

Mining Men To Meet In Sept.

At a recent meeting at Salt Lake City, Utah, a national program committee, under the chairmanship of Guy N. Bjorge, general manager of the Homestake Mining Company, whipped into shape preliminary plans for the forthcoming annual convention and exposition of the western division of the American Mining Congress. The meeting is to be held at Salt Lake City, September 7 to 10.

Plans call for discussions by members of congress, government officials and outstanding mining leaders on legislation bearing upon the mining industry and on problems of mine operation.

Foremost among topics included on the program for discussion at this meeting are: Gold prices, the future of silver, mineral land withdrawals and the public land policy of the federal government; labor legislation, with particular reference to the status of collective bargaining, the responsibility of labor and federal regulation of hours and wages; mine taxation; the undistributed earnings tax; depletion; tariffs and foreign trade, and the effect of reciprocal trade agreements; money or mining develop-

PANHANDLERS DE LUXE

Judging from the expression on the faces of Zoe Dell Lantis, pretty pirate girl of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, and Sam Johnston, president of the Angels Camp Calif., Boosters' Club, who is seen here as a miner, there's plenty of pay dirt in the pan. Miss Lantis uncorks the smile while Johnston reveals plans for a "Forty-niner Mining Camp" at the Exposition.

publishing the story would bring sorrow and embarrassment to innocent persons without serving any beneficial purpose. In these the making of a proper decision is often not easy. If the story is printed, relatives and friends of the person concerned will feel that it is unnecessary; if it is suppressed, the scandal-mongers will be disappointed, and many will insinuate that the editor was "bought off."

These same scandal-mongers would howl the loudest, however, if their own shady actions were held up to public gaze.

So it's hard to please everybody, and no editor of sense tries to please everybody. He must let his own judgment and his own conscience be his guide.

If he errs on the side of kindness and sympathy for the unfortunate, his error will be forgiven by the more enlightened readers of his newspaper.

Mrs. Clara A. Meyers of Chicago testified in her divorce suit that her husband had never said "please" in their 12 years of married life.

ment under the operation of the Securities Exchange act; ventilation, dust elimination and air conditioning in mines and mills; accident prevention and safety methods; occupational diseases legislation; stream pollution and the mining industry; reducing costs of workmen's compensation; development in mechanical mucking; building roads to prospective mining areas; new things in ore concentration and the economics of small mining plants.

Formation of a declaration of policy, representing the views of the entire metal mining industry as to the relationships of mining to the national government, will be undertaken after consideration of these problems.

In addition to the convention sessions there will be held an exposition of metal mining machinery, equipment and supplies in which over seventy-five nationally known manufacturers will participate. At this date nearly 99 per cent of the available space is under contract. Displays of equipment will include locomotives, loading machines, hoists wire rope, pumps, mine cars, compressors, rock drills, explosives, lubricants, ventilating equipment, safety appliances, flotation machinery, filters and everything needed for modern mine and mill operation.

An interesting feature of this exposition will be a mineral states exposition in which the various mining states will participate in showing the progress and importance of metal mining within their individual boundaries.

Featured entertainment is being arranged by the Utah committee for each night of the meeting. Mining inspection trips to Park City, Tintic, Bingham and other mines and metallurgical plants near Salt Lake City will enable convention visitors to see at close hand these famous mining operations.

Fire Destroys Oil In Fallon

FALLON—One hundred drums of oil and grease belonging to the Dodge Construction Co., the remains of the old Verdi Lumber company building and a building belonging to C. E. Likes went up in flames here early this morning in what local officials declare was an incendiary blaze.

The fire, which started at 3:15 a. m., originated in the charred lumber company building, and quickly spread to the adjoining Likes building.

Total loss was estimated at $2600, of which $2500 was the value placed on the oil and grease.

Dodge construction company office and shop buildings were destroyed by fire here June 11, after which the salvaged drums of oil and grease were moved to the Verdi lumber building, the frame of which was still standing following the fire last month.

Chief of Police Walter Dexter and Fire Chief Harold Bellinger reported today that there was no doubt the fire was intentionally set by an unknown pyromaniac. — Nevada State Journal.

PRINTING THE NEWS

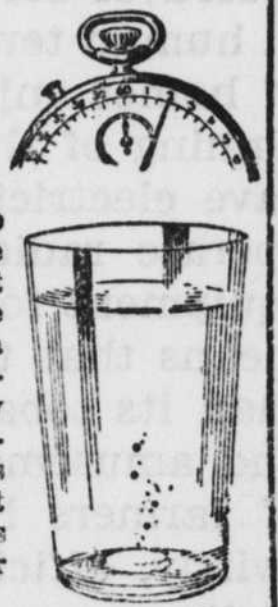

When to print a disagreeable story and when to leave one out of the paper is one of the most troublesome problems of a smalltown editor. In the case of a person who is unfaithful to a public trust, or one who is guilty of serious crime, it is not difficult to decide, because the public interest, as well as the public's right to have the news, demands that it be printed.

There are some cases, however, in which the offense is entirely of a personal nature, and in which
