Plan Style Week
For Los Angeles

"What's what" in styles for fall and winter are about to make their appearance in Los Angeles.

New vogues will blossom forth during "Combined Market Week," July 18 to 23, when buyers of merchandise for the nation and several foreign countries will assemble in a number expected to total 10,000.

Dan B. Miner, advertising and merchandising expert, pointed out that while Los Angeles a few years ago was "importing" all its styles, this city now has become the "Paris of America," as far as modern apparel is concerned.

"Whether skirts are to be long or short, whether shoulders will be wide and padded or narrowed, whether fur or silk will be the vogue — all of these are to be settled," Miner said, "when 'Market Week' holds forth."

Participating in the event are the Los Angeles Wholesale Apparel Manufacturers, Millinery Guild, Men's Wear Manufacturers, Furniture Manufacturers, Infant's and Children's Wear Association, Coat and Suit Manufacturers and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

"Market Week," according to Harold W. Wright, secretary-treasurer, "will be the answer to what every person interested in new vogues wants to know."

"In the past, 'Market Week' events were held under one roof. This year," Wright says, "it will be distributed into every part of the city, wherever a show room of manufacturers' samples is maintained."

Connolly Talks Of Convention

President-Elect Tom Connolly of Las Vegas Rotary Club made his report at Thursday's meeting on the Convention of Rotary International at San Francisco which he, with other members of the Las Vegas Rotary Club, attended last week.

The report was interesting and full of incidents which gave the local Rotarians something of the atmosphere of a great convention of Rotary International at which were delegates from practically every nation in the world.

Seven main sessions were held in the Fox theatre, San Francisco's finest, which has a seating capacity of 10,000 and was filled to the limit every session. Maurice Duperry, retiring president of Rotary International, Mr. Connolly described as an able presiding officer with an agile mind and a quick wit, whose superior in the field of debate and discussion will not soon be found.

The new president of Rotary International elected at the convention is George Hager of Chicago.

The final social feature of the great convention was the President's Ball at the magnificent Civic Auditorium which, for the occasion was turned into a great flower garden.

The newly elected governor of Rotary District 107 in which Las Vegas is located is Sam Gates of Los Angeles.

Mr. Connolly reports that among the most interesting personages at the convention was Paul Harris, founder of Rotary Club No. 1 at Chicago in 1905, who was one of the feature speakers.

San Francisco people, according to the speaker, proved themselves generous and pleasing hosts. Among the entertainment features provided for the delegates was a visit to Treasure Island where the great 1939 San Francisco Exposition is being built.

Those who attended the convention in addition to President-Elect and Mrs. Connolly, were Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. McNamee, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Rafael and Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Woodbury.

Death Valley's Doin's Reported

A card was received during the past week by a friend in Death Valley, from Miss Kathryn Ronan, manager of Furnace Creek Inn, who is now touring Alaska. On her return to the states, Miss Ronan plans to visit New York before returning to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Lowder (nee Miss Mollie Berg), who were married in the Palm Gardens at Furnace Creek Inn on Sunday morning, June 12th, returned to the Junction last Saturday evening after passing a two weeks honeymoon trip touring Southern Nevada and California points.

Mrs. Emma B. Brown of Los Angeles, mother of our fellow townsmen, W. H. Brown (Brownie) and Elwood Brown, is passing an extended visit in the homes of her sons here.
