

SAFETY FIRST

During a ship inspection a member of the fire squad, his gas mask on, goes down into the No. 2 hold. Fires in holds are smothered with carbon dioxide gas after sealing the hold, air-tight.

Plan Additions To Streamliner

Recognized as pioneers in the air-conditioning of railroad passenger cars, the Union Pacific will now be the first railroad in the world to "light-condition" a railway car, W. M. Jeffers revealed this week.

Coupled with this startling statement, Mr. Jeffers announced that the Union Pacific's Diesel-electric streamliner, the "City of Los Angeles," will soon be enlarged to meet the ever-increasing demands of the traveling public for accommodations on the train by the addition of an all-room sleeping car and a full length observation car. The latter will be "The Copper King," the world's first "light-conditioned" car, a sensationally new observation lounge car. This car, the railroad president said, will embody not only the last word in scientific streamline development — breath-taking with its bold interior decorations of sparkling copper — but will be the first railroad car anywhere to use that miraculous new product, Polaroid, as windows.

Mr. Jeffers explained that each of the 29 windows of "The Copper King" will consist of two 27-inch discs of Polaroid, one over the other, mounted in such a way that the disc facing the outside is stationary, while the inside disc can be revolved by turning a handle or knob. Just outside the Polaroid discs will be double plate safety glass windows.

"These will be the first variable density windows of any kind in the world," vouchered Mr. Jeffers. "Until their development was made at the specific request of our railroad, it never before had been possible to control the brightness of outside light to suit the desires of individual passengers.

"The outside Polaroid disc," Mr. Jeffers continued, "is so set that it blocks the glare reflected from horizontal surfaces, at the same time letting only the useful visible light into the car. Each passenger, by turning the knob which operates the inside disc, can control exactly the correct amount of light peculiar to his own individual sensitivity. Should the passenger desire no outside light, he may simply turn the window to its darkest position and no light whatever will penetrate. The window will appear black—as dark as a black glass.

"Our 'City of Los Angeles' patrons, accustomed to the finest riding comfort known to engineering, will now be provided with a light comfort never before attainable."

A great replica of Pike's Peak will form the background of Colorado's exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair of the West.

Local Campaign Is Warming Up

The local campaign is warming up to such an extent that the boiling point may be reached at any moment.

Former sheriff Joe Keate filed for the Democratic nomination for sheriff this morning and Homer E. Grove, also a Democrat filed Thursday.

This leaves a field of four Democrats from which to choose a candidate to run against the only Republican who has filed to date, M. E. Ward, incumbent.

Neither Dave Farnsworth nor Lloyd Payne have been faced with opposition up to noon today (Friday) and Frank DeVinney, veteran assessor, will probably be saved the trouble and expense of opposition.

William B. Mundy, for county treasurer, will doubtless be returned to office without opposition.

Nominations for the Assembly include one Republican, Neal Campbell.

For the important position of justice of the peace, (nonpartisan) the list of candidates was brought to four by the filing of Charles P. Squires, formerly for many years during the formative period of Boulder Dam legislation a member of the Colorado River Commission. The other three candidates are Charles M. Butts, Marion B. Earl and Joe Hufford.

George Marshall has announced his intention to file.
