

PETE BROWN FARES WELL

PETE BROWN, first Negro to win a major 72-hole PGA golf tournament, proved he can play with the best of them last weekend when he finished in a tie for 13th place in the hitherto segregated Colonial National at Fort Worth, Texas.

The 29-year-old Los Angeles pro, who was invited to play at Fort Worth off his victory at Barneyville, Okla., the previous week, scored 76-70-71-73--290 in the Colonial, 11 strokes behind winner Billy Casper but good for his second largest purse, $1,620. Pete took down $2,700 at Burneyville.

Brown was tied with such fine golfers as Lionel Hebert and Doug Sanders at Fort Worth and finished a head of Tony Lema, Billy Maxwell, George Knudson and Phil Rodgers by one stroke; the great Jack Nicklaus, Bob Charles and Art Wall by two; Bob Rosburg and Julius Boros by three;

DOUBLE-VICTOR--Doyle Steele of Las Vegas High isn't really jumping over that telephone pole during last weekend's Southern Zone track and field meet at Boulder City. But his 6-foot leap did take high jump title. He also won broad jump to lead teammates to "AA" crown.

PUZZLE PICTURE--These three major league baseball players formed a veritable "Murderer's Row" for their club in 1961. Between them, they hammered out 81 home runs and drove in 262 runs all told during that season. (No, their team didn't win a pennant, despite all that power!) Can you identify these players and their club? You will find the answers on page 16.
