U. S. Attorney

Judge E. P. Carville, for the past four years United States District Attorney for the district of Nevada, was unceremoniously severed from his position Thursday morning when President Roosevelt appointed William S. Boyle of Reno to the position.

The displaced official, whose first term of office expired on July first, was surprised at his displacement, having the recommendation of Senator Pat McCarran and other strong figures among the Nevada Democracy.

Carville has made a splendid officer and his record in office stands as a monument to a rare combination of efficiency and integrity. It is said by prominent democrats that the reason for Judge Carville's demotion was the fact that he had the backing of Senator McCarran and that Senator Pittman opposed him.

However, Senator McCarran, if in bad repute with the president because of his opposition to the Supreme Court packing bill, is still on the President's calling list, having been invited to join the presidential special train at Ogden, Utah, on July 13th to accompany the president on his trip through the state.

According to preliminary arrangements the president is to make no public appearances in Nevada. However, Senator McCarran states that he will endeavor to persuade the president to make several appearances and short talks from the rear platform during the day the train passes through Nevada.

The president's train is scheduled to leave Ogden at 5:15 a.m., to reach Elko about noon and pass through Reno at 6:30 in the evening.

SCANDINAVIANS — AMERICANS.

By J. E. Jones

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Scandinavians landed on our country's shores about 400 years before Columbus "discovered" it. But the Swedes are generous-minded people and know that a lot of history is "bunk." So they point with swelling bosoms to the fact that they made a settlement in Delaware just three hundred years ago. The event has just been celebrated, and the Governments of Sweden and the United States participated in the ceremonies at Wilmington.

