

Country Press Against Change

CHICAGO — Editors of daily and weekly newspapers outside the large metropolitan centers are divided 3 to 1 against the President's proposal to change the number of justices of the Supreme Court, and a little more than 3 to 1 against any amendment to the constitution involving the Supreme Court at this time.

This is the trend of opinion expressed by 5,676 editors in the final returns from the poll conducted by The Publishers' Auxiliary. Forty-eight per cent of the 11,860 editors polled returned marked ballots to which they were not required to sign their names or the names of their newspapers. It is estimated that the newspapers which answered the poll are read by more than 35,000,000 readers in all the 48 states.

A total of 1,374 editors declared themselves "for the President's Supreme Court proposal" and 4,129 editors "against the President's Supreme Court proposal." Editors of 1,035 newspapers indicated they were "for a change in the constitution relative to the Supreme Court" and editors of 3,396 newspapers were "against change in the constitution relative to the Supreme Court."

Two States for Proposal

A breakdown of the results of the polls by states showed editors of 46 states opposed to the President's proposal and editors of two states, Delaware and Louisiana, for it, reversing exactly the proportion of states carried by the President in last November's election. Editors of all states were opposed, in the majority, to amending the constitution.

CHICAGO SHRINE WILL OBSERVE ARMY DAY

Medinah Shrine Temple of Chicago, Ill., will present, on April 9th, a pageant in observance of Army Day. Among the features of the extensive program will be the Commonwealth-Edison drum and bugle corps, national champions of the American Legion, and the Canadian Kiltie band. The address of the occasion will be made by Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, U. S. A. Ret., who will speak on "Can America Be Defended?" The pageant will take place in the Shrine Mosque and admission will be by Masonic card, and all Master Masons are invited to attend.

SHOWING IT CAN BE DONE

The chief importance of Senator Borah's proposed amendment to the constitution (as a substitute for the legislation asked by President Roosevelt) is that it shows clearly how surely present day problems can be solved constitutionally and in accordance with American principles.

It emphasizes anew the prime truth that every need of the nation can be met without making the judiciary subservient to the executive and without placing in grave peril the rights and liberties of the citizen.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

Walter Lippman, the distinguished publicist, has said that he regards the current "constitutional crisis" brought about by the judicial reorganization proposal, the most vital issue since the Civil War. On first glance that may seem an exaggeration—but, on mature reflection, what issue since slavery has so directly affected the fundamental liberties of the people and the basic doctrines on which our government was founded?

The importance of the issue is emphasized by the character of the opponents of the plan. Party lines have been blasted—Democrats and Republicans have joined to fight something they believe inimical to future freedom and individual security. Economic differences among men have been submerged—"conservatives" and "liberals" are together in the battle lines, cooperating wholeheartedly to prevent the passage of a law that they believe would make the road smooth to dictatorship.

A number of instances of this fact could be cited—one will suffice. In practically every normal issue, Senators Glass and George Norris are opposed. Both have in common certain characteristics—courage, sincerity and forthrightness. And as a result, both Mr. Glass and Mr. Norris are heading the forces which oppose "packing" the court. They may oppose the plan for different reasons—but each sees in it great dangers.

It is not a coincidence that outstanding public men of both parties—men who have convictions and do not violate them to follow the mob—are against the proposal, along with almost every leading newspaper, whatever its political allegiance. In addition, observers who saw events lead to dictatorship and ruthless abrogation of liberties in Germany, Italy and Russia, feel that the proposal could very easily do the same thing to America.

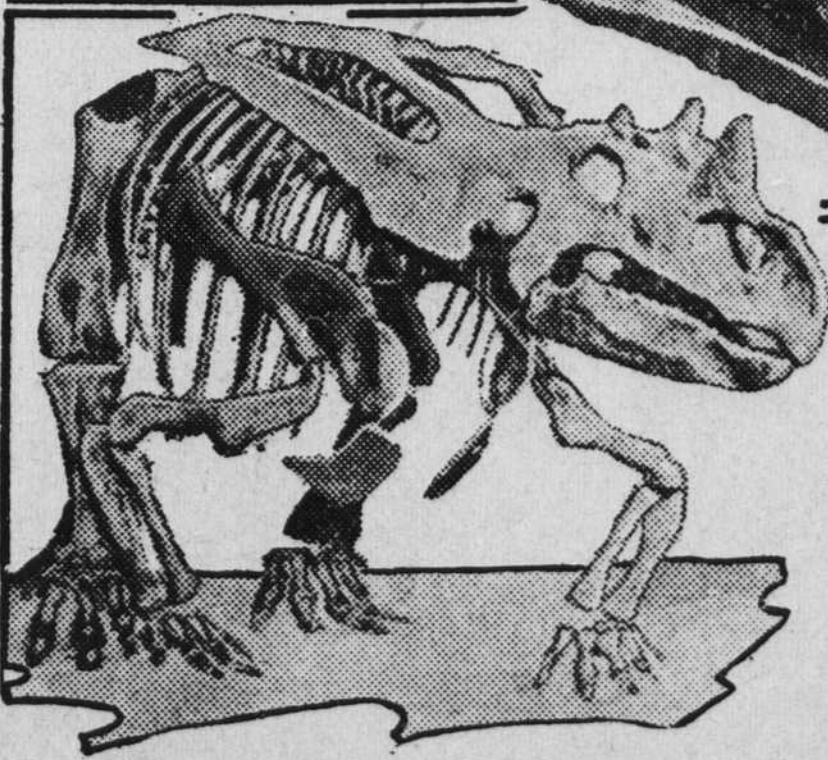

It can happen here. Only the force of public opinion can prevent it.

WHO WANTS ANOTHER BLUE EAGLE?

When the Supreme Court by a unanimous vote of its "nine old men" killed the NRA there was general approval of the decision throughout the United States. Hardly a peep was uttered in its memory or defense, in the last campaign. Hugh Johnson's threat to "crack down" on Henry Ford and others ended in Johnson's resignation. The NRA codes were theoretical, not practical. It straightened nothing out. Even the politicians were willing to forget the "vision" that turned out to be a nightmare.

The latest chapter in this fairy tale is summarized by the Washington Post, which says: "Over the body of the defunct NRA, President Roosevelt yesterday submitted to congress a 200-page autopsy, which combined eulogies of some of its reforms with an impartial analysis of some of its defects."

Our Oldest Inhabitants

RIVAL of the mammoth as the oldest inhabitant of North America is the dinosaur. Once they were as common in the foothills of the Canadian Rockies as their successors, the buffalo, and some of the finest specimens of these pre-historic creatures to be unearthed, have been found in the Red Deer Valley, a wild, exotic piece of country lying between Calgary and Edmonton, Alberta. This variety of dinosaur was the carnivorous or flesh-eating. The photographs show scientists examining parts of remains that have been uncovered in the Red Deer Valley and a reconstructed skeleton. Specimens of carnivorous dinosaur in museums in New York, Washington and Toronto were found in this section of the Canadian West.
