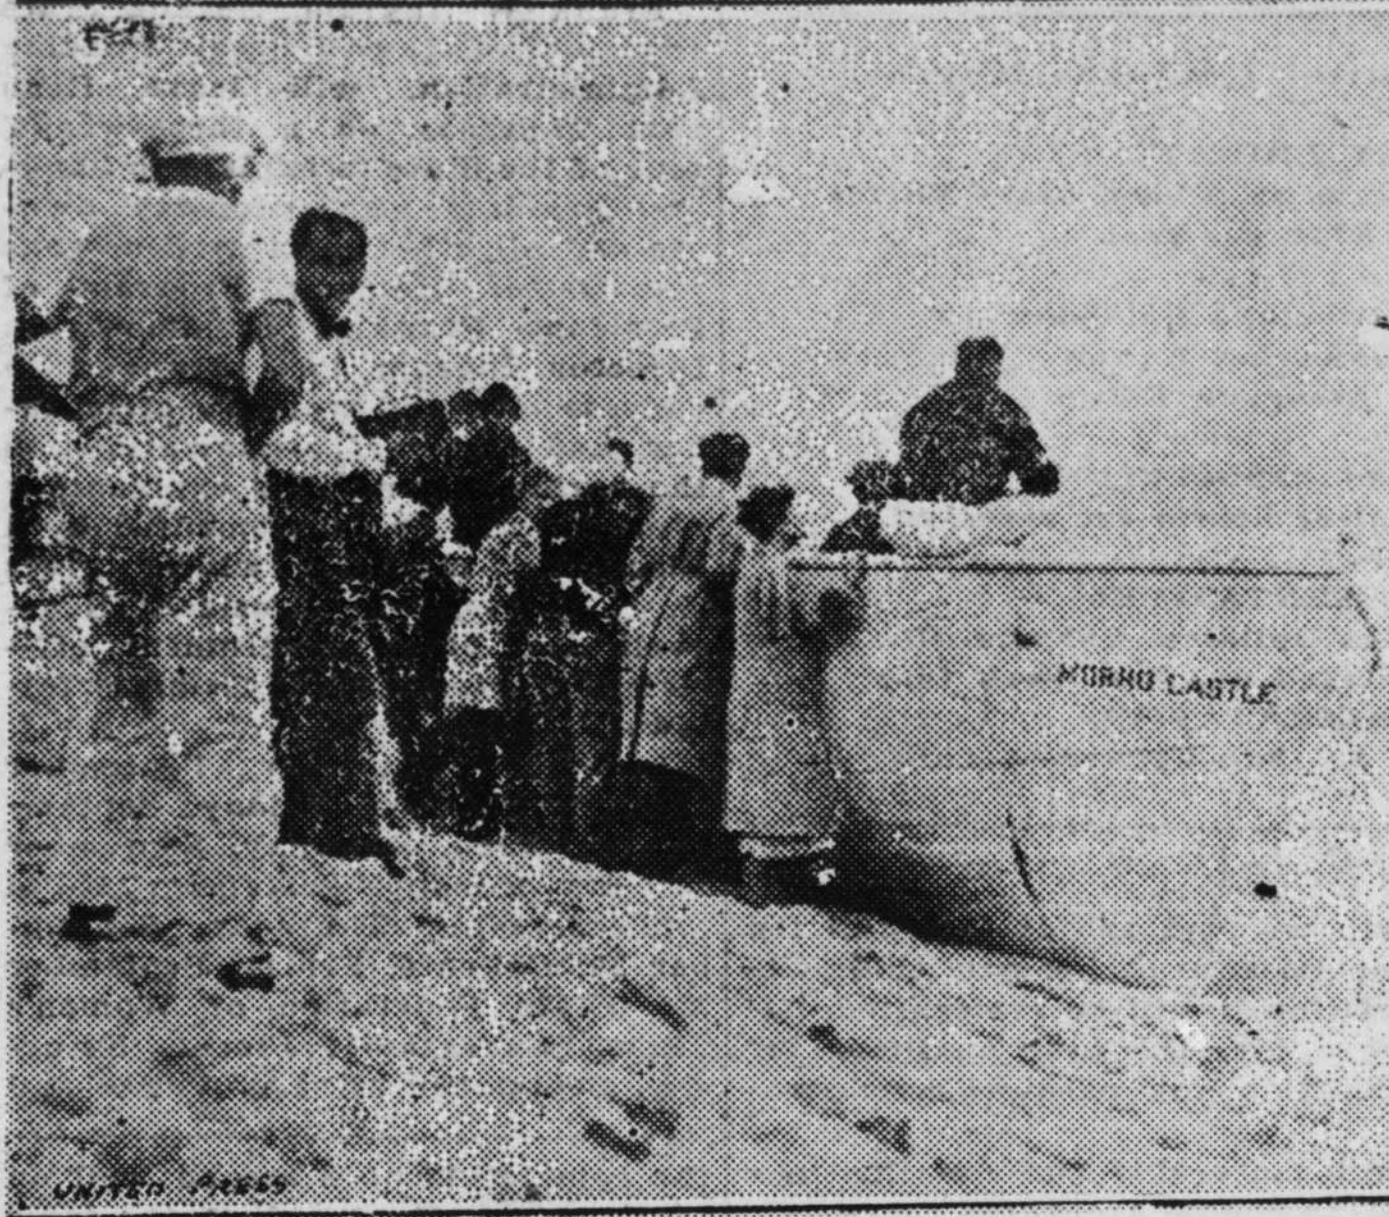

With a three-day program tentatively outlined, providing for an extensive celebration, the Nevadans and the Native Daughters of Nevada are rapidly perfecting arrangements for observing the seventieth anniversary of the admission of Nevada into the union on October 29, 30 and 31, officials of the organizations announced recently.

In past years, Admission day has been celebrated on October 31, one day only, but this year it is proposed to expand the festivities over three days and to make the observance one of the best ever held in Reno.

An outstanding feature will be an industrial and agricultural show, to be an attraction for three days, the place for staging the event to be selected later. It is expected to make this an unique affair.

ing considered for the three days, and full details will be made known shortly. Committee assignments will be made the coming week, to handle the various phases of the observance.

There will be a contest to select a queen to reign during the entire celebration period.

Old-time Nevadans will not be forgotten on the program, and there will be a get-together of pioneers and reunion of present and former residents of the state.

ART AND LITERATURE SHOWN AT FAIR

An art and literary work exhibit was entered in the women's exhibit of the Elko County fair this year by Belle Skaggs. The art included tinted photographs and the following literary work: mystic writing, "A Message to the World" (from Rudolph Valentino), published in "The Occult Digest Magazine" 1929; song poem, "Somewhere, Long Ago"; narrative poem, "The House of Dreams" and a number of other literary offerings.

PITTMAN RECEIVES FDR'S BEST WISHES

Hundreds of letters and telegrams of congratulations have showered upon Senator Key Pittman since his better than three-to-one victory in the democratic primaries.

A personal letter from President Roosevelt was included in his mail.

H. R. Cooke, Pittman's principal opponent in the primaries telegraphed him in Tonopah: "Congratulations and best wishes."

Senator Pittman wired this reply: "Your telegram of congratulations just received. I thank you for your expressions of good wishes."

The messages of congratulation are from senators, cabinet members and men and women in all walks of life and in all parts of the country. The senator will answer each message. — Ely Times.

KENNETH POWELL ELECTED MANAGER OF FROSH CLASS

