

Noted Author Pleases Clubs

Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas, noted author of best selling novels, was the principal speaker at Thursday's joint meeting of Las Vegas Rotary and Las Vegas Kiwanis clubs. The speaker was introduced by his son-in-law, J. W. Wilson, program chairman for the day.

The speaker made no pretense of oratory, but spoke in a quiet, whimsical, confidential vein which greatly pleased his hearers. His droll humor was especially entertaining.

Dr. Douglas began with the declaration that he would make a craft talk, and that, since his job was writing, he would tell about some of the problems of writing a 150,000 word novel.

He described his particular work as "a hermit's job," writing steadily for eleven, twelve or thirteen months, seeing few people and going nowhere. Then, after that is finished, he stated, he went away and put in six or seven months of travel without any appearance of work.

He described Hollywood, where he lives, as a peculiar little world of nuts and the Author's Club, of which he is a member, as a select bunch picked from the other nuts.

Referring to the present unsatisfactory working of the New Deal policies, Dr. Douglas declared that it is useless to expect to accomplish between Tuesday and Thursday the social reforms which reasonably require a 20-year program.

"If you are considering a job of patriotism," he said, "let everything else go off the track and let our 'Country, 'Tis of Thee' go by."

Dr. Douglas stated that he is working on a new novel, "Disputed Passage," which is to be published as a serial in the next few months and will come out in book form about a year hence.

The meeting was presided over by President Bob Kaltenborn for the Kiwanis club, and Frank Gusewelle or the Rotarians.

Vocal music was provided by a trio composed of Mrs. Leroy Whipple, Mrs. Marion Earl and Mrs. Tom Adams. Mrs. Eldon Larson accompanied them on the piano.

Harry Gilbert, son of Chet V. T. Gilbert, gave two fine selections on the violin, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mary Landon, of Glendale, California.

Among the out-of-town visitors were Judge Frank H. Norcross of the U. S. District Court; Jake Wainwright, probation officer and Chas. Slocombe, of Grand Canyon Air Lines. Earl St. John of Las Vegas high school was the school representative.

POSTERITY WILL PAY

A leading republican says the New Deal is buying the taxpayer's support with his own money. He's mistaken about that. The taxpayer's support is now being bought with his grandson's money.—Washington Post.

Mrs. Frank Gusewelle returned Tuesday evening from Reno bringing her daughter Miss Marjorie, back to spend the Thanksgiving vacation at home.

Installed as New Alumni Head

ALAN McLEAN (right), of Collingwood, Ont., a student at the General Motors Institute of Technology and newly elected president of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild alumni, receives the badge of office from Howard Jennings, retiring head of the organization formed by the 53 youths who have won scholarships in the model-building competitions sponsored by the Guild, a General Motors educational foundation. Jennings, whose home is in Denver, was graduated from the University of Colorado this year, and is now employed by the body-building division of the automotive concern.

Congress Sees No Depression

(By J. E. Jones)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Washington does not see a new depression. The recession during the last three months is called temporary by heads of our Government.

There is a lot of talk about what will be done about taxation, and demands from all over the country are flooding the Capitol to "let up" on activities or measures that are slowing down business.

Congress apparently reacts to the danger of bringing private business more and more under the control of the Government. While labor organizations are crowding in their views for further advantages in the way of wages and hours whole states are opposed to measures that would call back conditions of Government control such as existed under the NRA.

Perhaps half the entire United States opposes what is called "standard" wages and hours, because such a system would change economic structures in all parts of the country. The South is a great objector, and at the present time there is a concerted effort of seven Southern states to entice manufacturers to locate their plants in those states. They hold out the inducements of lower wages and cheaper costs of living. All these factors are important and will be given proper consideration by Congress.

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

THERE is some food that just belongs to "high days, holidays, and bon-fire nights." Food that belongs on the table for an important domestic anniversary or when honored guests are present. At such moments the still small voice of economy falls on deaf ears—and you just must let yourself go! Among the high company of such special dishes is

Regal Chocolate Mousse
2 squares unsweetened chocolate; ¼ cup sugar; Dash of salt; ½ cup boiling water; 3 egg yolks, well beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 cups cream, whipped.

Add chocolate, sugar, and salt to water and heat in double boiler 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Pour slowly over egg yolks, stirring well. Cool; add vanilla and fold in whipped cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and let stand 3 to 4 hours. Or turn mixture into mold, filling it to overflowing; cover with waxed paper and press cover tightly down over paper. Pack in equal parts ice and salt 3 to 4 hours. Serves 8.
