

High Enthusiasm

(Continued from Page One)

when he became district attorney of Nye county shortly after the great camp of Tonopah was opened.

There was no opposing candidate, so Oddie had only to go to the polls and vote for himself to assure his election. However, there was nothing particularly soft about the job of being district attorney because he got a salary of $40 per month out of which he had to hire a deputy.

Senator Odide told of some interesting experiences during the early days of Tonopah. Jim Butler discovered the ore, which he took to Oddie and asked him to have the eight samples assayed. Oddie went to the assayer in Austin, and lacking the eight dollars with which to pay for the assays, agreed to give the assayer a one-eighth interest in the property provided it was of any value. The samples ran phenomenal values and the assayer sold his interest shortly thereafter for $32,500, in cash.

The combined capital of Oddie, Jim Butler and Wils Brouger, locators of the original claims at Tonopah, was twenty-five dollars. Yet, undismayed, the three went to work. Shortly more than 100 blocks of ground were leased with only the pledged word to rely upon. To Oddie was given the task of jotting down in his note book the names and locations of the various leases and the lessees gave into his hands their shipments of ores and the returns which in a short time aggregated several million dollars. Yet in all the thousands of transactions in which Oddie acted both for the lessors and the lessees, there was never any question as to the accuracy of the settlements made.

Following his service as state senator from Nye County, Senator Oddie served four years as governor of Nevada during which he had some difficult problems to solve.

From 1920 to 1923 he served the state in the United States senate, and, working in close cooperation with Senator Key Pittman and Congressman Sam Arntzen, was a power in forcing the Boulder Canyon Project Act through a somewhat reluctant congress.

John A. Fulton, Republican candidate for Governor, was introduced by his daughter, Helen, who made a happy little talk about her father.

Mr. Fulton, speaking for himself, recounted his early experiences in Nevada, his native state, and his 24 years of activity in mining following his graduation from the Nevada State University.

In 1924, Mr. Fulton accepted the directorship of the Mackey School of Mines which, under his guidance, has become one of the leading institutions of the kind in the country. While in that capacity Mr. Fulton acted as technical advisor to the Colorado River Commission when the matter of Boulder Dam power was under discussion.

"If I am elected I shall continue my efforts to establish big electric industries here, until a second Niagra Falls industrial district centers between here and Boulder City," Mr. Fulton concluded.

The meeting was opened by Dr. Roy W. Martin, chairman of the Republican county central committee, who introduced Mr. A. W. Ham, a member of the executive committee of the Republican State Committee, who introduced the various candidates, including Gene Ward, Republican candidate for Sheriff; David Farnsworth for auditor and recorder; J. T. McWilliams for county surveyor; Albert Jones for county commissioner and Neall Campbell for the Assembly.

Ben Yeakey, candidate for secretary of state; Andy Stinson for state controller and Mrs. Oline Stewart, for clerk of the supreme court, each made a short address and received enthusiastic applause.

A telegram of greetings from Frank McNamee, who is waging a vigorous campaign in the northern part of the state, for election as lieutenant-governor, was received with great applause, indicating that Clark County's only candidate on the state ticket will receive the loyal support of the county regardless of partisanship.

Following the speaking a floor show was enjoyed, refreshments were served and dancing carried on until a late hour.

HARVEST FESTIVAL AT THE L. D. S. CHURCH

The L. D. S. church is planning a Harvest Festival which will open October 31 and continue three days in the Amusement hall at the church. Among the amusements offered will be a three-act play, a buffet supper, a pet show, a fish pond, a fortune teller, etc. A good time is promised everyone and the proceeds will be used to carry on the work of the church.

LOST MAN IS FOUND UNHARMED

Andrew Jennings, the colored man who failed to return from his Sunday outing and for whose safety some apprehension was felt, has been found. He, with two women companions, went to Lake Mea to fish last Sunday. On returning to their car for the homeward trip they found that the car had been drained of gasoline. The women sat in the car while Jennings went in search of help. When he failed to return Sheriff Ward and a number of Jennings' friends picked up the lost man's trail and followed it for hours. Later 25 CCC boys from Boulder City under the direction of Captain Lawrence and Superintendent C. M. Bailey found the wanderer near the Cold West End Chemical property and brought him to Las Vegas.

He was placed under the care of Dr. F. R. Mildren. He was exhausted from his long tramp and weak from lack of food but otherwise is alright.

FUNERAL RITES

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Palm Funeral Home for Mrs. A. W. Peterson, wife of photographer Peterson by Rev. E. A. Wessels of the Lutheran church. Interment was made in Salt Lake City. Mrs. Peterson had lived in Las Vegas since 1932 and the family home was on South First street. She leaves her husband and one son, Walter, who lives in Salt Lake City.

MRS. FARNSWORTH HOSTESS

Mrs. D. S. Farnsworth was hostess to the members of the Hostess club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. W. Martin. Luncheon was served at a large table in the dining room and was the scene of much merriment. The afternoon was spent with needlework. The guests included Mesdames Tully Ball, Al Mosier, H. R. Adams, W. N. Schuyler, W. S. Park, E. G. McGriff, Susie Stanton, O. C. Boggs, Mary Lou Dutton, C. P. Squires and R. W. Martin.

Try Las Vegas Age Job Department

MILDRED BRAY

(Incumbent)

Non-Partisan Candidate

for

Superintendent of Public Instruction

Born in Nevada—Educated in Nevada Public Schools.

Two years University of Nevada.

B.S. Degree from Mills College.

•••

Recent educational training:

Mills College, University of Utah,

Stanford University.

Teaching experience in Nevada rural, elementary and high schools.

Office Deputy, State Department of Education, for three years. State Superintendent of Public Instruction since December, 1937.

Will strive to provide every school child with the facilities necessary to train him for health, happiness and worthy citizenship, with due consideration of the ability of the taxpayers of the State to provide such facilities.

(Political Advertisement)

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Check Below And See If You Have Any Of The Signs

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs. Don't let yourself "go" like that. Start taking a good, reliable tonic—one made especially for women. And could you ask for anything whose benefits have been better proved than world-famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let the wholesome herbs and roots of Pinkham's Compound help Nature calm your shrieking nerves, tone up your system, and help lessen distress from female functional disorders. Make a note NOW to get a bottle of this time-proven Pinkham's Compound TODAY without fall from your druggist. Over a million women have written in letters reporting wonderful benefits. For the past 60 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped grateful women go "smiling thru" trying-ordeals. Why not let it help YOU?