Henry Comments On the Mormons

Bill Henry, clever writer of "By The Way" column in Los Angeles Times, Thursday's paper, January 11, made the following comment on the Mormon people: "Industry—it wouldn't do some of our citizens any harm to absorb a bit of the philosophy expounded and practiced by the Latter-day Saints. What we need, they say, is to 'forsake all government gratuities and return to sound and self-respecting means of livelihood—to the sacred principle that none of us may live in idleness of the labors of strangers—that to force strangers to work in order that other strangers may live in idleness is slavery!' And that isn't just conversation, either, as a glance at the statistics regarding the ability of the Mormons to take care of themselves will quickly prove. It might be a good idea for our government to take some of the money they spend investigating those unable to care for themselves and spend it finding out something about the folks who are getting along all right. Might give 'em a hint or two."

GEMS OF THOUGHT SERVICE

Thought: Its Value Good thoughts, even if they are forgotten, do not perish.—Publius Syrus. Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionably to their occupancy of your thoughts.—Mary Baker Eddy.

As soon as you can say what you think, and not what some other person has thought for you, you are on the way to being a remarkable man.—J. M. Barrie.

They are never alone that are accompanied with noble thoughts.—Sir Philip Sidney.
