

Monitor Boosts Canyon Air Trip

The Christian Science Monitor in its issue of September 10, devotes nearly three columns of its valuable space to a story entitled, "Airplane Trip to Boulder Dam a Revelation for the Tourist."

The article, which is illustrated by air views of Boulder Dam, Lake Mead and the Grand Canyon, is written by M. Le Tour. A small part of the article consists of a single page of the author's diary-log, on covering two of the world's wonders in hardly more than 24 hours:

"Caught 11:15 departure of Western Air Express 10-passenger Boeing twin-motored transport at Union Air Terminal on the outskirts of Los Angeles; arrived in Las Vegas, Nevada, at 12:50 a. m.; taxied the 25 miles to Boulder City; in bed at the government-owned hotel by 1:30; up and breakfasted by 8 a. m. in time for a tour of the dam and its power house; 'out' from Boulder City airport at 10 a. m. aboard a tri-motored Ford to south rim resort of the Grand Canyon in time for noon lunch at El Tovar; returned to Boulder City at 5; took a sunset cruise on Lake Mead up to the dam; dinner in Boulder City; viewed the dam at night; by taxi to Las Vegas to catch the 11 p. m. departure; arrived back at the Burbank starting point at 12:45 a. m.

"My 'luxury trip' cost me $25 for the round-trip ticket to Las Vegas and $62.75 for the all-expense sight-seeing tour under the guidance of Grand Canyon Airlines, including dam inspection, lodging, food, boat ride and taxi.

"Worth it? I'll say. To be a first-class philosopher-traveler one must take to the air when he comes to Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon, and it's no more a luxury than is any other worth-while excursion. In no other way could I have grasped the proper perspective of the Grand Canyon."

AUSTRALIA HOSTILE TO BRENT FILMS

(Australian Press Bureau)
 SYDNEY, Australia. — The New South Wales government is considering banning films in which George Brent is acting in consequence of his domestic affairs. He marries Constance Worth, the Australian actress in Mexico recently and is now seeking an annulment of the marriage.

Dates Set For Examinations

C. C. Smith, special representative of the Nevada Unemployment Compensation Division, announces that examinations will be held to establish new eligible lists from which appointments will be made during the next two years.

The following positions will be covered:

- Supervisor of Compensation — $2700-$3300.
- Public Relation Officer — $2400-$3300.
- Chief Accountant—$2400-$3600.
- Intermediate Accountant — $1800-$2700.
- Statistician — $2100-$2700.
- Field Representative — $1800-$2400.
- Bookkeeping Machine Operator—$1500-$2100.
- Clerks — $1500-$1800.
- Clerk - Stenographers — $1500-$1800.
- General Machine Operator—$1200-$1800.

These examinations are openly competitive merit examinations. For information about statements of minimum requirements and for securing application blanks communicate with Mr. C. C. Smith, Supervisor of Examinations Nevada Unemployment Compensation Division, Armando Building, Room 24, Reno, Nevada or phone Reno 22432.

Application deadline Saturday
 Tentative examination dates: Saturday, October 23; Saturday, October 30.

Examinations will be given in the following communities: Elko, Ely, Las Vegas, Reno, Tonopah, Winnemucca.

A HEALTHY CONSTITUTION

(By J. E. Jones)
 WASHINGTON, D. C., September, 1937. — The Constitution of the United States now 150 years old and the business of the month has shown the big-wig politicians renewing their allegiance to the grand and impregnable old document. Despite every attack, veiled and direct, the Constitution seems in a fair way to remain the cherished program of the people of our Republic for another turn of a century and a half.

If there is anything practical about making a national show, with a majordomo from Tammany Hall in charge, then Congressman Sol Bloom's shows, put on with the taxpayers' money may not be as

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

HOW UNUSUAL!

A picture snapped from inside the house and through a window often proves to be a fascinating bit of work.

IT'S almost unbelievable but it is true that many amateur snapshotshooters have the notion that it is only the unusual that is worthwhile snapping. When they travel, a camera is taken along to get pictures of new scenes and new faces but they use it around their homes only on special occasions.

"But," you may say, "I've already made good snaps around the house. What else is there to shoot?"

Nobody can answer that question for you directly. But it's dollars and doughnuts that there are dozens of untouched picture possibilities. And all of them interesting as the ones already in your album.

The secret of finding them is simply a matter of keeping your eyes open. Get the habit of looking at things—everything—as though you had never seen them before. It's amazing the way this habit will sharpen your interest—now dulled by sheer familiarity—in even the most commonplace things.

Some of the finest pieces of photographic art have been results of appreciative eyes in the heads of stay-at-homes. The pattern of sun and shade on the front steps, the fascinating interplay of roof lines, tree portraits—are typical of pictures that may be made at home—unusual pictures of usual subjects.

Don't be afraid of doing things differently. It's a tonic to tackle old subjects from new points of view. If, to get a shot that appeals to you, you have to upset the "laws" of safe-and-sane snapshotting, don't hesitate. If your eye enjoys the scene, whatever it is, the chances are that your camera will enjoy it too.

With such helps as the inexpensive photo-flood bulbs (for which efficient reflectors are available) you can do your snapshotting indoors as well as out. Present-day cameras, films and lights give you unlimited scope for your snapshotting. Today almost any picture is possible—and at any time.

Of all words of praise for the snapshotter, the sweetest are these, spoken by a friend:—"Well, would you look at that! I've seen that spot every day for the last fifteen years and I never dreamed it had the makings of a picture like this."

Maybe you've heard these words already! Congratulations!

John van Guilder

The Pontiac Six and Ted Ellis at Badwater, Death Valley, 279.6 feet below sea level, the lowest point in the United States, on their scorching 5,000-mile test run to check the lubricating qualities of Pennzoil.

punk as they seem to a lot of folks who are getting tired of ballyhoos.

The original Constitution is in the Congressional Library at Washington alongside the Declaration of Independence. Thousands of people who see it every month are conscious of its inspiring influence. It inspires love and loyalty to the existing form of government of the United States.

After all the safety and the welfare of the Republic rests with the people themselves. It is for them to safeguard their treasured heritages in our schools, churches and all public meeting places. The greatest power of all for the American Constitutional form of government rests with newspaper editors and writers throughout the United States.

THE METHODS DIFFER

In the United States the effort is to do precisely the same thing that Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini are doing, with a wide, a fundamental difference in method. In the European countries the effort is to feed, clothe, house the people, make them strong, and it depends on using armies to shoot the daylight through them if they resist. In the United States the plan is to hire the people with their own money to keep the benevolent bosses in power with ballots. — Charleston News and Courier.