CAMPBELL DISCUSSES PUBLIC LAND POLICY

The present public lands policy of the government is of vital concern to mining men and the mining industry must be watchful to protect its interest, according to Thos. E. Campbell, formerly governor of Arizona, who spoke beforethe Mining Association of the Southwest in Los Angeles, November 10, on "Our Public Lands Policy,' and "Mining Ehibits, Inc." Also the correlative from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image." (p. 120).

PAST MATRONS' CLUB DINES IN BOULDER CITY

The Past Matrons Club enjoyed a delightful dinner in Boulder City Wednesday evening with Mrs. Irving Harris, Mrs. Fauna Finney and Mrs. C. D. Wyatt as hostesses.

The dinner was erved by the Ladie of the Community church at a large and beautifully decorated table. During the dinner a most enjoyable program was presented including a reading by Mrs. Crosley, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Seddlemean. accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Weede. The guests then adjourned to the home of Mrs. Harris, where a short business meeting was held.

The club was presented with a gavel by Mrs. rimble of Boulder City. The gavel was made from Fremont's barberry wood found near Fruita, Colorado. The shrub was discovered by General Fremont and naedm in honor of him.

After the business session the guests enjoyed several rounds of bridge. '

Al Worswick, local architect, is confined to the Las Vegas hospital suffering with pneumonia.

New England Colonial

This house, of a style familiar to all who travel through New England, was built at New Market, N. H., for $6,575, and a commitment to insure the mortgage was made by the Federal Housing Administration. The plan revolves around a large center hall. In interesting deviation from the plan usually followed by Colonial houses of this type is the kitchen in the front of the house, with the dining room enverlooking the rear garden. The second floor has three bedrooms and bath, with exceptionally generous closet space. L. O. Geoffrion is the architect who designed the house.