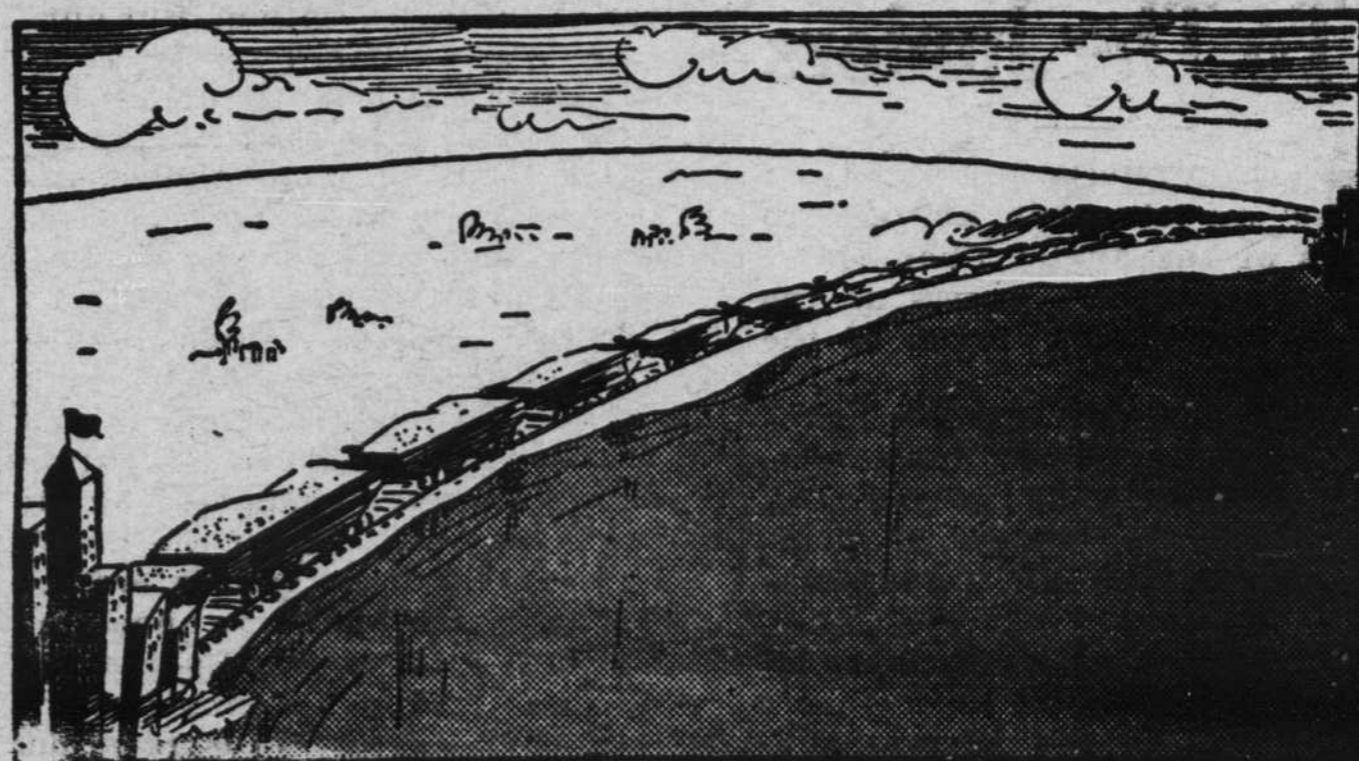

Delaware is as proud of her Swedish history as Virginia and Massachusetts are of their English traditions and history. The English captured us, and we had to lick them in the eighteenth century, and again in the nineteenth century to "make 'em let go." But the Swedes and other Scandinavians just moved in quietly and in these three centuries they have furnished us great statesmen; great business and professional men.

Swedes, Norwegians, Danes, and Finlanders have never overstepped the written, or unwritten laws, of our Republic. When I see how some of our other aliens misbehave I wish that they might be sent out of the country and replaced by more of those fine Scandinavian people — who are always in a hurry to take out their papers and become American citizens.

CYNTHIA IN HOLLYWOOD

"Cynthia," New York's most publicized model, arrived recently in Hollywood for a part in Paramount's "Artists and Models Abroad." One of the famous Lester Gaba mannikins, "Cynthia" is made of plaster and burlap and has been shown frequently at swank night spots.

Dust Showers Falling Everywhere
Show Big Need to Guard Health

IMAGINE 3,120 gondola freight cars filled to the brim with dust — a train stretching thirty miles — and you will get some idea of the amount of dust that falls on Chicago every year. That is an average of 156,000 tons of solid matter dropping from the city's atmosphere — soot from smokestacks, surface dust from the streets, soil blown in from the prairies. Of course it is made up of a great variety of organic and inorganic matters, all of which have no place in the home.

Furthermore, the Chicago situation is more or less typical of every community throughout the United States, according to the Vacuum Cleaner Manufacturers' Association.

In the boom days the annual dust fall in Chicago amounted to 780,000 tons.

Little can be done by public effort to reduce the amount of dust in any community. Water and food supplies can be regulated, inspected and kept sanitary by the authorities, but for the most part the purity of the air is beyond public control.

It is up to individual effort to battle dust. Regular daily use of the vacuum cleaner is the only way by which human health and property can be safeguarded from the many dangers that lurk in the air all about us.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 30 — Mrs. Anna S. Greenland, Seattle housewife, won the "Gayway" contest of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, according to word received here from Exposition headquarters in San Francisco.

She will receive a prize of $1,000 for submitting the winning slogan: "The Gayest Time Since Forty-nine," which will be used to supplement the "Gayway" title of the Exposition's fun zone.

A runner-up in the run-off contests was Warden James Johnston of Alcatraz Island, Federal prison, contest committeemen said.

Mrs. Greenland, alone, submitted the winning slogan, which broke the tie of more than 1,700 persons who submitted the name "Gayway." The most popular slogan vying with Mrs. Greenland's entry was "Thrills and Fun for Everyone," submitted by 13 persons. Mrs. Greenland was overjoyed when informed of the good news by the Exposition's representative here. Her husband is part owner of two fish plants, one in Seattle the other in Alaska, and she has a seven-year-old son, Herbert.

What is she going to do with the $1,000? She said she would like to buy some new clothes, but most of all she wants to take a trip with her husband and son to Illinois to visit her aging mother. In 1939 she hopes to go to the Exposition in San Francisco with her husband and Herbert.
