tion) and Sun Stroke. They will be taught the means employed for prevention of Heat Prostration, the first signs and symptoms of the affections, and then the proper method of handling patients who may be affected by excessive heat, etc. In addition, and while we have no great bodies of water, or beaches, right in, or near Death Valley, they will be instructed in proper method of resuscitation from drowning, and in caring for rattlesnake poisoning. "Doc" Shrum, up to the Emergency Hospital, is conducting the course, under authority of and guided by the Inyo Chapter, American Red Cross.

William Harold Brown, Commander of Death Valley Post, Am. Legion, left the Junction early Sunday morning to attend the sessions of The National Convention of the Legion convening in Los Angeles, Monday, September 19th. "Brownie," will also take a squint at the many "di-does" being pulled off by his bretheren from all over the country, during the week. Others attending from this district, including James O'Connell, Past Commander, R. M. Nice, and Harry Rosenberg, left a couple of days earlier, in order to attend the sessions of the California State organization, at Santa Monica, on Friday and Saturday.

David Fuller, Jr., deputy postmaster at the Junction departed last Friday for Los Angeles to pass his annual vacation.

Mrs. Roy Himes, who has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greene and friends here, for the past ten days, departed last Sunday, together with her infant son to join Mr. Himes in their home at Riverside.

Miss Jane Fuller returned last Friday from a visit to friends at Barstow.

Placards are now being displayed in show-windows and hotels here, extending an invitation to the people of the Death Valley district to attend and witness the annual Hollowe'en Mardi Gras Parade, to be given Monday, October 31st. The parade, which will pass through the principal streets at night, will be composed of comic, spectacular, decorated floats, and cash prizes, amounting to $300.00, in various sums will be awarded the winning floats in the respective divisions; a special prize of $25.00 to be awarded the winner in the "kiddies" division. The affair is sponsored by the Barstow Kiwanis Club, the members of the committee of which are: Tom Wilson, chairman, Knaggs, Krouser and Mathews, members.

Frank Tilton, 20-mule-team driver of 40 years ago, accompanied

W. H. Brown to Los Angeles early last Sunday morning, to witness the big legionnaire parade. Frank, while not claiming to be a modern legionnaire, was anxious to see how straight and even the boys turning corners, and whether every kept in line in parade, as compared to the big 20-mule team, and to note just how they responded to the command to "jump the traces," turning corners, and whether every fellow pulled his full load, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Paddy Miles journeyed to Las Vegas last Saturday on a shopping expedition. Paddy says the place looked more like a legionnaire convention city than as dubbed, "The Last Frontier Town." He says there were legionnaires, their families and friends from all over the country, mostly from Nebraska and Iowa, getting in a side trip and close-up view of the big Boulder Dam, prior to proceeding to Los Angeles for the big doin's down there, beginning last Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul G. Capps, of San Francisco, returning from a month's vacation trip thru Montana, Wyoming and Utah, registered at hotel Amargosa last Saturday evening and were guests until Sunday, when they left by way of Lone Pine and Bishop for their home.

Dr. Capps is in the U. S. Public Health service, after 15 years spent in the Medical Service of the Army in the Phillipines. He is now permanently located in San Francisco, and is one of the lecturers in the faculty of the University of California, on Tropical Diseases.

Mr. W. W. Cahill, vice-president and superintendent of the T. & T. railroad, left last Friday for a short visit with Mrs. Cahill in their Hollywood home, during the Legion Convention in Los Angeles. His daughter, Mrs. James O'Connell, accompanied him.
