Carson Exhibit Ends Tomorrow

AN EXHIBIT entitled "Archeologists at Work", dealing with how scientists are able to reconstruct man's early life on earth, will be concluded tomorrow (Friday, Oct. 2) at Kit Carson School by sixth grade students and teachers.

The exhibit is part of a program unit designed to show "How We Learn About Early People," covering the dramatic period when men began a settled way of life that led to development of the world's first cities. Teachers Mrs. Deborah Moore, Shirley Satterfield and Herschel Williams developed the program, in which students wear authentic costumes.

Supplementing the exhibit is a display of antiques collected in the community. Mrs. Lucile Ray of 4242 Mountain View, provided the class with many items from Swedish parents, including a spinning wheel, pepper mill and high button shoes from the early 1800's, a butter churn (1898) and coffee grinder (1900).

VARIED SCHEDULE SET AT DOOLITTLE CENTER

A WIDELY VARIED schedule of activities for adults and teenagers at Doolittle Recreation Center has been announced by Chairman Herman Moody of the Men's Progressive League.

Those interested in any of the classes, films or lectures listed below are requested to register at once at Doolittle Center, Mondays through Saturdays from 1 to 10 p.m., or at Jefferson Center, Mondays through Saturdays from 3 to 10 p.m. Registration closes Nov. 5.

Instructors for the different classes will include doctors, nurses and members of the American Red Cross, County Health Dept., Extension Dept., Las Vegas Police Dept. and Detective Bureau, Clark County Juvenile Dept. and qualified professional and business men according to Detective Moody.

There is no charge for any of the classes, films or lectures.

1. FIRST AID CLASSES. For adults and teenagers, with separate classes for each. Classes will start as soon as registration is completed.

2. FILMS AND LECTURES. For adults, on the following subjects: Venereal disease, narcotics, home beautification, good citizenship; also chest x-rays.

3. SAFETY PROGRAM. For children and teenagers, dealing with pedestrian and bicycle riding safety rules under all conditions.

4. CHILD CARE. For young mothers and expectant mothers.

"Participation in these activities will help make this community a better place in which to live," Detective Moody said.

NAACP BULLETIN . . .

ELECTION OF OFFICERS for the coming year will take place Saturday night, Oct. 3, at a meeting of the local NAACP Special Activities Committee scheduled for 8 p.m. at Kit Carson School.

Prospective members of this young adult group between the ages of 18 and 30 accepted at the start of the meeting will be eligible to vote in the election upon certification by the temporary officers, branch president Rev. Marion Bennett and co-sponsor James Anderson.

"LIE CONSPIRACY" SHIELDS KILLERS AS JURY PROBES

BILOXI, Miss. (EXCLUSIVE)--The identities of those responsible for the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., last June are believed "known" to official investigators, but a "conspiracy of falsehood" among the suspects may prevent their successful prosecution.

This was the report receiving wide circulation in this gulf resort city as a 23-member Federal grand jury, including one Negro, continued to hear government evidence of alleged civil rights violations in Mississippi. The report was much the same as one prevalent in the Philadelphia area ever since the bodies of Michael Schwerner, 23, Andrew Goodman, 21, and James Chaney, 21, were found buried in an earthen dam near Philadelphia on Aug. 4.

The grand jury can only return indictments based on civil rights violations. Murder is a state offense except where it occurs on Federal property such as a military reservation.

Among the more than 100 persons who have been subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury are many reported to have knowledge of the slaying case, including FBI agents and law enforcement authorities from Philadelphia, where the Neshoba County Jail is located. Schwerner and Goodman, from New York, and Chaney, a Meridian, Miss., Negro, disappeared after reportedly being released from the jail at 10:30 p.m. on June 21 following their arrest on a speeding charge.

Called to testify before the grand jury were the following Neshoba County officials and citizens, most of them residents of Philadelphia. Sheriff Lawrence Rainey.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, 26, who arrested and detained the three young men shortly before they disappeared.

Justice of the Peace Leonard Warren. Constable Clayton Livingston.

Jailer H. M. Herring and his teen-age son, Virgil.

Police Officer Richard Willis, who participated in the arrests of the slain civil rights workers.

The Rev. Edgar A. Killen, a missionary Baptist minister who lives about 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Used car dealer Pete Jordan, an honorary colonel on the staff of Gov. Paul B. Johnson, Jr. Electronic equipment dealer John O. Risher, also a colonel on the governor's staff.

Barber Basil Johnson. Self-proclaimed bootlegger Bob Howell.

ALTHOUGH ALL TESTIMONY before the grand jury is secret, Deputy Sheriff Price was believed to have set the pattern for the Neshoba County witnesses by announcing to reporters before testifying, "I have nothing to tell the jury."

The pudgy, dark-eyed, cigar-chomping deputy produced a small, printed card proclaiming his innocence of any wrong-doing in the fol-