Politics continued to play a major part in university elections this week as members of the freshmen class gathered in the Education auditorium to select a manager for the ensuing year.

After several ballots were taken Kenneth Powell of Las Vegas was chosen to lead the first year class.

Ten members were originally nominated, but six declined. Contestants, in addition to the victor, were as follows: William Goodwin, Earl Bankoffier, Ross Morris, Richard Taw. Primary balloting gave Powell 60 votes, Morris 48, Bankoffier 38, Goodwin 14 and Taw 7.

A move to have the two highest contestants hold a runoff met with unanimous approval, and in the last count Powell received 87 votes to 73 for Morris.

Considerable commotion arose when it was learned that the number of votes exceeded by seven the total number of voters. The manner in which the alleged fraud was executed gave rise to considerable comment on the part of several upper class students. One spectator observed that the alleged ballot stuffing of Wednesday's meeting was only "a repetition of what has transpired at the university for several years."

A solid block of yearlings, apparently intent on breaking the hold which the combines have had on campus politics in the past, encountered little difficulty in electing Powell, who is a pledge of Lambda Chi fraternity. Morris a member of Lincoln Hall association, had the solid backing of that group, but was unable to overcome the lead which Powell commanded.

In a statement outlining his policies as first year leader Powell said, "We are going to keep the sophomores in their proper place, which is below that of the class of '38." — U. of N. Sagebrush.

SHIP GOVERNMENT CATTLE FROM ELKO

A total of 2545 cattle have been the inception of the government handled by officials of the Federal Surplus Relief corporation here since drought relief cattle purchase proposal in early July.

Of this number 1557 have been shipped directly out of the Elko county district while the remaining 987 have been handled by the officials here in transferring shipments from one railroad line to another at points like Palisade.

Most of the shipment transferred by officials here came from Eureka county. Of the 987 handled 554 were directed here for the Indian reservation.

During the two months of handling cattle from Elko points only one head has died, a mark that stands as a record for nearly all of the state, since in some instances many were lost on their way to shipment or else died before reaching the loading points.
