NEVADA STOCKMEN WILL DISCUSS TAYLOR ACT AT RENO

Taylor Grazing Act districts on the public domain in Nevada will be the chief topic before the livestock department of the Nevada State Farm Bureau when it meets in Reno, January 21, it was announced this week by George Ogilvie of Elko, secretary of the department.

All Nevada livestockmen, whether members of the Farm Bureau or not, have been invited to the gathering, and prospects are that stock growers from every county in the state will be present.

One of the chief objects of the gathering will be adoption of recommendations setting forth the attitude of Nevada stockmen on many of the questions that have come up in application of the Taylor act in this state.

These recommendations, Ogilvie reported, will be presented to F. R. Carpenter, director of grazing for the Department of the Interior. This will be done at a meeting January 24 Carpenter has called in Reno to select a committee to aid the department in setting up its districts in this state.

Practically certain of adoption, it is believed, is the proposal that local government be maintained as far as possible in administering Nevada's grazing districts.

Among functions of the committee to be elected at the meeting called by Carpenter are to assist in making boundary lines for grazing districts, and to aid in drawing lines

TAX REDUCTION IS STATE ISSUE

RENO—Reduction of governmental expenses of the state may be a paramount issue before the 1935 session of the legislature, it was indicated today by a United Press poll to exclude lands which because of their character or isolation should be left out of grazing districts.

The livestock department's meeting will be a regular part of the annual Nevada Farm Bureau convention. — Ely Record.

of legislators.

Overwhelming sentiment in favor of elimination of much extravagance in operation of the state as possible was heard from those legislators participating in the poll.

Along the same lines, most of the legislators favored limitation of the 1935 session to 30 days instead of the usual 60 days.

Reduction of governmental expense was favored in order that no new taxes, such as sales, income or inheritance levies, would be necessary to raise additional income for the state.
