

Nevada Girl Flees China

TONOPAH — Mrs. Calvin White, who was formerly Miss Bobbie Dalzell, the daughter of Mrs. R. H. Dalzell, and sister of Mrs. W. J. Frank of Tonopah, is among the American refugees transported from Shanghai to Manila, according to word received from her this mid-week.

An airmail letter from Manila, received here Thursday, was the first written word from Mrs. White received for over a month. A previous letter written by her was on the liner President Hoover, which was bombed and later towed into Kobe, Japan, for repairs, and the mail and cargo bound for the United States was delayed. Mr. White, who is a newspaper man and connected with the Shanghai Press, is still in the besieged city, but may be ordered to evacuate at any time, according to his wife's letter.

Mr. and Mrs. White went to Shanghai a little over a year ago from Juneau, Alaska, where they were married just before sailing for the Orient. As Miss Dalzell, Mrs. White was popularly known in Tonopah and Carson, where she held secretarial positions. She was for a time secretary in the office of the state engineer at Carson.

Road Rules For Bicycle Riders

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 22. — Because of the increasing use of bicycles on the streets and highways of the state, and because of the number of hazards which face bicycle riders in the street traffic, the safety study section of the Nevada Department of Highways has evolved the following suggestions which are recommended for the observance of all bicycle riders. Highway Department officials feel confident that with close attention given to these cautionary suggestions a greater safety for both cyclist and motor car drivers will prevail on the city streets as well as on the highways.

Here are the primary suggestions for safer bicycle riding:

1. Bicycles should not carry more than one person except vehicles constructed for use of more than one person, such as tandems, etc.
2. Be sure to stop at all stop signs.
3. Ride only on the right side of the street.
4. Riders should not hold on to each other, nor hold on to any other moving vehicle.
5. Do not ride at night without a light on the front of the bicycle and a reflector or a lamp attached to the rear.
6. Do not ride out from alleys and driveways or from behind parked automobiles without coming to a complete stop and looking both ways to see that the sidewalks and street are clear of traffic.
7. Obey traffic signals and the orders of traffic officials and school patrols.
8. Do not engage in any trick riding or weave in and out of traffic on the street or public highway.

9. Be watchful, alert, and safety minded, even on your bicycle.
10. Do not ride abreast of any other bicycle rider.

While Department of Highway officials know that many of these suggestions are obvious to anyone and should be observed by anyone riding a bicycle, they further believe that if called to the attention of cyclists, and more particularly the school children, many serious accidents which bring only deep grief and sorrow to families can be very easily avoided.

State Highway Department officials strongly urge all school children to carefully study and observe these safety suggestions.

New Beer Cake Is Spice of Any Menu

A variety is the spice of life, beer spice cake is bound to be a distinctive feature of any meal it is chosen to grace. This novel version of age-old beer cookery made its public debut at The Waldorf-Astoria in New York recently and was unanimously approved by the connoisseurs who tasted it.

Simple to prepare, nutritious in composition and delicious to taste, this cake is designed to serve as the perfect dessert for those who prefer lightness and spiciness to sheer sweetness. Beer, refreshing beverage of moderation, is one of the ingredients giving it the "different" taste.

The recipe is taken from the new booklet, "It's Smart to Serve Beer," by Mrs. Helen Watts Schreiber, nationally known home economist and food expert:

Beer Spice Cake

1 cup brown sugar	1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg	1/4 teaspoon soda
1 cup chopped nut meats	1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped dates	1 teaspoon cloves
1 cup beer	1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup shortening	1 teaspoon allspice
	1 1/2 cups flour

Cream shortening. Add brown sugar and egg unbeaten. Sift all dry ingredients together and add dates and nut meats to this. Add alternately with beer to creamed shortening and sugar. Bake in loaf pan (375° F.) thirty minutes. This recipe is also delicious baked as tea cakes and covered with mocha icing.
