CATHOLIC PRELATE URGES BILL PASSAGE

Early passage of the federal Civil Rights Bill is "urgently desired" according to a high dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church, who said the proposed law "only reaffirms our nation's basic premise, that all men are created equal."

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston said that if passage of the bill is delayed much longer it could produce "a fatal sickness among us."

Good laws are not enough to combat the "degenerating moral effects of discrimination," Cardinal Cushing said in a Pentecost Sunday message, because if they were, Massachusetts "would be a place of perfect brotherhood."

evils that we are tolerating call down the wrath of God upon His forgetful people . . . and I ask each person to do his duty."
