

it shall make perforations that shall be plainly visible and legible, and if a branding device it shall be an electrical one attachable to an electric light socket, and shall burn the hair down to the skin so that it likewise may be plainly seen.

Said machines or devices, and any printing required from the state printing office pertaining to the administration of this act, and any other incidental costs shall be paid from the appropriation of bounty money for the first fiscal year of the operation of this act, the total thereof not to exceed the sum of one thousand dollars.

SECTION 5. For each fiscal year while this act shall be in effect, for the payment of bounties as provided in section 1 of this act, and other costs as provided in section 4 of this act, there is hereby appropriated from the general fund in the state treasury, of moneys not otherwise appropriated, the sum of twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars, and any residue of said sum remaining unexpended at the end of any fiscal year shall revert to the general fund in the state treasury.

SECTION 6. The State of Nevada shall enter into no agreement to cooperate with the federal government for the destruction and eradication of predatory animals, where salaries instead of bounties are paid, but may enter into such an agreement if the federal government shall accept the bounty system as hereinabove outlined and enacted, provided, that in case of such agreement the federal government's share of the cost shall equal or exceed that of the state, and the bounties shall be no less than hereinabove provided.

In the event of such an agreement no trophy less than the whole skin in proof of a claim for bounty, as provided in section 2 of this act, shall be accepted, and each skin shall be perforated or branded, as hereinabove provided, with the lettering and words "Bounty Paid—Nevada."

And it is hereby further provided that no American citizen shall be denied the right to participate in the earning and collecting of such bounties.

SECTION 7. Any previous act of the legislature pertaining to the destruction and eradication of predatory animals, or the trapping thereof, and that certain initiative law or act of the people adopted at the general election of November 6, 1934, entitled "An act providing for the payment of bounties for the destruction and eradication of predatory animals, prescribing the manner of payment, providing for cooperation with the federal government in such eradication by bounty payments, other matters relating thereto, and repealing all acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith, are hereby repealed.—be approved?

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of State, at my office in Carson City, Nevada, this 5th day of August, A. D. 1938.

A NEW KIND OF DIPLOMACY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A great chorus of approval sounded throughout the World as the result of direct personal methods of diplomacy by Prime Minister Chamberlain to meet the war crisis in Europe.

President Roosevelt wisely grasped the opportunity to back up Chamberlain in direct and stirring appeals to European rulers which brought Hitler and Mussolini into agreeing to participate in the Munich peace conference. That meeting was the first one of the kind in modern history to test a new principle of a peace conference before the war, instead of afterwards.

Along the big news front the war situation in Washington was about the same as elsewhere, where the newspapers and radio kept our own public posted, up to the minute. The President very plainly told the Europeans that they must get together and settle their own threatened war. He said that the United States would continue neutral. That remains the determination of all Senators and Representatives who have made their views known.

We have troubles of our own, obscured by the intensity of European conditions. Our own State Department is trying to bring about cures in Latin American affairs before it is too late. But the new kind of diplomacy has not been put into effect in the Western Hemisphere.
