HAWAIIAN FEAST to AID SCHOLARS ...

Members of Forward, Inc., are busily preparing for their big Luau on Sept. 6 at Sugar Hill Patio for the benefit of the organization's scholarship fund. Bob Bailey, who was recently elected to his fourth consecutive two-year term as president of the mutual investment group, tells us tickets are now on sale for the gala occasion that will feature authentic Polynesian delicacies prepared by real Hawaiian chefs. The piece de resistance, of course, will be the traditional, porker, cooked whole in an earthen pit for 12 hours in accordance with the sacrificial rites of the ancient inhabitants of the Pacific islands. (We assume there will be plenty of Navy grog and other rum concoctions available to wash down the succulent morsels of tender piggy.) Hawaiian costumes or beach wear will be in vogue according to "the poor man's Mr. B," who we understand is trying to arrange a special surprise for the evening. (Could it be that Bob has hopes of presenting Sen. Hiram Fong of Hawaii as guest of honor, seeing that the Honolulu solon is expected to be out this way early next month?)

TRAVEL NOTES from NEAR and FAR ...

Up from Los Angeles recently were Dr. and Mrs. Derald Stovall, along with Dr. Stovall's cousin, Mrs. Leonard Stovall, and her son, Jon-Jon. The Derald Stovalls caught the Nancy Wilson show at the Riviera before returning home, while Mrs. Leonard and Jon-Jon stayed over as house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Crozier. The Croziers' daughters, meanwhile, have been doing some traveling themselves--Jacqueline visiting friends in Albuquerque, N.M., and Yvonne spending some time with relatives in Los Angeles. . . Henry Moore is due home soon from Nashville, Tenn., where he has been teaching at Fisk University. . . In town from LA to visit (her) family and (their) friends are the former Margie Collins and her still new husband, Walter Parker Jr. (They were married here last March.). . . Flying down to LA for a gala luncheon tossed for Mrs. Helen Anderson by Mrs. Fannie DeMann and her daughter, Mrs. Marion Anderson, was Helen's swain, Jim. . . Flying in from Magnolia, Ark., was prominent mortician W. R. Marks, the guest here of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Smith. Mr. Marks, a brother of long-time local resident Marshall Marks, owns and operates three mortuaries--one in Magnolia, another in Fordyce, Ark., and the third in Haynesville, La. During his three-day stay, Mr. Marks had a grand, old time visiting with his numerous nieces and nephews living here, was the guest of honor at festive affairs hosted by the Smiths at their Washington Ave. home and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Clark, 844 Duquesne, NLV; enjoyed the Vive Les Girls show at the Dunes and did the "busman's holiday" bit by inspecting the Palms and Bunker Brothers mortuaries and meeting their staffs. . . Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Williams motored to Los Angeles and we hear that Brenda and her spouse stopped the show at the Whiskey a Go Go down there with their torrid interpretation of the Cha-Cha.

WRAPPING IT UP for ANOTHER WEEK ...

Dee Dee Cotton, who came to Las Vegas from New York some years ago as a dancer with the Cab Calloway troupe, married here and settled down to a less hectic life than show biz, is opening her own Salon de Danse (dance school, that is) on West Owens Ave. across from the Golden West Shopping Center. Local parents who would like to see their offspring develop the terpsichorean graces under expert guidance are invited to stop in and register their children for one of Dee Dee's classes. . . The frug, Watusi and jerk will be "out" and the Charleston, black bottom and shimmy will be "in" when the Las Vegas Democratic Women's Club West celebrate their second anniversary tonight with a "Roaring 20s Party" at the Elks Club, 600 Jackson St. This could develop into a preview of next year's fashions because we hear those shapeless, beaded gowns with the "fringe on the bottom" that were all the rage 40 years ago may be back in style in '66. . . Out of the hospital and doing just fine is Mrs. Jean Nunnelly, but Mrs. Nora Wilson is still awaiting the "go home" signal at University Hospital on Vermont Ave. in Los Angeles according to husband Woodrow. We know Nora would appreciate a card, so why not sit right down and write one to her. That's what we're going to do immediately, so we'll say adieu until next week.
