

PUBLISHER CLAIMS CARDINAL CRITIC GAGGED

The Rev. William H. DuBay, who urged in a letter to Pope Paul VI that James Francis Cardinal McIntyre be removed as Archbishop of Los Angeles, made his peace with His Eminence under threat of excommunication, according to a Menlo Park publisher.

Edward M. Keating, publisher of Ramparts, a Catholic laymen's magazine, said Father DuBay had been advised by a canon lawyer, "and perhaps by someone close to the cardinal," that if he did not cease his attacks "the next step was that he would be defrocked and excommunicated."

He said his information came from a priest other than Father DuBay.

"Faced with that reality, Father DuBay made his obeisance--pledged his loyalty and obedience --to the cardinal," said Keating.

"You don't have to read between the lines to see what this means.

"Father DuBay has been silenced. As long as McIntyre is cardinal no priest will ever dare say anything critical on any subject in his archdiocese."

Keating said he did not know whether any other priests were present when Father DuBay and the cardinal met at St. John's Major Seminary at Camarillo. The chancery would not confirm the meeting, if it occurred, nor what transpired.

"But I do know that the priests at the seminary, which included quite a number, since it is the retreat center for the archdiocese, reacted with great joy, because from their point of view the 'prodigal son' had returned," Keating said.

"They have got their little careers to take care of, and their nests to feather."

Keating said he was "appalled" that more priests had not come out in support of Father DuBay after it was announced that he had written his letter criticizing the cardinal for alleged lack of initiative in racial matters.

"I know that a number of priests in the archdiocese feel very deeply on this matter, but I would not guess how many. It depends upon how many Christians there are among the clergy.

"The issue is so appalling and the reality is so clear. The entire teaching of the church, to love thy neighbor, is not an abstraction, and to avoid it is a dereliction of duty.

"It is not a political, but a moral thing.

"It directly involves Christ's admonition to go out and teach all nations--you don't teach by remaining silent.

"The matter will now have to be carried on by other groups, by the laity, since the clergy has been silenced."

McINTYRE LAUDS NEW RIGHTS LAW

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles issued the following statement on the signing of the civil rights bill by President Johnson:

"We are happy that the elected representatives of the people have kept faith with the Constitution of the United States and the benign spirit of Abraham Lincoln.

"We are confident that the provisions of this new law will be accepted and obeyed with facility, understanding and Christian love. This legislation is a concrete expression of the conscience of all men of good will. The formation of that conscience has been the concern and the work of the church for many long years. To this end she has labored by precept and example to instill in men's hearts those lessons of human dignity and human equality which flow from Christ's teachings.

"We have additional reason to rejoice in the enactment of this legislation, since its provisions reflect the healthy climate of racial justice which prevails here in our state and in our archdiocese.

"The people of Los Angeles have supplied a living example of those moral principles which are now enshrined in the law of our land."
