

WHO'S WHO and doing what

RESPONSIBILITIES CHANGE HANDS . . .

This is the time of year when many organizations, including women's groups, conduct their installation ceremonies. It is the time when the president's gavel, the secretary's notebook and the treasurer's checkbook are transferred from last year's officers to their successors. It is the time when committee chairmen and their aides are thanked for working so hard--a time to instill and encourage determination in those who will carry on.

And so it was for Alpha Rho Chapter of Gamma Phi Delta Sorority as it installed new officers and welcomed back some "old faithfuls."

Retaining office were the indefatigable Thelma Toms as president, Cornelia (Nina) Kellar as corresponding secretary and Nora Wilson as treasurer. Joining them were Dorothy West, 1st vice president; Deborah Moore, 2nd vice president; Sarah Ann Knight, financial secretary; Natalie Arrington, parliamentarian; Eddy K. Kim, editor-in-chief; Edythe Abington, chaplain, and Virgie Fitzgerald, historian.

A chic quartet was formally initiated into the sorority at the well-appointed home of po-

Fashion in the News

A KNIT SHIRT, an alpaca cardigan, colorful slacks and a water repellent nylon zipper jacket are the ingredients for a fashionable place in the sun for male golfers during the coming year.

For 1965, the emphasis is on comfort and color. Stretch fabrics give and take, move with the player, keep their shape and continually reflect a neat appearance. In slacks, utility features have been built-in: the back loop for towels, tee-holder waistbands and deep back pockets for golf balls.

Yellow seems to be a color in great demand and this is reflected in both knits, sport shirts and slacks. Often the color is muted, sometimes even on gold or bronze tones, but the choice is a bright one.

In sweaters, white alpaca still rules the roost as the luxury fiber. Many new knits are coming into vogue.

of such acts of violence and encourage people of all faiths to take a unified stand in support of freedom of residence," the Rev. Brashares said.

Persons signing the pledge cards will receive appropriate window stickers stating their beliefs in "fair housing" for all according to the Rev. Brashares. He said the names of pledges would not be made public and that all cards would be returned to the churches or synagogues of the signers after being processed by the ministerial association for issuance of the window stickers.

lice officer Andrew Arrington and his Natalie. The new members are Helen Anderson, Mary Bishop, Helen Crozier and Loraine White. The candlelight ceremony was conducted by President Toms, assisted by Vice President Moore, following which the initiates were toasted with champagne.

The local chapter will worship together at Zion Methodist Church on Feb. 21 in their first group activity of the new year.

TEACHER OF THE WEEK . . .

Service spells success. That would describe our fourth Teacher of the Week, Arthur C. Jordan, an instructor in world history at Robert O. Gibson Junior High and treasurer of Pi Tau Sigma, the local Professional Teachers Society. Before joining the Gibson faculty, Mr. Jordan was with the adult education division of the Clark County School District.

It was Kansas's loss when the local school district gained Mr. Jordan. Prior to coming to Las Vegas, Arthur taught and served as principal at Greenwood Elementary School in Baxter Springs, Kan., for three years following a one-year stint as a teacher-guard at the Kansas State Industrial School in Hutchinson.

After graduating from Ft. Scott High, Kan., Mr. Jordan earned his B.S. degree in education (See WHO'S, page 12)
